Champ To Move Into New Estate

By JIM DELAND

Assistant City Editor

World heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali said Monday he hopes to move into his 80-acre estate north of Berrien Springs next month and that he will use that site as the training camp for his next title fight against George Foreman.

In a conference call from his office in Chicago, Ali also endorsed Benton Harbor Mayor Charles Joseph as "my man" and promised to help him put Benton Harbor on the world map.

Former owner Myron Hecht, reached at his home in Chicago this morning, said the sale of the estate was completed during the latter part of October.

Hecht, who owns another 100-acre estate in Berrien Springs, said he still is negotiating with Ali over the sale of some thoroughbred horses Hecht owns. Hecht, who has been a resident of Berrien Springs for over 30 years, said he plans to maintain a home there.

"I never heard much of Benton Harbor myself," Ali said,

"but it will continually be in the news in the next couple of years. I'm a neighbor now of all the people there in Benton Harbor. I will be coming in and out. I'll be inviting people in that area out to the farm for swimming, tennis, horse riding, boating. I'm building a marina on the river." Ali said establishment of his training camp here for the "historical moment of the last fight in my career" would bring in press representative from throughout the world as well as show-business figures like Charlton Heston, Sidney Poitier, Flip Wilson and Jane Fonda.

He also said Columbia Pictures would announce plans this week to make a movie of his life story and that he understood some scenes would be filmed here — "meeting the mayor, going out to the farm."

Ali said that he was "not in politics" despite his endorsement of Mayor Joseph's bid for re-election today, but that he wanted to "let all of my followers know, all of my fans know that he's my man. I would not be in that area if it were not for his calls."

Ali made arrangements to buy the 80-acre estate for a reported $400,000 in August during an appearance in Benton Harbor for exhibition bouts with Mayor Joseph and several other opponents.

He said Monday remodeling is now underway on the estate and that he plans to be there for all but the last two weeks of training for his fight with Foreman, which is planned for sometime next year.

feel that we have been successful in foreign policy, the Middle East, Europe, et cetera.

"I am convinced that we are well on the road to a good economic situation in 1976. So, when you combine peace and prosperity, any incumbent president ought to be very happy."

The personnel changes included:

—James R. Schlesinger, who has frequently disagreed openly with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger over détente with the Soviet Union, is out as secretary of defense. He will be replaced by Donald Rumsfeld, now White House staff chief.

Sources close to Ford say Rumsfeld will balance Kissinger's influence and that both will have equal access to Ford, though Pentagon officials say Rumsfeld will have to assert himself early in order to be dominated by Kissinger.

—William E. Colby is fired as head of the CIA, to be replaced by George Bush, former Texas congressman, Republican national chairman, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and now U.S. representative in Peking.

Ford said Colby has done an outstanding job of working with Congress during a difficult period of intelligence investigation. Colby's resignation had been expected after current congressional probes are over, but sources said the move was accelerated as the result of a growing feeling at the White House that Colby had cooperated too freely with congressional investigators and had allowed too many of the agency's activities to come to light.

—Elliot L. Richardson, former attorney general and current ambassador to Great Britain, is coming home to become secretary of commerce, his fourth Cabinet post under two administrations. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., immediately foresaw the move as adding Richardson's name to the list of GOP vice presidential possibilities.

Swainson Will Not 'Resign Immediately'

By CHARLES C. CAIN

Associated Press Writer

FARMINGTON HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Former Gov. John B. Swainson said Monday through his attorney he has no intention of resigning immediately from Michigan's Supreme Court, in the wake of his perjury conviction.

Konrad Kohl, Swainson's lawyer, said the former governor "is entitled to take a few days off with his wife to think things through."

Kohl said a midafternoon news conference at his office was called to try to cut down the large number of phone calls being made to the Swainson home and to Kohl.

Most of the calls, he said, were made by newsmen interested in what Swainson is going to do following his Sunday night conviction in federal court.

Asked if there had been any contact between Swainson and his six fellow members on the high court since the verdict was returned, Kohl said there had been none.

He said he was in touch Monday morning with Albert Jenner, a Chicago attorney who was one of the top minority counsel in the Watergate hearings. Jenner was retained by the Michigan Supreme Court as its counsel about the time Swainson was indicted by the federal grand jury in July.

Kohl said that any decisions Swainson makes in his next few days of privacy will be relayed to Jenner by Kohl, to be passed on to the high court.

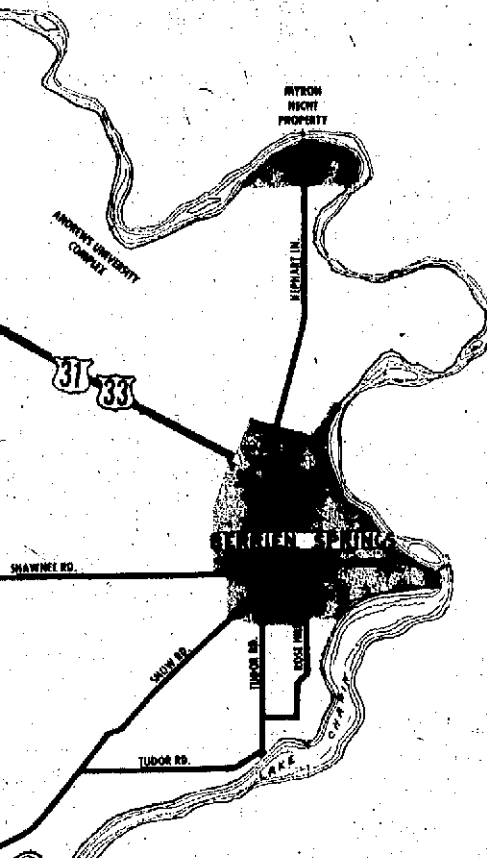

Sources close to the case said there had been no pressure from any of the Supreme Court justices for Swainson to leave the bench as a result of his conviction.

Kohl said he had legal moves underway in several areas in efforts to win a reversal of the verdict or a new trial.

He conceded the question of whether Swainson should resume his seat on the bench "is a matter that cannot be tabled indefinitely."

When Swainson was indicted by the federal grand jury in July on seven counts, he voluntarily left the bench and has not taken part in its deliberations or decisions since then. He does draw his $43,000 annual salary.

Kohl said there were similarities between the Swainson case and that of Wayne

Buchanan Store Loot Is $16,471

BUCHANAN — Two bandits made off with an estimated $16,000 in rings and $471 in cash in a closing-time robbery of the Rees Jewelry store here yesterday.

Buchanan police said the store owner, Jack Rees, three employees and a customer were all forced into a wash room in the store at 258 East Front street and bound while two safes and a cash register were looted.

Buchanan patrolman Joe Yeakley estimated that the men and fellow officer Joseph Kring just missed the men by "seconds" as they responded to a report of trouble at the store.

Initially, estimates on the jewelry and money taken had been $35,000 in rings and $500 in cash. The figures were revised this morning, however, after a preliminary accounting.

No one was hurt and no shots were fired in the robbery, police said.

According to officers, the robbery occurred when the two men returned to the store just before closing about 3:30 p.m. on the pretext of buying a ring they had looked at earlier yesterday.

Police said they were told by Rees that one of the two stuck a gun in his back as he rang up the ring sale and then a customer, Dan Baker was forced to tie him and the three employees. Baker, 122 Clark street, Buchanan, was later tied by one of the two.

The rings were taken from a safe in the front of the store while the cash was taken from a second safe behind a counter and from the cash register.

The two men were said to be black, 32 to 34 years of age, and wearing a red leather cap and platform shoes. The second man was described as 5 feet 9, 170 pounds, wearing a wig and stocking cap left behind at the store, with graying mustache and hair.

One of the two robbers was described as about 5 feet 8, 150 pounds, thin build and face, and wearing a red leather cap and platform shoes.

Rees told police the two men were described as about 5 feet 8, 150 pounds, thin build and face, and wearing a red leather cap and platform shoes.

Eleven Area Cities Are Voting Today

Voters in 11 southwestern Michigan cities were voting today to fill some city offices and, in four places, decide the fate of special ballot issues.

In addition, voters in one township, Benton, and one school district, Galien, are going to polls to decide the fate of tax issues.

All polling places opened at 7 a.m. and were to remain open until 8 tonight.

The cities holding municipal elections today were, Benton Harbor, Hartford, Niles, South Haven, Watervliet, Coloma, Dowagiac, Pennville, Gobles, Bridgman and Buchanan. The four with issues were Dowagiac, Bridgman, Pennville and Coloma.

In Dowagiac the issue involves a one-mill property tax levy for financing the city's dial-a-ride program next year or other transportation needs.

In Bridgman, voters will decide whether the city charter should be changed to end the fiscal year for all city departments on June 30. At present, only the water department fiscal year ends on June 30.

In Coloma, voters will ballot for the third time on a proposal to grant a non-exclusive, 15-year franchise to the Paw Paw Lake Area Cable TV company. The same proposal was twice defeated in 1974.

In Pennville, voters will ballot on two proposed changes to the city charter. One would allow city commissioners to receive $10 a meeting pay for an unlimited number of meetings per year and the other would raise the limit for city purchases without bidding from $500 to $1,000.

Benton township voters will vote on the renewal through 1980 of property tax levies totaling six mills to raise about $200,000 annually which is to be divided up evenly between the police and fire departments.

Voters in the Galien school district will decide on whether to approve a 1.7-mill property tax levy to raise funds to make repairs on the 40-year-old high school (south) building.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete today at the Dey-Forn funeral home, St. Joseph.

ST. JOSEPH

Pedestrian Killed At Intersection

A St. Joseph man was killed Monday night when he was struck by a car while apparently walking across Main street at the intersection of Broad street, St. Joseph police said.

Pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Memorial hospital was William Hutchinson, 68, of 723 Broad street. Police identified the driver of the car as Frederick Leonard Gavin, 28, of 3010 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph.

Police said no charges have been filed in connection with the accident and it remains under investigation.

The accident occurred about 10:24 p.m., police reported. Hutchinson was found in the left turn lane of the northbound lanes of Main street. Gavin, according to police, was driving a 1972 Ford Mustang. He was to give a statement today, police indicated.

By DON McLEOD

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is changing personnel but not policy, declaring a new team of "my guys" will continue on a course of peace and prosperity into the 1976 campaign.

Ford announced the biggest shakeup of his administration Monday night in the top levels of defense and foreign policy. He also said that while Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller is dropping off the election team, Rockefeller has promised to support his election bid.

Ford told a nationally broadcast news conference that he isn't worried about Ronald Reagan or any other challenger and that he is optimistic about the election one year away.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Swainson Should Leave The State Supreme Court

Months ago when the U.S. Justice Department announced that John B. Swainson, a justice on the Michigan supreme court, conceivably was involved in a plot to spring a convicted jewelry store thief from a long prison sentence, this column said it was inappropriate to leap to the conclusion the FBI was right and Swainson should remove himself from the judiciary forthwith.

We stated at the time the circumstances involving the justice should be fully examined in the open before Swainson should be made to walk the plank.

The story as presented by the government's attorneys in a subsequent grand jury probe and trial has it that John J. Whalen, a long time burglar, convicted of a 1969 robbery in Adrian, importuned a Detroit bondsman, Harvey Wish, on how to avoid a 7-10-year prison term. Wish told him for $30,000 he could influence "The Man" on the state supreme court to set aside the verdict.

Whalen took the information to the FBI in 1972.

Subsequently the high court ordered a new trial for Whalen.

The jury in the second case was no more impressed with the defendant than its predecessor and convicted him in the re-trial. Currently Whalen is appealing a 6-10 sentence.

The FBI says it did not dig into Whalen's yarn until last year because it was up to its ears in the Watergate scandal buzzing about the White House.

A special task force did, however, finally go over the file and proceeded from there to explore its background more fully.

During the grand jury probe convened in last May to delve in greater depth into the case, Swainson testified he never accepted a TV set from Wish nor tried to influence his colleagues on the court to reverse Whalen's first conviction.

The federal grand jury indicted Swainson and Wish jointly and separately on several counts. Some of the counts charged the two men with a bribery conspiracy between themselves. Others alleged the same offense against Wish in collusion with Whalen. Other counts declared Swainson falsified his testimony before the grand jury.

The case went to trial a week ago this past Monday and on Sunday, following 23 hours of deliberations spread over three days, the jury convicted Wish of the bribery conspiracy and Swainson of perjuring himself before the grand jury. It ruled out the bribery conspiracy charge against the justice.

The appeal process could delay imposition of a sentence for at least as long as Whalen has been fencing with the state trial court over at Adrian.

While the Swainson case has sent up more smoke than a small fire under a pile of wet leaves, the jury evidently was convinced there is a fire behind the smudge. Its seven women and five men members rejected the circumstantial evidence in the conspiracy allegations, yet accepted the more direct evidence bearing on the perjury counts.

The conclusion has to be that the jury felt the facts in a conspiracy were present but that the prosecution has failed to bring them out incontrovertibly. Otherwise, the perjury conclusion might have been rejected.

Whatever the jury's mental process was, it is clear that 12 lay people unanimously believed Swainson was in the wrong.

This is the first time in Michigan's long history, first as a territory and then as a state, that a justice on its highest court has been convicted of criminal misconduct.

It is a Watergate in the Michigan judiciary.

Swainson who removed himself from deliberating in the court's work once the government filed charges against him should clear out permanently from the court.

His continued presence, even in a nonworking capacity, is an embarrassment to the bench and the bar.

If he declines to absent himself permanently, then the State Bar Association and the Judicial Tenure Commission should act immediately to force him out.

a glory job. With the exception of one or two scandals over the years, the department's operations were about as routine as anything on the scale of the federal government can be.

Those days are past, probably forever. As the new Interior Secretary, Thomas S. Kleppe, already has discovered, what his department is involved in today tends to become very controversial. Conservation and preservation are still big goals of the department, but increasingly they have to be balanced against the resource needs of the nation.

That is a task almost guaranteed to bring criticism to the secretary from both sides no matter how well he handles his assignment. The former North Dakota congressman and chief of the Small Business Administration knows his way around Washington, and that may help him overcome some of the resistance to some of the department's on-going policies.

Included among the more controversial objectives are plans for greatly enlarging offshore oil drilling operations (one of the few remaining locations of untapped oil) and expanding coal extraction operations in the West. The question of energy and what to do about an insufficiency of it has placed the Interior Department on a front burner with the heat turned on high.

'Oh, That. It's Just A Gift From A Friend.'

SAYS PROTECTION IS NOT FREE

We live in an age of "Consumerism," and it seems many consumers welcome the protection which the laws of recent years provide. But how many have looked in the mirror and decided if the person they saw was a Consumer or a Producer?

What is a Producer? I feel it is anyone who provides a Product or Service for his fellowman. And what is a Consumer? That fellow man who avails himself of such Product or Service. Most of us are both! Only children and retired people are mostly Consumers. Is it really important to make the distinction?

Are the Consumers, who class themselves as such and relish in the new-found protection, stupid enough to believe that, as they lay their hard cash on the line, such protection is for free, or at the expense of the Producer?

No. The extended warranty on a new car is included in the price the buyer pays. The cost of OSHA and EPA regulations are passed on to the customers. So the "Consumer" really pays for his own protection.

It seems to me we are just kidding ourselves with this "Consumerism." As I see how our family tries to stretch the paycheck, I can only conclude we were better off before all this protection came. It costs me more than I think it is worth!

Our President gets my support in his call for government to get out of the citizen's hair and pocketbook. Therefore, I will cast my vote for those candidates who promise LESS government and MORE freedom for us Consumers. Producers to bargain individually amongst themselves for mutual satisfaction, without the expensive interference of "Consumerism."

Compromise On Canoe Legislation

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — A five-year legal tussle over efforts to regulate firms renting canoes for use upon Michigan streams may have ended.

Roger Blufus, president of the Michigan Recreational Canoeing Association, told the group's annual meeting Sunday association officials and the state Department of Natural Resources have joined to back new legislation on the subject.

Blufus said the agreement has both sides supporting House Bill 5495, now under consideration in Lansing.

That measure, Blufus said, regulates canoe traffic, calls for licensing canoe rental companies to pay for its enforcement, and gives special emphasis to the most heavily traveled streams — the Au Sable, Pine, Pere Marquette and Manistee rivers.

The number of rental canoes wouldn't be cut under the proposal although efforts to increase their number would have to be approved both by the DNR and the appropriate county commission.

If problems occur because of canoe traffic, the bill provides the department may designate certain rivers or stretches of them as "specially regulated waters." That designation carries specific rules for both renters of canoes and their users.

Trouble Brews On Home Front

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Morale at the State Department is low.

Good men are leaving. Able men are reluctant to sign up. There is bickering through the ranks, and backbiting — from the top down and bottom up.

There are repeated charges that the men who say "yes" to their superiors are promoted. They don't rock the boat. Those who challenge ideas and programs go nowhere or out. They are shunted to super-numerary posts, or given assignments so routine that men and women with ambition grow bitter with boredom.

In office after office the feeling among officers is that no one on the seventh floor — where the top men sit — heeds their recommendations, thoughts or warnings — least of all Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

There is inbreeding at the top. The policymaking process is confined to Kissinger and a small group of his intimate advisers. Even when Kissinger visits overseas, he seldom really listens to the senior embassy staffs of the countries he's in.

As a result, the professionals are slowly becoming demoralized. There is growing mistrust in the middle ranks and among numbers of senior officials just below the top echelon.

There is a growing tendency therefore for those men who stay and hope for promotion to say "yes sir."

The "outs," those ignored by the promotion boards for being uncooperative, fight the "ins," those careful to keep their opinions and thoughts to themselves and who are properly respectful about every view expressed by Kissinger and the men closest to him.

They get involved in squabbles over inconsequential points — technical squabbles that really don't interest them but give a vantage point from where they can legitimately and openly fight "the enemy" in areas where even Kissinger cannot retaliate against them.

Traditionally, the State Department has been divided into cliques, each headed by a small powerful group of men at the top. But never like it is today.

The problems the State Department and associated agencies must deal with — wars and threats of war, oil embargoes and oil prices, billions in assistance, the balance of military power, the rise and fall of the dollar, trade embargoes and trade restrictions and multinational corporations and foreign investment — are so complex that no one man or small group of men can get a handle on them.

As never before in our history, what other nations can do strikes close to home economically. What oil cartel nations decide today can put additional millions in the unemployment lines, send inflation skyrocketing and force a parcel of nations so close to bankruptcy and starvation we find ourselves rushing in with emergency aid.

Depressions in West Europe and Japan can spark a recession here. Restrictions on investment in foreign countries can leave us short of essential raw materials, as can the control of a key producing country by an unfriendly power.

We cannot afford what is happening at State.

Beef Buyers Have A Beef

WASHINGTON (KFS) — To nobody's surprise, the Supermarket Institute reports in a new national survey that one of the major ways grocery shoppers are trying to save money is to cut down on the amount of meat purchased.

The study indicated that 69 per cent of the shoppers had reduced their meat consumption, a substantial increase over a similar study one year previously, which showed 48 per cent trimming their meat budget.

Naturally, the cattle industry is alarmed at the trend. So it has done what businessmen in trouble usually do — dream up a fancy new public relations and advertising effort and ask the Federal government for help.

Within a few weeks, the Senate is expected to pass the Beef Research and Information Act, which authorizes a beef board to promote the consumption of beef, provide consumer information and conduct research. The measure sailed through the House in October without much opposition.

Its purpose is described in lofty terms, but what the bill will really do is provide a system for funding a national advertising and promotional campaign to convince shoppers that eating beef is more important than saving money.

Congressional concern has been directed at helping out the cattle industry, which has seen better days. The House overruled consumer advocates, who protested that encouraging more beef consumption might not be in the public interest. The Center for Science in the Public Interest, which sponsored a "Food Day" this spring, has listed "prime grade beef" as one of the "ten most terrible foods," because of its high cholesterol content.

The cattlemen, however, are simply following the example of other agricultural industries. Congress has over the years obligingly approved similar boards or marketing programs to promote the sales of cotton, wheat, potatoes, wool, mohair, almonds, papayas, cherries, onions, Tokay grapes, milk, walnuts, plums, eggs, pears, dates,ectarines, celery, sweet corn, olives, pecans, avocados, apples and tomatoes.

No one seems to have wondered much if it is a proper governmental role to stimulate the public to eat more grapes, celery, etc. The dieters' lobby has not been heard from.

By Federal budget standards, very little taxpayer money is directly involved. Under the Beef Act, the Department of Agriculture will set up a referendum throughout the industry to determine if two-thirds of the cattlemen will agree to a self-imposed value-added tax at each stage of the beef marketing process.

The money would finance the board's activities. The Department of Agriculture will also supervise and enforce the collection of the tax and exercise a veto over offensive board proposals.

The additional cost of the promotion activities, however, will be passed along by the cattle industry to the consumer. Since high prices are the primary reason shoppers are trying to cut down on beef, the board itself would appear to be more of a problem than a solution.

Swainson Should Leave The State Supreme Court

Months ago when the U.S. Justice Department announced that John B. Swainson, a justice on the Michigan supreme court, conceivably was involved in a plot to spring a convicted jewelry store thief from a long prison sentence, this column said it was inappropriate to leap to the conclusion the FBI was right and Swainson should remove himself from the judiciary forthwith.

We stated at the time the circumstances involving the justice should be fully examined in the open before Swainson should be made to walk the plank.

The story as presented by the government's attorneys in a subsequent grand jury probe and trial has it that John J. Whalen, a long time burglar, convicted of a 1969 robbery in Adrian, importuned a Detroit bondsman, Harvey Wish, on how to avoid a 7-10-year prison term. Wish told him for $30,000 he could influence "The Man" on the state supreme court to set aside the verdict.

Whalen took the information to the FBI in 1972.

Subsequently the high court ordered a new trial for Whalen.

The jury in the second case was no more impressed with the defendant than its predecessor and convicted him in the re-trial. Currently Whalen is appealing a 6-10 sentence.

The FBI says it did not dig into Whalen's yarn until last year because it was up to its ears in the Watergate scandal buzzing about the White House.

A special task force did, however, finally go over the file and proceeded from there to explore its background more fully.

During the grand jury probe convened in last May to delve in greater depth into the case, Swainson testified he never accepted a TV set from Wish nor tried to influence his colleagues on the court to reverse Whalen's first conviction.

The federal grand jury indicted Swainson and Wish jointly and separately on several counts. Some of the counts charged the two men with a bribery conspiracy between themselves. Others alleged the same offense against Wish in collusion with Whalen. Other counts declared Swainson falsified his testimony before the grand jury.

The case went to trial a week ago this past Monday and on Sunday, following 23 hours of deliberations spread over three days, the jury convicted Wish of the bribery conspiracy and Swainson of perjuring himself before the grand jury. It ruled out the bribery conspiracy charge against the justice.

The appeal process could delay imposition of a sentence for at least as long as Whalen has been fencing with the state trial court over at Adrian.

While the Swainson case has sent up more smoke than a small fire under a pile of wet leaves, the jury evidently was convinced there is a fire behind the smudge. Its seven women and five men members rejected the circumstantial evidence in the conspiracy allegations, yet accepted the more direct evidence bearing on the perjury counts.

The conclusion has to be that the jury felt the facts in a conspiracy were present but that the prosecution has failed to bring them out incontrovertibly. Otherwise, the perjury conclusion might have been rejected.

Whatever the jury's mental process was, it is clear that 12 lay people unanimously believed Swainson was in the wrong.

This is the first time in Michigan's long history, first as a territory and then as a state, that a justice on its highest court has been convicted of criminal misconduct.

It is a Watergate in the Michigan judiciary.

Swainson who removed himself from deliberating in the court's work once the government filed charges against him should clear out permanently from the court.

His continued presence, even in a nonworking capacity, is an embarrassment to the bench and the bar.

If he declines to absent himself permanently, then the State Bar Association and the Judicial Tenure Commission should act immediately to force him out.

Those days are past, probably forever. As the new Interior Secretary, Thomas S. Kleppe, already has discovered, what his department is involved in today tends to become very controversial. Conservation and preservation are still big goals of the department, but increasingly they have to be balanced against the resource needs of the nation.

That is a task almost guaranteed to bring criticism to the secretary from both sides no matter how well he handles his assignment. The former North Dakota congressman and chief of the Small Business Administration knows his way around Washington, and that may help him overcome some of the resistance to some of the department's on-going policies.

Included among the more controversial objectives are plans for greatly enlarging offshore oil drilling operations (one of the few remaining locations of untapped oil) and expanding coal extraction operations in the West. The question of energy and what to do about an insufficiency of it has placed the Interior Department on a front burner with the heat turned on high.

'Oh, That. It's Just A Gift From A Friend.'

SAYS PROTECTION IS NOT FREE

We live in an age of "Consumerism," and it seems many consumers welcome the protection which the laws of recent years provide. But how many have looked in the mirror and decided if the person they saw was a Consumer or a Producer?

What is a Producer? I feel it is anyone who provides a Product or Service for his fellowman. And what is a Consumer? That fellow man who avails himself of such Product or Service. Most of us are both! Only children and retired people are mostly Consumers. Is it really important to make the distinction?

Are the Consumers, who class themselves as such and relish in the new-found protection, stupid enough to believe that, as they lay their hard cash on the line, such protection is for free, or at the expense of the Producer?

No. The extended warranty on a new car is included in the price the buyer pays. The cost of OSHA and EPA regulations are passed on to the customers. So the "Consumer" really pays for his own protection.

It seems to me we are just kidding ourselves with this "Consumerism." As I see how our family tries to stretch the paycheck, I can only conclude we were better off before all this protection came. It costs me more than I think it is worth!

Our President gets my support in his call for government to get out of the citizen's hair and pocketbook. Therefore, I will cast my vote for these candidates who promise LESS government and MORE freedom for us Consumers. Producers to bargain individually amongst ourselves for mutual satisfaction, without the expensive interference of "Consumerism."

Compromise On Canoe Legislation

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — A five-year legal tussle over efforts to regulate firms renting canoes for use upon Michigan streams may have ended.

Roger Biefus, president of the Michigan Recreational Canoeing Association, told the group's annual meeting Sunday association officials and the state Department of Natural Resources have joined to back new legislation on the subject.

Biefus said the agreement has both sides supporting House Bill 5495, now under consideration in Lansing.

That measure, Biefus said, regulates canoe traffic, calls for licensing canoe rental companies to pay for its enforcement, and gives special emphasis to the most heavily traveled streams — the Au Sable, Pine, Pere Marquette and Manistee rivers.

The number of rental canoes wouldn't be cut under the proposal although efforts to increase their number would have to be approved both by the DNR and the appropriate county commission.

BH Denies Request To Delay Tax Sale Of Sheeley Property

The Benton Harbor city commission last night denied a request by Rex Sheeley to withhold eight parcels of property he owns from the state property tax sale until he can pay the delinquent property taxes he owes.

The request was made by Atty. K. Morris Gavin, representing Sheeley, who said Sheeley owed approximately $30,000 in taxes on the eight properties and requested the action to withhold the properties from tax sale until Sheeley could obtain financing to pay the delinquent taxes.

Properties with delinquent taxes for three years revert to the state which sells them at auction. Action by the commission to had to be taken last night because the properties automatically go on tax sale if taxes are not paid by Nov. 4.

The commission voted 6 to 2 to deny the request after City Treasurer James Peoples recommended denial because the action to withhold would cause a "cash flow" problem with the city treasury.

"Delinquent taxes represent money already spent," Peoples explained. "That means you have to borrow money to make up the difference and there is already too much of a trend in that direction." Several commissioners alleged that Sheeley also owed money to the city on water bills and taxes on other properties.

Voting for denying the request were Commissioners Arnold Bolin, Carl Brown, Edmund Eaman, Charles Yarbrough, Alfred Williams and F. Joseph Flaugh. Voting against denial were Mayor Charles Joseph and Commissioner Winston Minott.

The eight parcels of land with delinquent property taxes, according to Gavin, are: 887 and 1234 Columbus, 358, 346 and 350 Summit, 608 Green, the East Main building, 718 East Main, and the Robinson building, 139 Pipestone. Gavin said the appraised value of the eight properties was more than $150,000.

The commission reversed its position on the next request and voted to withhold property at 412 Lincoln from the state tax sale.

The request was made by Mariah Williams who told the commission that she had offered to pay $500 of the delinquent property taxes she owed but was told she had to pay the full amount before Nov. 4.

In another tax-related issue, the commission approved tax exemption certificates for Batson Printing Co., 195 Michigan street, and Martin Brothers Mill and Foundry Supply Co., 289 Hinkley street. The certificates are final approval under the 1974 Michigan Plant Rehabilitation and Development Districts act which allows the two plants to qualify for a 50 per cent

$1.4 Million SJ Plant Addition

Whirlpool Seeks Tax Reduction

Whirlpool Corporation's St. Joseph division became the city's third industry to apply for a tax reduction for plant expansion, and 10 businessmen were appointed to a financial study committee at last night's St.

Joseph city commission meeting.

Edward Mattix, manager of facility engineering and maintenance at Whirlpool, appeared before the commission and presented details on a new $1.4 million addition.

Whirlpool is requesting the project, which is 70 per cent completed, be established as an industrial development district under the Michigan plant rehabilitation and industrial development districts act of 1974. Firms qualifying have to pay only 50 per cent of total property tax on the new addition for 12 years. Approval of the municipality is required under the act.

No action was taken by the commission last night. City Atty. A.G. (Pete) Preston said the commission will have to pass a resolution next week setting a public hearing date. The commission will decide after the public hearing on whether to grant approval.

After city approval an application is then sent to state tax officials for final approval.

Both Vail Rubber Works, Inc. and Ireland & Lester Co., Inc. have been granted similar tax exemption requests by the city.

Details of Whirlpool's new building which will house a steel slitting operation were detailed in Saturday's edition of this newspaper. The construction will be an addition to Whirlpool's plant five. Mattix said four or five new jobs will be created by the new addition.

In other major business last night Mayor Franklin Smith appointed 10 businessmen to a financial study committee to help battle the city's future financial problems.

Appointed to the committee (followed by their business) were:

Robert Carson, Heath Co.; Al VanHuis, Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co.; Lester Tiscornia (alternate member), Auto Specialties; Clifford Emkang, Emkang Nurseries; John Kovlan, of the accounting firm of Kovlan and Co.; Ray Carlson, representing the St. Joseph Merchants; Joseph Mackin, radio station WJSM; John Gessert, Whirlpool Corp., and William Smith, of the accounting firm of Herrkner, Smith, Miskill and Merritt.

In a press release Smith detailed financial problems the city ran into when city employees were granted a seven per cent salary increase after only a three per cent increase was budgeted.

Part of the press release read

by Smith is as follows:

"Looking to the future, it is apparent to this commission that there must be some realignment in services offered, or ways will have to be sought to raise additional income."

"To look into this matter we are appointing a financial study committee headed by Mayor Pro-tem (Joseph) Hanley to review and analyze the city budget along with services presently provided by the city and to make recommendations deemed advisable."

"Based on their study we further ask the committee to project the financial expenditures for the ensuing five years with recommendations for the future financial policy of the city."

Commissioner Hanley said the committee will have its first meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the commission chambers.

Also last night the commission gave approval for City Manager G.W. (Jerry) Hepler to apply for a grant-in-aid to cover half the $57,000 cost for improvements at Tiscornia

SJ Township Calls Public Hearing On Hall Land Purchase

St. Joseph township will hold a special public hearing Nov. 24 to take action on the purchase of property for a new $200,000 township hall.

The hearing was called by the board of trustee last night after an announcement by Supervisor Orval L. Benson that the township holds options to purchase two adjoining properties at the southeast corner of Fairplain and West Napier avenues.

Township land purchases and sales must be approved by voters, and it was reported last night that voters present at the special hearing could authorize the $49,500 land deal for a new township hall.

The hall is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. at Fairplain West elementary school, 1901 Fairplain avenue.

Board action came after Benson presented petitions signed by 34 electors who seek the meeting, termed similar to the annual township meeting each spring. To call such a meeting, petitions must be signed by at least 12 electors according to Township Atty. John L. Crow.

Benson emphasized that construction of a township hall will not require any new taxes. He outlined his plan.

The two properties under option could be purchased for a total of $49,500. A building fund built up over the past few years now contains $125,000 for a new township hall.

The township would obtain the remainder by selling the present township hall at 146 West Napier and probably another parcel of township-owned land.

Benson said he would like to sell a 10-acre site on Washington avenue near Nelson road. The parcel is vacant and was purchased by the township in 1971. It originally was earmarked for a township hall—fire station location.

Benson emphasized that the Fairplain-Napier area would house a township office and police station complex, but would not involve relocation of existing fire stations.

Properties under option contain houses owned by Robert and Nancy Lawrence at 484 West Napier, and Andrew and Katherine Schmidtman at 1715 Fairplain. The Lawrence property is at the southeast corner of the Fairplain-Napier intersection, while the Schmidtman property abuts the Lawrence property to the south.

Benson said the combined parcels would provide a 396-foot frontage along Fairplain, which would be the entrance to a township hall. The depth along Napier would be 230 feet.

Benson said the Lawrence property once was the residence of Harold Morris, a former township supervisor, now reported in his 90's. Benson said Mrs. Schmidtman is a daughter of Oliver Rector, active in township affairs. Schmidtman himself served as a St. Joseph township clerk in the late 1960's.

As to the petitions for a special meeting, Benson said they were spearheaded by Anthony LaManita, 1875 Lombard, and George Nichols, 535 Chippewa. Benson said all signatures have been certified as qualified township electors.

Because of the special meeting Nov. 24, the board will not hold its next regular session at the usual time, on the third Monday of the month, Nov. 17. Regular business will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. immediately preceding the Nov. 24 session.

BLOSSOMTIME DIRECTORS: New members elected to Blossomtime, Inc., board of directors are (left to right) Lynn Scott of Coloma, Whirlpool Corporation; Paul Mayhew, Edwardsburg and Berrien Springs funeral director; Mrs. William (Gertie) Johnson of Stevensville, proprietor of Bill's Tap; Bud Dudas of Benton Harbor, proprietor of IGDA stores in Edgman and St. Joseph; Rick Geipel, innkeeper of Benton Harbor Holiday Inn; and Ed McTavish of St. Joseph, Clark Equipment company. Mrs. Johnson, Mayhew and McTavish were elected to two-year terms, the others to one-year terms. Kickoff dinner for 1976 festival, which will be held May 2-8, is scheduled Nov. 19 at Benton Harbor Holiday Inn.

Bicentennial Helps BCA With Family Planning Grant

Berrien County Action, Inc., received approval Monday for a $2,600 federal grant to hire a coordinator for the agency's family planning program.

Nancy Baker, assistant director of the Michigan Bicentennial Project, announced approval of the grant at Benton Harbor city hall yesterday. The grant is from the federal Action Office, which coordinates all federal volunteer programs, and is sponsored through the Michigan Bicentennial Council.

Betty Edwards, a coordinator, said the grant will be used to hire Mrs. Edward (Rosie) Hudson, of 150 Birdie street, Benton township, to coordinate and recruit volunteers for BCA's family planning program for teenage mothers. She will work at the agency's family planning center, the Louise Beebe Memorial center, 617 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, according to Mrs. Edwards, and will receive $50 per week for 12 months.

Mrs. Baker said the state

Bicentennial Project has sponsored grants to more than 50 sites throughout the state to produce "a project that will have community value into the next century" as part of the Bicentennial project.

Berrien County Action supplied $300 as a portion of the volunteer's $2,900 annual wage. BCA is operating the teenage mother family planning program with an anticipated $51,000 grant from the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

Board Ratifies Contract With SJ Non-Faculty Staff

St. Joseph Board of Education last night ratified a three-year contract with 94 bus drivers, custodians and cooks that calls for 25 per cent pay hikes over the life of the pact.

At the same meeting the board revised secretaries' pay upward approximately 10 per cent.

The Non-Teaching Employees association, which covers the bus drivers, custodians and hot lunch cooks, ratified the agreement Oct. 27. The agreement was reached at 2 a.m. Oct. 22 after five months of negotiations.

Dennis L. Percy, business manager for the schools, said the agreement calls for a 10 per cent pay increase the first year, an eight per cent increase the second year and a seven per cent increase the third year. In addition bus drivers will receive a blanket 15-cent per hour increase in lieu of overtime for extra bus runs.

Percy said that while individual workers will receive pay increases, the total expenditures in these departments will drop because of staff reductions.

The 1974-75 transportation budget was $100,659. It will drop to $92,000 in 1975-76. Custodian expense is expected to drop from $287,820 to $273,500.

Custodians are divided into five classes ranging from group leaders to sweepers and masons. Hourly pay ranges from $3.99 per hour for starting pay to $10.00 per hour for the highest pay class.

to $5.10 per hour. For experienced senior workers, mechanic pay scale ranges between $4.22 per hour to $4.64. Secretaries' wages under the new increase range to from $2.50 to $5.22.

The new pay scale for transportation and building maintenance supervisors ranges from $11,500 to $15,500. The former range for these positions was $10,452 to $14,100.

Handicapped Chapter To Meet Tonight

Blossomland chapter of the National Association of the Physically Handicapped will meet 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Easter Seal society headquarters, 2015 Lakeview avenue, St. Joseph with a full agenda.

On the docket will be transportation of handicapped in the county; Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) report, vocational rehabilitation service report and a talk by Atty. Dave Swanson of the law firm of Robinson and Ford.

Atty. Swanson, a quadriplegic, recently settled in the Twin Cities.

A white elephant sale will also be held.

SJ Busing Policy Wins Support Of Student Senate

St. Joseph Board of Education last night received support for its busing policy from the high school student senate, which expressed fears that restoring bus pickups would cut an already reduced curriculum.

The student senate in a letter to the board said it had reviewed traffic counts, accident figures, and related information and then went on record favoring the board policy.

Present school policy bans transporting students who live less than a mile and a half from school except for those students who have to cross Red Arrow, Niles avenue or Blossomland bridge.

The students wrote they were concerned about increased class sizes, subject reductions and other cuts in the educational program and felt it was "our responsibility" to investigate the "Concerned Parents of Brown School" request to restore some part of the busing program.

The letter was read by John Worthington, a senior who regularly attends Board of Education sessions.

The school board reported earlier it would announce a decision at its Nov. 10 meeting on the plea of Brown school parents for restoration of busing for those school children who must walk along busy traffic thoroughfares leading to Brown school.

One plan would restore busing between Thanksgiving and Easter — the dark, dangerous period for walking to and from school.

The parents of children who live within a mile and a half, who were previously bused have asked the board to consider the safety factor, pointing out the dangers of children walking along Cleveland, Lincoln and Washington are as great as those of Red Arrow highway and Niles road.

The board has reminded parents that it has received a mandate from voters to cut expenses. Transportation is one of the areas affected, Board President Ray Dumke said. Voters twice rejected millage proposals designed to provide busing as well as other services.

BH Denies Request To Delay Tax Sale Of Sheeley Property

The Benton Harbor city commission last night denied a request by Rex Sheeley to withhold eight parcels of property he owns from the state property tax sale until he can pay the delinquent property taxes he owes.

The request was made by Atty. K. Morris Gavin, representing Sheeley, who said Sheeley owed approximately $30,000 in taxes on the eight properties and requested the action to withhold the properties from tax sale until Sheeley could obtain financing to pay the delinquent taxes.

Properties with delinquent taxes for three years revert to the state which sells them at auction. Action by the commission to had to be taken last night because the properties automatically go on tax sale if taxes are not paid by Nov. 4.

The commission voted 6 to 2 to deny the request after City Treasurer James Peeples recommended denial because the action to withhold would set a precedent and would cause "cash flow" problems with the city treasury.

"Delinquent taxes represent money already spent," Peeples explained. "That means you have to borrow money to make up the difference and there is already too much of a trend in that direction." Several commissioners alleged that Sheeley also owed money to the city on water bills and taxes on other properties.

Voting for denying the request were Commissioners Arnold Bolin, Carl Brown, Edmund Eaman, Charles Yarbrough, Alfred Williams and F. Joseph Flaugh. Voting against denial were Mayor Charles Joseph and Commissioner Winston Minott.

The eight parcels of land with delinquent property taxes, according to Gavin, are: 887 and 1234 Columbus, 358, 346 and 350 Summit, 608 Green, the East Main building, 718 East Main, and the Robinson building, 139 Pipestone. Gavin said the appraised value of the eight properties was more than $150,000.

The commission reversed its position on the next request and voted to withhold property at 412 Lincoln from the state tax sale.

The request was made by Mariah Williams who told the commission that she had offered to pay $500 of the delinquent property taxes she owed but was told she had to pay the full amount before Nov. 4.

In another tax-related issue, the commission approved tax exemption certificates for Batson Printing Co., 195 Michigan street, and Martin Brothers Mill and Foundry Supply Co., 289 Hinkley street. The certificates are final approval under the 1974 Michigan Plant Rehabilitation and Development Districts act which allows the two plants to qualify for a 50 per cent

$1.4 Million SJ Plant Addition

Whirlpool Seeks Tax Reduction

Joseph city commission meeting.

Edward Mattix, manager of facility engineering and maintenance at Whirlpool, appeared before the commission and presented details on a new $1.4 million addition.

Whirlpool is requesting the project, which is 70 per cent completed, be established as an industrial development district under the Michigan plant rehabilitation and industrial development districts act of 1974. Firms qualifying have to pay only 50 per cent of total property tax on the new addition for 12 years. Approval of the municipality is required under the act.

No action was taken by the commission last night. City Atty. A.G. (Pete) Preston said the commission will have to pass a resolution next week setting a public hearing date. The commission will decide after the public hearing on whether to grant approval.

After city approval an application is then sent to state tax officials for final approval.

Both Vail Rubber Works, Inc. and Ireland & Lester Co., Inc., have been granted similar tax exemption requests by the city.

Details of Whirlpool's new building which will house a steel slitting operation were detailed in Saturday's edition of this newspaper. The construction will be an addition to Whirlpool's plant five. Mattix said four or five new jobs will be created by the new addition.

In other major business last night Mayor Franklin Smith appointed 10 businessmen to a financial study committee to help battle the city's future financial problems.

Appointed to the committee (followed by their business) were:

Robert Carson, Heath Co.; Al VanHuis, Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co.; Lester Tiscornia (alternate member), Auto Specialties; Clifford Emlong, Emlong Nurseries; John Kovtan, of the accounting firm of Kovtan and Co.; Ray Carlson, representing the St. Joseph Merchants; Joseph Mackin, radio station WJLM; John Gessert, Whirlpool Corp., and William Smits, of the accounting firm of Herkner, Smits, Miskill and Merrifield.

In a press release Smith detailed financial problems the city ran into when city employees were granted a seven per cent salary increase after only a three per cent increase was budgeted.

Part of the press release read

by Smith is as follows:

"Looking to the future, it is apparent to this commission that there must be some realignment in services offered, or ways will have to be sought to raise additional income."

"To look into this matter we are appointing a financial study committee headed by Mayor Pro-tem (Joseph) Hanley to review and analyze the city budget along with services presently provided by the city and to make recommendations deemed advisable."

"Based on their study we further ask the committee to project the financial expenditures for the ensuing five years with recommendations for the future financial policy of the city."

Commissioner Hanley said the committee will have its first meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the commission chambers.

Also last night the commission gave approval for City Manager G.W. (Jerry) Hepler to apply for a grant-in-aid to cover half the $57,000 cost for improvements at Tiscornia

SJ Township Calls Public Hearing On Hall Land Purchase

St. Joseph township will hold a special public hearing Nov. 24 to take action on the purchase of property for a new $200,000 township hall.

The hearing was called by the board of trustee last night after an announcement by Supervisor Orval L. Benson that the township holds options to purchase two adjoining properties at the southeast corner of Fairplain and West Napier avenues.

Township land purchases and sales must be approved by voters, and it was reported last night that voters present at the special hearing could authorize the $49,500 land deal for a new township hall.

The hearing is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. at Fairplain West elementary school, 1901 Fairplain avenue.

Know Market Styles

If you're a sauerkraut lover, know the differences in market styles to get just what you want. The most general form of sauerkraut in markets is the canned product, available in both metal and glass containers.

Fresh kraut is sold in flexible plastic pouch bags in the dairy or meat cases of most supermarkets. This kind, that must be refrigerated, has a sharper flavor than the canned and tastes more like the old-fashioned kind that came fresh from the barrel.

Observe Michigan Nurse Week At SMC

Clinical Training

DOWAGIAC — "Nursing Care is Everywhere," the theme of Michigan Nurse Week, Nov. 2-8, is apparent in six southwestern Michigan hospitals by the presence of student nurses from Southwestern Michigan college who are in the hospitals for clinical training as part of their SMC nursing studies.

Clinical training, which provides actual nursing experience to complement the students' classroom studies, is an important part of the students' total studies, whether they are training for a practical nursing certificate or an associate degree in nursing, both offered by SMC.

Area hospitals at which the students train include Cass County Medical Care Facility, Cassopolis; Kalamazoo State hospital; Lake View hospital, Paw Paw; Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac; Pawating hospital, Niles; and Watervliet Community hospital.

Students who are candidates for the associate degree in nursing visit all six hospitals on rotation by the end of their two years of study, and candidates for the practical nursing certificate visit all except Kalamazoo State hospital within their one year of study.

At Pawating hospital, a total of 90 students per week are gaining clinical experience in obstetrics, the operating rooms, pediatrics and on the medical-surgical floor. Students remain at the hospital for varying lengths of time, depending on the areas they are studying.

Ten associate degree nursing students and 10 practical nursing students are working in various medical-surgical tasks, plus another 12 students are aides at Lee Memorial hospital.

At Lake View Community hospital, another 30 students are working in coronary care, emergency room, respiratory care, intensive care, recovery room and on the surgical floor.

Nearly 300 SMC students will be involved in clinical training in the various hospitals this year.

Southwestern Michigan college was the first college to send nursing students to five of the six hospitals; only Kalamazoo State hospital had trained nursing students from other colleges before SMC's nursing program was organized.

Lawton UM Women Set Annual Bazaar

LAWTON — United Methodist Women of St. Paul's United Methodist church, Lawton, will hold their annual bazaar Thursday, Nov. 6, beginning at 9 a.m.

The bazaar will feature a country store, fish pond, plants and Christmas items. There will also be a silent auction for a double bed size quilt. Bids, beginning at $40, will be opened at 7 p.m.

A soup and sandwich luncheon will be served, according to Mrs. Louis (Virginia) Loomis, bazaar chairman.

At 5:30 p.m. a chicken pie supper will be available. Donations are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Bazaar proceeds will go toward World Missions.

ATTENTION!

Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

Indianapolis Symphony Concert Sunday At AU

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Oleg Kovalenko, will present a Bicentennial celebration program, "Happy Birthday America," Sunday, Nov. 9, at 8 p.m. in Johnson auditorium, Andrews university.

The concert is part of the AU Concert Picture Series. Tickets for the concert are $2.50 for single adult admission and less for children and senior citizens. Season tickets are still available.

The program will include works by Bach and Mendelssohn in addition to a work by Roy Harris, an American composer, and Aaron Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait."

Bernard Wurger, actor, director and producer, will narrate the Copland work.

The Indianapolis Symphony is comprised of 80 professional musicians ranging in age from 23 to 72. Many performers are professors at Indiana universities.

Observe Michigan Nurse Week At SMC

Clinical Training

DOWAGIAC — "Nursing Care is Everywhere," the theme of Michigan Nurse Week, Nov. 2-8, is apparent in six southwestern Michigan hospitals by the presence of student nurses from Southwestern Michigan college who are in the hospitals for clinical training as part of their SMC nursing studies.

Clinical training, which provides actual nursing experience to complement the students' classroom studies, is an important part of the students' total studies, whether they are training for a practical nursing certificate or an associate degree in nursing, both offered by SMC.

Area hospitals at which the students train include Cass County Medical Care Facility, Cassopolis; Kalamazoo State hospital; Lake View hospital, Paw Paw; Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac; Pawating hospital, Niles, and Watervliet Community hospital.

Students who are candidates for the associate degree in nursing visit all six hospitals on rotation by the end of their two years of study, and candidates for the practical nursing certificate visit all except Kalamazoo State hospital within their one year of study.

At Pawating hospital, a total of 90 students per week are gaining clinical experience in obstetrics, the operating rooms, pediatrics and on the medical-surgical floor. Students remain at the hospital for varying lengths of time, depending on the areas they are studying.

Ten associate degree nursing students and 10 practical nursing students are working in various medical-surgical tasks, plus another 12 students are aides at Lee Memorial hospital.

At Lake View Community hospital, another 30 students are working in coronary care, emergency room, respiratory care, intensive care, recovery room and on the surgical floor.

Nearly 300 SMC students will be involved in clinical training in the various hospitals this year.

Southwestern Michigan college was the first college to send nursing students to five of the six hospitals; only Kalamazoo State hospital had trained nursing students from other colleges before SMC's nursing program was organized.

Lawton UM Women Set Annual Bazaar

LAWTON — United Methodist Women of St. Paul's United Methodist church, Lawton, will hold their annual bazaar Thursday, Nov. 6, beginning at 9 a.m.

The bazaar will feature a country store, fish pond, plants and Christmas items. There will also be a silent auction for a double bed size quilt. Bids, beginning at $40, will be opened at 7 p.m.

A soup and sandwich luncheon will be served, according to Mrs. Louis (Virginia) Loomis, bazaar chairman.

At 5:30 p.m. a chicken pie supper will be available. Donations are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Bazaar proceeds will go toward World Missions.

Plan Patients' Festival

Invite Families

Gamma Mu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will host its second annual fall festival for patients, family members and guests of Berrien General hospital Sunday, Nov. 9, at 7 p.m.

The chapter is working with the occupational therapy staff of the hospital on the event. Included will be silent pictures, bingo, sing-alongs, popcorn, cider and donuts, for the patients and their families.

Preparing for the event are Mrs. William Deeten, chairman from the sorority, and Mrs. Edna Sparks, a patient at the hospital.

List Luncheon Topic

A luncheon meeting on the topic of "Family-Centered Religious Education" will be held Tuesday, Nov. 11, at St. Joseph parish hall, 936 Lake street, Kalamazoo.

The luncheon will begin at 12:30 p.m. and the Rev. Fr. David Woeste of Madison, Wis., will speak to the group on Family-Centered Religious Education at 1:15 p.m.

The Rev. Fr. Woeste is former director of Religious Education for the Diocese of Madison, Wis. Sister Frances Marie Lendle, SDS, is coordinator of Family Religious Education Program for the Diocese of Kalamazoo.

The luncheon Nov. 11 is sponsored by the Kalamazoo Diocesan Organization of Parish Religious Education Coordinators, and is designed for parish team members and is also open to all interested persons.

Reservations are asked by Nov. 5. Cost of the luncheon is $2.50. Reservations may be made with Sister Rita Martin, 604 Paw Paw street, Paw Paw, Mich., 49079.

Know Market Styles

If you're a sauerkraut lover, know the differences in market styles to get just what you want. The most general form of sauerkraut in markets is the canned product, available in both metal and glass containers.

Fresh kraut is sold in flexible plastic pouch bags in the dairy or meat cases of most supermarkets. This kind, that must be refrigerated, has a sharper flavor than the canned and tastes more like the old-fashioned kind that came fresh from the barrel.

MOST ABUNDANT

Ponderosa pine is the most widely growing commercial species in America.

Indianapolis Symphony Concert Sunday At AU

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Oleg Kovalevsky, will present a Bicentennial celebration program, "Happy Birthday America," Sunday, Nov. 9, at 8 p.m. in Johnson auditorium, Andrews university.

Conference Hosted At Bridgman Church

STATE MEETING: Pastors and board members of the Michigan District of the United Pentecostal churches met Nov. 1 at the First Apostolic church, Bridgman, for the annual fall conference. Among those attending were from left, the Rev. William Star of Albion, Michigan District Superintendent; the Rev. Paul Leaman of Detroit, a Presbyter (board director) who announced has resigned his pastorate in Detroit after 15½ years to become Regional Field Supervisor for South America and the Caribbean area of the denomination, and the Rev. Glenn Henderson, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan District. (Cliff Stevens photo)

Graphic Art Display At LMC

An exhibition of original graphic art by modern and old masters whose works span six centuries of artistic endeavor will be on display in the Lake Michigan college library from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 13.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the LMC cultural committee and is being arranged by Ferdinand Roten Galleries of Baltimore, Md.

The display will include more than 1,000 prints of original engravings, etchings, lithographs and woodcuts by such artists as Daumier, Goya, Picasso, Chagall, Miro, Hogarth, Zou, Dali, Renoir, Krushenick, Matisse, Kollwitz and others including contemporary American, European and Japanese printmakers.

The exhibit will be open to the public free of charge, according to William Hessel, dean of libraries and cultural committee chairman. Hessel says, "We encourage every person in our college area with any interest at all in art to view this splendid collection of graphic art."

"The exhibition is a wonderful opportunity for area residents to obtain a first-hand acquaintance with the original art work of the old masters as well as famous contemporary artists."

A representative from the Roten Galleries will be present at the exhibit to answer questions viewers may have regarding graphic art and printmaking. Prices will range from $10 to the thousands, but most prints, including those of the masters, will be priced under $100.

Established in 1933, Roten Galleries has one of the largest collections of graphic art in the country. The firm operates its main gallery at 123 West Mulberry street, Baltimore. Ferdinand Roten Galleries specializes in arranging exhibition sales of original graphic art at colleges, universities, museums and arts centers throughout the country.

Women Artists Exhibit

Michigan women are invited to participate in "WOMENWORKS," an exhibit by women artists, which will be held next January.

Sponsors are the University of Michigan International Women's Year and the Union Gallery.

A maximum of three pieces may be submitted by sending slides to the Union Gallery by Dec. 1. Entry fee is $5.

Works to be exhibited will be selected by Diane Kirkpatrick, associate professor in history of art; Julia Andrews, professor of art, and Gertrude Kasle, director of the Gertrude Kasle Gallery, Detroit.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Union Gallery, First floor Michigan Union, Ann Arbor, 48104.

ENTRY ENHANCED

Stock wood spindles can be used as a grille in front of glass panels flanking an entry door.

AAUW Sets Members' Night

Four members of the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph branch of American Association of University Women will present programs on four different topics at the November meeting of the group, Tuesday, Nov. 11.

The program, which will be held at Fairplain Presbyterian church, Benton Harbor, is titled "Members' Own Night," and AAUW members and guests are invited.

Those present will have the opportunity to attend two of the four programs during the evening.

A business meeting will be held at 7:15 p.m., followed by the four 45-minute programs given simultaneously at 7:30 p.m. and repeated at 8:30 p.m. There will be a coffee break between sessions.

Reservation due date for the meeting is Monday, Nov. 10.

AAUW members presenting the programs are Kathryn S. Rothert, Alice Butcher Finch, Ruth Niewyk and Barbara Green, MD.

Mrs. Rothert's topic title is "Reading Design for the Talented Child," which will deal with ways to broaden horizons and put the talented child in touch with materials they would not usually select for themselves. The program is applicable for beginning readers to adults.

Mrs. Rothert is coordinator of reading services for Benton Harbor Area schools. She received her master of arts degree in special education from University of Toledo, Ohio, and operated a private reading center in Toledo for 18 years. She has been an educational consultant for Educational Developmental Laboratories, Science Research Associates, and Ginn and Company, reading text book publishers.

Mrs. Finch will speak on "Are You Freight?" The session will deal with arranging for and enjoying freighter travel and how to make the most of it. Mrs.

Finch and her husband, George, have traveled by freighter throughout the world each year for 20 years.

Mrs. Finch received her bachelor of arts degree in sociology and economics from Beloit college.

Mrs. Niewyk's topic, "Communication Skills for Parents," deals with Family Involvement Training (FIT), a training program in communication skills for parents. FIT is a course for parents and instructors developed by the Life Enrichment Center of Pine Rest Christian hospital, Cutherville.

A part-time math instructor at Lake Michigan college, Mrs. Niewyk is an authorized instructor in the FIT program, and has also taken a Parent Effectiveness Training class. She received her bachelor of arts degree from Calvin college, Grand Rapids. She taught the FIT training program to staff and volunteers at The Link Crisis Intervention Center, St. Joseph.

Dr. Green, whose topic is "Questions Please!," will answer written questions from the audience regarding subjects such as menopause, birth control, and hysterectomies.

In the practice of obstetrics and gynecology with her husband, Dr. Robert L. Green, in St. Joseph since 1952, Dr. Green received her doctor of medicine degree and Ph.D. from the University of Michigan. She served her internship at Lincoln, Neb., General hospital, and her residency was served at Grace hospital in Detroit.

Members of the hospitality committee for the event are Mrs. Graydon (Genevieve) Jones, chairman, with Mrs. Donald (Connie) Beck, Mrs. Dean (Hattie) McKinney, Mrs. Henry (Doris) Oehlberg, and Mrs. Richard (Kaydelle) Koch.

Graphic Art Display At LMC

An exhibition of original graphic art by modern and old masters whose works span six centuries of artistic endeavor will be on display in the Lake Michigan college library from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 13.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the LMC cultural committee and is being arranged by Ferdinand Roten Galleries of Baltimore, Md.

The display will include more than 1,000 prints of original engravings, etchings, lithographs and woodcuts by such artists as Daumier, Goya, Picasso, Chagall, Miro, Hogarth, Zox, Dali, Renoir, Krushenick, Matisse, Kolwitz and others including contemporary American, European and Japanese printmakers.

The exhibit will be open to the public free of charge, according to William Hessel, dean of libraries and cultural committee chairman. Hessel says, "We encourage every person in our college area with any interest at all in art to view this splendid collection of graphic art."

"The exhibition is a wonderful opportunity for area residents to obtain a first-hand acquaintance with the original art work of the old masters as well as famous contemporary artists."

A representative from the Roten Galleries will be present at the exhibit to answer questions viewers may have regarding graphic art and printmaking. Prices will range from $10 to the thousands, but most prints, including those of the masters, will be priced under $100.

Established in 1932, Roten Galleries has one of the largest collections of graphic art in the country. The firm operates its main gallery at 123 West Mulberry street, Baltimore. Ferdinand Roten Galleries specializes in arranging exhibition sales of original graphic art at colleges, universities, museums and arts centers throughout the country.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Tips That May Save A Life

Dear Ann Landers: How would you like to save some lives today?

Millions of people read your column. Please print these suggestions on what to do in case of fire. Ask your readers to post them somewhere in the house for all to see. Taping them to the refrigerator is a good idea.

I read these suggestions in Look magazine in 1971. I then had them retyped when the article became too ragged to read. Now I'd like to clip it from Ann Landers's column and post it again. How about it? — Faithful Fan

Dear Fan: Here it is: Start clapping. And thank you in behalf of those whose lives may be saved because you took the time and trouble to write:

1. When a fire breaks out in your home or office, get out immediately. A fire can spread faster than you can run. Even if you smell smoke, GET OUT.

2. If you find smoke in an open stairway or hall, use another pre-planned way out.

3. If you escape through smoke, stay near the floor where the air is better. Take short breaths. Breathe through your nose, and crawl to an exit.

4. Make sure your family knows the quickest and safest ways to escape from every room in the house. Keep a flashlight in all rooms to help escape at night. Make sure children can open doors, windows and screens to the escape routes. Teach your children how to use the phone to report a fire. And they should know where the alarm box is in the neighborhood.

5. Head for stairs — not the elevator. A bad fire can cut off the power to elevators. An elevator could also deliver you to the fire floor.

6. DON'T jump. Many people have jumped and died without realizing rescue was only a few minutes away.

7. If you are trapped in a smoke-filled room, stay near the floor where the air is better. If possible, sit by a window where you can call for help. Open it at the top and bottom. Heat and smoke will go out the top. You can breathe at the bottom.

8. Feel every door with your hand. If it's hot, don't open it. If it's cool, make this test: open slowly and stay behind the door. If you feel heat or pressure coming through the open door, slam it shut.

9. If you can't get out, stay behind a closed door. Any door will serve as a shield.

10. If there is a panic for the main exit, get away from the mob. Try to find another way out. Once you are safely out, DON'T go back in. Call the fire department. Use alarm box or telephone. In the country, be sure you know the number of the closest volunteer fire department. Never assume someone else has turned in the alarm.

Impossible Task

Dear Ann Landers: I am a young reader of your column. I even learn something from it once in a while.

FOR WEDNESDAY

NOV. 5, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Over-all conditions are very favorable for you today, especially where major projects are concerned. Think big.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There's no reason why you can't chalk up points today if you give your financial interests the attention they deserve.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Partners will be luckier for you today than you'll be for yourself. In team efforts, let your mate or associate take the helm.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you need others to assist with a pet project, now is the time to ask their help. Circumstances will change if you wait too long.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Good things will happen through people you'll be involved with socially. Business mixed with pleasure is a lucky combination for you today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something rather unusual is developing. It will eventually contribute to your prosperity and well-being. A portion may surface today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) An excellent day to take a short trip. If there's somebody not too far away you've been wanting to see, hop in the car and go.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Financial aspects are especially promising for you today. Don't leave any stones unturned in acquiring or saving a buck.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have a very keen perception for important bits and pieces of information. You'll gauge the significance of things others will miss.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Follow your instincts in domestic or career matters today. They are "right on" and will solve some knotty problems if you don't let others dissuade you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Associate with people who have broad ideas and bold perspectives today. If possible, through them you can widen your own horizons.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) The sky's the limit today in the endeavors you have been working on for some time. If you don't actually score, you are well on the way.

Nov. 5, 1975

The coming year is an exceptional one where your earning power is concerned. Don't jump from job to job. Golden opportunities lie in the course you're now pursuing.

Add Storage To Nursery

Do you need extra storage space in baby's nursery? Hang ruffled curtains from the bottom of the crib (be sure to expose lever that lowers) to the floor in much the same fashion as a vanity skirt.

The curtains can be slipped onto a tightly fastened heavy cord. It will not only look attractive, but provide additional storage area beneath the baby's crib.

Plan November Exhibits

KALAMAZOO — A selection of etchings and lithographs by French Impressionist artist Auguste Renoir will be on display this month in the Main Gallery of the Kalamazoo Institute of Arts.

The traveling exhibit, organized by the former New York Cultural Center, is from the collection of Dr. Joseph G. Stella, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and is probably the most complete set of Renoir graphics in the United States.

Also during November, an exhibit of sculpture by James Stark will be on display in the Center's Back Gallery. A 1967 graduate of Western Michigan university, Stark is an sculpture instructor at the State University of New York.

Other November exhibits include a selection of lithographs from Landfall Press in the West Gallery and

"Women in Bronze," a selection of sculpture with women as the theme, in the North Gallery.

The Art Center is open Tuesday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sunday from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. It is closed Mondays.

 Opening lead — A ♥

By Oswald &amp; James Jacoby

If you played in the spring charity game, got to five clubs and made it, you should have the warm feeling of having bid and played this hand very well.

If you bid six clubs and went down, you could always complain that you would have made it if the club finesse had worked.

If you bid three notrump either after an opening notrump with 17 high-card points and a six-card club suit (a bid not recommended by either us or any other writers) or after a jump rebid in notrump (again not recommended but not really a bad call) your score would depend on the opening lead.

A prosaic fourth-best diamond lead against notrump would hold declarer to seven tricks; against any other suit lead he would make at least three notrump and might make four or five for a really good, but rather undeserved score.

All in all, this hand shows that there is plenty of luck in duplicate bridge.

Ask the Jacobys

A Texas reader wants to know why all bridge columnists are prejudiced against East and West and in favor of North and South.

It is a sort of unwritten law. In order to make it easy for studious readers to follow the play, the bottom hand is always declarer. Since it is easier to write about winning hands than losing hands the majority of the cards go to the declaring side.

Library Films Listed

The story, "Greeneyes," about a tiny white kitten who explores the countryside, will be featured for the preschool story hour Wednesday, Nov. 5, at the Benton Harbor public library at 10:30 a.m.

Free movies will be shown Friday, Nov. 7, at 4 p.m. in the auditorium. All library patrons, especially children, are invited.

Movies to be shown are "The Golden Fish," a story of a French boy, a black cat, a canary and a goldfish; "Moonbeam Princess," a Japanese fairy tale about a princess who is sent to earth by a moonbeam and is raised by a woodcutter and his wife, and "Children of the Plains Indians," about an Indian boy, Red Cloud, who tells about the Indian way of life, how they cook food, make arrows and warpaint and prepare buffalo hides and meat.

There will be a special showing of "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," Saturday, Nov. 8, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the library of the auditorium. The film is for all ages and shows the life of an extraordinary black woman slave.

New books on display include "A Child's Book of Animals," Kathleen Daly; "Farmer Palmer's Wagon Ride," William Steig; "Nature Craft," Carol Inouye; and "See My Lovely Poison Ivy," Lillian Moore.

Schedule Buchanan Meetings

BUCHANAN — The Portage Prairie Friendship club will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of Mrs. Ray Hullinger, 2196 West Bertrand road.

Mrs. Ira Treash will be co-hostess.

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan College club will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 5, at Buchanan Middle school.

The James Topash family of Buchanan will present the program, "Indian Awareness." Serving on the hostess committee will be Mrs. Kenneth Witt, chairman, Mrs. Daniel Shelles, Mrs. Roger Warner, Mrs. Jose Pimentel, Mrs. Edward Toner and Mrs. James Swartzell.

BUCHANAN — United Women of Oranoko United Methodist church will meet at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 5.

Mrs. William Conn will conduct the annual pledge service.

Mrs. Robert Gunn will be hostess for the coffee hour.

BUCHANAN — Women's Society of St. Anthony's Catholic church will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 6, in the Parish hall, following the 7:30 p.m. mass.

Newly elected officers will be installed. Plans will be made for the fall festival scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 23.

HIGH PRICED HOMES

Are home prices high in America? A visiting Japanese builder said he put up 40 platform-frame houses, averaging 1,000 square feet and sold for $75,000 each.

What I would like to ask you is this: When we traveled all over the country this summer we bought newspapers in every city. The same column appeared in several different papers.

Would it be possible for you to write a different column for each of your papers? You must get a lot of mail and I'll bet you could do it if you worked a little harder. — 12-Year-Old Fan

Dear Fan: My column now appears in 812 papers. Multiply that by three letters per column — then take THAT number and multiply it by seven days per week. What do you get? My figure is 17,052.

All you want me to do is prepare 17,052 answers a week for publication. Thanks a heap. Where should I send the body?

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclosed 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I can't seem to open the paper without being scared about emphysema. My wife and family heard me stop smoking cigarettes since the doctor said my cough is due to tobacco. I have cut down to one pack a day.

Mr. H.U., III.

Dear Mr. U.:

The fact that you read so much about emphysema is a testimonial to the excellent health campaigns about this disease.

This devastating lung disorder can rarely be completely reversed when once chronic changes in the lungs have begun.

Cigarette smoking, undoubtedly, is the most important culprit responsible for the destructive changes in the tiny air sacs of the lungs which eventually make breathing difficult.

The wheezing and the shortness of breath associated with chronic emphysema make invalids out of people who might otherwise be productive and happy.

It is true, of course, that there are other causes for emphysema besides tobacco. Yet, if the single element of cigarette smoking is considered to be a factor by your doctor it should be totally eliminated.

It must be obvious to you that any threat to your health must necessarily be a similar threat to the security of your wife and children. It is understandable, therefore, that they, in their anxiety, may tend to nag you, hoping that in some way you can sensibly understand the ever-present danger to your health caused by your smoking even one pack a day.

Are vibrating machines any good for losing weight and reducing the flab around the waist?

Miss D.L.C., Calif.

Dear Miss C.:

They are not of any value in weight reduction. Many purchasers of these machines buy them as a means of avoiding the simple reality that they eat too much. Yet it is true that these vibrating machines can give better tone to the muscles and perhaps firm the body tissues. The "flab" you refer to is usually a collection of subcutaneous (under the skin) accumulation of fat. To get rid of this "flab" the machine should be used in conjunction with a reducing diet.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... A left-handed child should not be pushed or forcefully converted into a right-handed person. The psychological aftermath of such pressure can be harmful to the child.

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from reader, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Bazaar

SATURDAY: Ladies Aid Society of Trinity Lutheran church, Sawyer, will sponsor a bazaar and chicken dinner Saturday, Nov. 8, from 4 to 7 p.m. at Trinity school auditorium. Cost of the dinner is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children 5 through 12. Children under five are free. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Ruth Sinner or Mrs. Norman Krieger, co-chairmen; Mrs. Elmer Hak, publicity chairman, or at the door. Included in the bazaar are a bake sale and country store. Proceeds will go to the blacktopping fund for the church parking lot. From left are, Mrs. Sinner and Mrs. Krieger, co-chairmen. Also serving on the committee are Mrs. Herman Hauch, Mrs. William Boyd, Mrs. Chester Krieger, Mrs. Jacob Worster and Mrs. Loretta Dunlap. (Esther Klupp photo)

Store Toys Under Bed

If your living quarters are crowded and you need places for toy storage, rescue any old dresser drawers that are of a size to fit under the beds.

Pound metal gliders into each corner of the bottoms of the drawers.

Toys, athletic or sports equipment, etc., can be stored here and out of the way, yet these drawers are easy to pull out when you want to use the items.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Tips That May Save A Life

Dear Ann Landers: How would you like to save some lives today?

Millions of people read your column. Please print these suggestions on what to do in case of fire. Ask your readers to post them somewhere in the house for all to see. Taping them to the refrigerator is a good idea.

I read these suggestions in Look magazine in 1971. I then had them retyped when the article became too ragged to read. Now I'd like to clip it from Ann Landers's column and post it again. How about it? — Faithful Fan

Dear Fan: Here it is: Start clipping. And thank you in behalf of those whose lives may be saved because you took the time and trouble to write:

1. When a fire breaks out in your home or office, get out immediately. A fire can spread faster than you can run. Even if you smell smoke, GET OUT.

2. If you find smoke in an open stairway or hall, use another pre-planned way out.

3. If you escape through smoke, stay near the floor where the air is better. Take short breaths. Breathe through your nose, and crawl to an exit.

4. Make sure your family knows the quickest and safest ways to escape from every room in the house. Keep a flashlight in all rooms to help escape at night. Make sure children can open doors, windows and screens to the escape routes. Teach your children how to use the phone to report a fire. And they should know where the alarm box is in the neighborhood.

5. Head for stairs — not the elevator. A bad fire can cut off the power to elevators. An elevator could also deliver you to the fire floor.

6. DON'T jump. Many people have jumped and died without realizing rescue was only a few minutes away.

7. If you are trapped in a smoke-filled room, stay near the floor where the air is better. If possible, sit by a window where you can call for help. Open it at the top and bottom. Heat and smoke will go out the top. You can breathe at the bottom.

8. Feel every door with your hand. If it's hot, don't open it. If it's cool, make this test: open slowly and stay behind the door. If you feel heat or pressure coming through the open door, slam it shut.

9. If you can't get out, stay behind a closed door. Any door will serve as a shield.

10. If there is a panic for the main exit, get away from the mob. Try to find another way out. Once you are safely out, DON'T go back in. Call the fire department. Use alarm box or telephone. In the country, be sure you know the number of the closest volunteer fire department. Never assume someone else has turned in the alarm.

Impossible Task

Dear Ann Landers: I am a young reader of your column. I even learn something from it once in a while.

What I would like to ask you is this: When we traveled all over the country this summer we bought newspapers in every city. The same column appeared in several different papers.

Would it be possible for you to write a different column for each of your papers? You must get a lot of mail and I'll bet you could do it if you worked a little harder. — 12-Year-Old Fan

Dear Fan: My column now appears in 812 papers. Multiply that by three letters per column — then take THAT number and multiply it by seven days per week. What do you get? My figure is 17,052.

All you want me to do is prepare 17,052 answers a week for publication. Thanks a heap. Where should I send the body?

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Library Films Listed

The story, "Greeneyes," about a tiny white kitten who explores the countryside, will be featured for the preschool story hour Wednesday, Nov. 5, at the Benton Harbor public library at 10:30 a.m.

Free movies will be shown Friday, Nov. 7, at 4 p.m. in the auditorium. All library patrons, especially children, are invited.

Movies to be shown are "The Golden Fish," a story of a French boy, a black cat, a canary and a goldfish; "Moonbeam Princess," a Japanese fairy tale about a princess who is sent to earth by a moonbeam and is raised by a woodcutter and his wife, and "Children of the Plains Indians," about an Indian boy, Red Cloud, who tells about the Indian way of life, how they cook food, make arrows and war paint and prepare buffalo hides and meat.

There will be a special showing of "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," Saturday, Nov. 8, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the library of the auditorium. The film is for all ages and shows the life of an extraordinary black woman slave.

New books on display include "A Child's Book of Animals," Kathleen Daly; "Farmer Palmer's Wagon Ride," William Steig; "Nature Craft," Carol Inouye, and "See My Lovely Poison Ivy," Lillian Moore.

Bazaar

SATURDAY: Ladies Aid Society of Trinity Lutheran church, Sawyer, will sponsor a bazaar and chicken dinner Saturday, Nov. 8, from 4 to 7 p.m. at Trinity school auditorium. Cost of the dinner is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children 5 through 12. Children under five are free. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Ruth Sinner or Mrs. Norman Krieger, co-chairmen; Mrs. Elmer Hak, publicity chairman, or at the door.

Included in the bazaar are a bake sale and country store. Proceeds will go to the blacktopping fund for the church parking lot. From left are, Mrs. Sinner and Mrs. Krieger, co-chairmen. Also serving on the committee are Mrs. Herman Hauch, Mrs. William Boyd, Mrs. Chester Krieger, Mrs. Jacob Worster and Mrs. Loretta Dunlap. (Esther Klupp photo)

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Over-all conditions are very favorable for you today, especially where major projects are concerned. Think big.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There's no reason why you can't chalk up points today if you give your financial interests the attention they deserve.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Partners will be luckier for you today than you'll be for yourself. In team efforts, let your mate or associate take the helm.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you need others to assist with a pet project, now is the time to ask their help. Circumstances will change if you wait too long.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Good things will happen through people you'll be involved with socially. Business mixed with pleasure is a lucky combination for you today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something rather unusual is developing. It will eventually contribute to your prosperity and well-being. A portion may surface today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An excellent day to take a short trip. If there's somebody not too far away you've been wanting to see, hop in the car and go.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Financial aspects are especially promising for you today. Don't leave any stones unturned in acquiring or saving a buck.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have a very keen perception for important bits and pieces of information. You'll gauge the significance of things others will miss.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Follow your instincts in domestic or career matters today. They are "right on" and will solve some knotty problems if you don't let others dissuade you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Associate with people who have broad ideas and bold perspectives today. If possible, through them you can widen your own horizons.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The sky's the limit today in the endeavors you have been working on for some time. If you don't actually score, you are well on the way.

Nov. 5, 1975

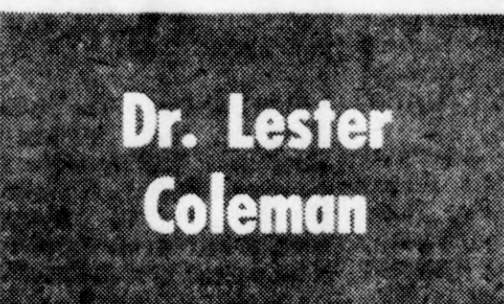

The coming year is an exceptional one where your earning power is concerned. Don't jump from job to job. Golden opportunities lie in the course you're now pursuing.

Add Storage To Nursery

Do you need extra storage space in baby's nursery?

Hang ruffled curtains from the bottom of the crib (be sure to expose lever that lowers) to the floor in much the same fashion as a vanity skirt.

The curtains can be slipped onto a tightly fastened heavy cord. It will not only look attractive, but provide additional storage area beneath the baby's crib.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I can't seem to open the paper without being scared about emphysema. My wife and family hound me to stop smoking cigarettes since the doctor said my cough is due to tobacco. I have cut down to one pack a day.

Mr. H.U., Ill.

Dear Mr. U.: The fact that you read so much about emphysema is a testimonial to the excellent health campaigns about this disease.

This devastating lung disorder can rarely be completely reversed when once chronic changes in the lungs have begun.

Cigarette smoking, undoubtedly, is the most important culprit responsible for the destructive changes in the tiny air sacs of the lungs which eventually make breathing difficult. The wheezing and the shortness of breath associated with chronic emphysema make invalids out of people who might otherwise be productive and happy.

It is true, of course, that there are other causes for emphysema besides tobacco. Yet, if the single element of cigarette smoking is considered to be a factor by your doctor it should be totally eliminated.

It must be obvious to you that any threat to your health must necessarily be a similar threat to the security of your wife and children. It is understandable, therefore, that they, in their anxiety, may tend to nag you, hoping that in some way you can sensibly understand the ever-present danger to your health caused by your smoking even one pack a day.

Are vibrating machines any good for losing weight and reducing the flab around the waist?

Miss D.L.C., Calif.

Dear Miss C.: They are not of any value in weight reduction.

Many purchasers of these machines buy them as a means of avoiding the simple reality that they eat too much. Yet it is true that these vibrating machines can give better tone to the muscles and perhaps firm the body tissues. The "flab" you refer to is usually a collection of subcutaneous (under the skin) accumulation of fat. To get rid of this "flab" the machine should be used in conjunction with a reducing diet.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... A left-handed child should not be pushed or forcefully converted into a right-handed person. The psychological aftermath of such pressure can be harmful to the child.

Store Toys Under Bed

If your living quarters are crowded and you need places for toy storage, rescue any old dresser drawers that are of a size to fit under the beds.

Pound metal gliders into each corner of the bottoms of the drawers.

Toys, athletic or sports equipment, etc., can be stored here and out of the way, yet these drawers are easy to pull out when you want to use the items.

Plan November Exhibits

KALAMAZOO — A selection of etchings and lithographs by French Impressionist artist Auguste Renoir will be on display this month in the Main Gallery of the Kalamazoo Institute of Arts.

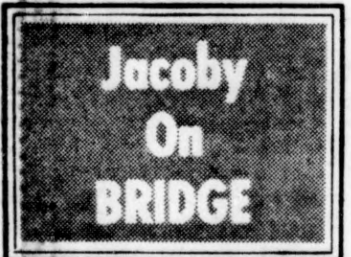

The traveling exhibit, organized by the former New York Cultural Center, is from the collection of Dr. Joseph G. Stella, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and is probably the most complete set of Renoir graphics in the United States.

Also during November, an exhibit of sculpture by James Stark will be on display in the Center's Back Gallery. A 1967 graduate of Western Michigan university, Stark is an sculpture instructor at the State University of New York.

Other November exhibits include a selection of lithographs from Landfall Press in the West Gallery and

"Women in Bronze," a selection of sculpture with women as the theme, in the North Gallery.

The Art Center is open Tuesday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sunday from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. It is closed Mondays.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If you played in the spring charity game, got to five clubs and made it, you should have the warm feeling of having bid and played this hand very well.

If you bid six clubs and went down, you could always complain that you would have made it if the club finesse had worked.

If you bid three notrump either after an opening notrump with 17 high-card points and a six-card club suit (a bid not recommended by either us or any other writers) or after a jump rebid in notrump (again not recommended but not really a bad call) your score would depend on the opening lead.

A prosaic fourth-best diamond lead against notrump would hold declarer to seven tricks; against any other suit lead he would make at least three notrump and might well make four or five for a really good, but rather undeserved score.

All in all, this hand shows that there is plenty of luck in duplicate bridge.

Ask the Jacobys

A Texas reader wants to know why all bridge columnists are prejudiced against East and West and in favor of North and South.

It is a sort of unwritten law. In order to make it easy for studios readers to follow the play, the bottom hand is always declarer. Since it is easier to write about winning hands than losing hands the majority of the cards go to the declaring side.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican hopes were centered on the unlikely target of a Deep South governorship today as party officials scanned a scattered lineup of odd-year elections for evidence of a GOP comeback.

Voters were electing governors in two states and legislators in four, while 35 big cities chose mayors. Local issues and personalities were dominant in what campaigning there was, and it will be difficult for the national parties to read much into the outcome.

That isn't to say they won't try. Democrats would like to show they can win without Watergate, and Republicans are looking for an antidote to their landslide losses in 1974 congressional and state elections.

The GOP nursed hopes for an upset in Mississippi, which has not had a Republican governor in a century.

This time, Democrat Chiff Finch faced a strong challenge from Gil Carmichael, a millionaire businessman from Meridian who has been waging an intensive advertising and canvassing campaign.

Win or lose, Carmichael has made a race of it in a state where Democratic primaries used to settle elections. The favored Finch, a $150,000-a-year lawyer from Batesville, won the Democratic nomination in an upset landslide. Finch has been running what he styles as a workingman's campaign, juggling a lunchbox, driving a bulldozer, bagging groceries in a supermarket.

But, as Carmichael apparently whittled away at his early lead, Finch stepped up his television advertising campaign in the waning days of the race and, by election eve, both candidates claimed to be ahead.

There is a third entry, black independent Henry Kirksey of Jackson, but even he admits he doesn't stand a chance.

The other gubernatorial race is in Kentucky, between Democratic Gov. Julian M. Carroll and Republican businessman Robert E. Gable of Frankfort.

Carroll seeks election to the governorship he took over when Gov. Wendell Ford resigned to become a senator.

There are twice as many registered Democrats as Republicans in Kentucky, and Carroll's only problem is the bitter controversy over the busing of children to integrate schools in Louisville and Jefferson County, the state's most populous area.

While both candidates oppose busing, Gable has been charging that the Louisville situation occurred because of inaction on Carroll's part. The issue has stirred a backlash against incumbents in the Louisville area, and that mood is the key to Gable's hopes for an upset.

Busing also stirred political wrath in Boston, where Mayor Kevin White faces State Sen. Joseph F. Timilty. Both candidates there oppose busing but say the law, a federal court order for school busing, must be obeyed.

Courtroom Duel Looms As 'Squeaky' Goes On Trial

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette Fromme, charged with attempting to assassinate President Ford, goes on trial with the possibility of legal issues yielding center stage to a courtroom duel between the devotee of the Charles Manson family and the presiding judge.

Jury selection begins today in the trial of Miss Fromme, 27, who was arrested in a park near the state Capitol Sept. 5 after Secret Service agents said she pointed a loaded .45-caliber pistol at Ford from two feet away.

Miss Fromme was found mentally competent to stand trial and has been held under $350,000 bail in a maximum security cell here.

The President gave a videotaped deposition in the case at the request of the defense, which has the option of using the tape during the trial if it judges it to be helpful to its case. It would be the first time a President has testified in a criminal trial.

MacBride says he will question prospective jurors one by one. The questions were submitted in advance by lawyers in the case, presumably including Miss Fromme, who MacBride is permitting to act as her own attorney. He also appointed a co-counsel, attorney John Virga.

MacBride says jury selection should take only about three days. Miss Fromme said earlier she won't be "picky" because it's impossible to find jurors who haven't heard of the case.

Patty's Mental Competency Will Be Determined Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A hearing on the mental competency of Patricia Hearst could start a swift trial date or delay proceedings indefinitely for the newspaper heiress.

Miss Hearst was scheduled to appear at the hearing today before U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter, who will issue the ruling on her competency to stand trial on charges of taking part in a bank robbery while she was a fugitive with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Attorneys for Miss Hearst, who has not yet entered a plea, said she would not take the witness stand.

Carter said in recent out-of-court comments that Miss Hearst probably was competent to proceed. His final ruling will be based on reports from three psychiatrists and a psychologist who examined her at the San Mateo County Jail.

It was uncertain whether a final ruling on her mental condition would be made at today's hearing. Defense and prosecution attorneys, who have read Miss Hearst's psychiatric reports, are expected to argue their views on her mental competency. The judge could then take the matter under study or could issue an immediate decision.

A ruling that Miss Hearst is mentally competent could mean the swift setting of a trial date, perhaps this year. She also would be required to enter a plea.

A decision that she is incompetent could delay proceedings indefinitely while she received treatment at a mental hospital.

Carter spent two hours meeting privately with defense and prosecution attorneys Monday to set "ground rules" for today's hearing. He reportedly requested legal arguments not only on Miss Hearst's mental state but also on how soon her trial must begin in order to fulfill provisions of the new Federal Speedy Trial Act.

The 21-year-old Miss Hearst last appeared before Carter on Sept. 23 with a different team of attorneys representing her. They sought her release on bail and said she had been brain-washed and tortured by the SLA. Carter revoked bail for Miss Hearst until he decided on her mental condition.

Asked about Miss Hearst's condition Monday, her new attorney, F. Lee Bailey, said she was in "good" spirits, "improved" from his previous visits with her.

But Bailey predicted that her trial on federal bank robbery charges would not begin until 1976. The government was pressing for the trial to begin by Dec. 27.

The other gubernatorial race is in Kentucky, between Democratic Gov. Julian M. Carroll and Republican businessman Robert E. Gable of Frankfort.

Carroll seeks election to the governorship he took over when Gov. Wendell Ford resigned to become a senator.

There are twice as many registered Democrats as Republicans in Kentucky, and Carroll's only problem is the bitter controversy over the busing of children to integrate schools in Louisville and Jefferson County, the state's most populous area.

While both candidates oppose busing, Gable has been charging that the Louisville situation occurred because of inaction on Carroll's part. The issue has stirred a backlash against incumbents in the Louisville area, and that mood is the key to Gable's hopes for an upset.

Busing also stirred political wrath in Boston, where Mayor Kevin White faces State Sen. Joseph F. Timilty. Both candidates there oppose busing but say the law, a federal court order for school busing, must be obeyed.

Timilty has been pushing charges of corruption in the White administration. The mayor denies any knowledge of wrongdoing. But White's managers, who had expected an easy win, now concede the race is close.

State legislators were being elected in Mississippi, Kentucky, Virginia and New Jersey. Democrats are in control in all four states.

There also are contests for mayor in Cleveland, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Houston, Baltimore, Miami, Minneapolis and San Francisco. Along with the candidate contests, there are state and local bond issues and other issues to be settled. The major election in that category: a $4.5-billion Ohio bond issue, biggest ever proposed by a state. It is backed by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes and opposed by labor leaders and Democrats, who say it could lead Ohio into the kind of financial crisis now facing New York City.

Courtroom Duel Looms As 'Squeaky' Goes On Trial

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette Fromme, charged with attempting to assassinate President Ford, goes on trial with the possibility of legal issues yielding center stage to a courtroom duel between the devotee of the Charles Manson family and the presiding judge.

Jury selection begins today in the trial of Miss Fromme, 27, who was arrested in a park near the state Capitol Sept. 5 after Secret Service agents said she pointed a loaded .45-caliber pistol at Ford from two feet away.

Miss Fromme was found mentally competent to stand trial and has been held under $350,000 bail in a maximum security cell here.

The President gave a videotaped deposition in the case at the request of the defense, which has the option of using the tape during the trial if it judges it to be helpful to its case. It would be the first time a President has testified in a criminal trial.

U.S. District Judge Thomas MacBride says he will question prospective jurors one by one. The questions were submitted in advance by lawyers in the case, presumably including Miss Fromme, who MacBride is permitting to act as her own attorney. He also appointed a co-counsel, attorney John Virga.

MacBride says jury selection should take only about three days. Miss Fromme said earlier she won't be "picky" because it's impossible to find jurors who haven't heard of the case.

Miss Fromme is the first person to be charged and tried under a 1965 federal law against attempted murder of a president. The law was passed after the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

If convicted, she could be sentenced to life in prison, the same sentence Manson and four followers are now serving in the slayings of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

Miss Fromme and Virga are expected in their defense to argue that she was trying to make a political statement when she pointed the pistol at Ford and that she did not intend to kill him.

One issue expected to be argued is whether the trigger was pulled. Some witnesses say they heard a click, and some say they heard no click.

Agents found four live rounds of ammunition in the magazine of the pistol, but no cartridge in the firing chamber.

In his still-sealed videotaped testimony given Saturday at the White House, it was expected Ford was asked whether he heard a click, as well as questions about Miss Fromme's facial expression.

But the legal battle over Miss Fromme's intentions with the gun may yield to a courtroom duel between her and MacBride.

Patty's Mental Competency Will Be Determined Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A hearing on the mental competency of Patricia Hearst could spur a swift trial date or delay proceedings indefinitely for the newspaper heiress.

Miss Hearst was scheduled to appear at the hearing today before U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter, who will issue the ruling on her competency to stand trial on charges of taking part in a bank robbery while she was a fugitive with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Attorneys for Miss Hearst, who has not yet entered a plea, said she would not take the witness stand.

Carter said in recent out-of-court comments that Miss Hearst probably was competent to proceed. His final ruling will be based on reports from three psychiatrists and a psychologist who examined her at the San Mateo County Jail.

It was uncertain whether a final ruling on her mental condition would be made at today's hearing. Defense and prosecution attorneys, who have read Miss Hearst's psychiatric reports, are expected to argue their views on her mental competency. The judge could then take the matter under study or could issue an immediate decision.

A ruling that Miss Hearst is mentally competent could mean the swift setting of a trial date, perhaps this year. She also would be required to enter a plea.

A decision that she is incompetent could delay proceedings indefinitely while she received treatment at a mental hospital.

Carter spent two hours meeting privately with defense and prosecution attorneys Monday to set "ground rules" for today's hearing. He reportedly requested legal arguments not only on Miss Hearst's mental state but also on how soon her trial must begin in order to fulfill provisions of the new Federal Speedy Trial Act.

The 21-year-old Miss Hearst last appeared before Carter on Sept. 23 with a different team of attorneys representing her. They sought her release on bail and said she had been brainwashed and tortured by the S.L.A. Carter revoked bail for Miss Hearst until he decided on her mental condition.

Asked about Miss Hearst's condition Monday, her new attorney, F. Lee Bailey, said she was in "good" spirits, "improved" from his previous visits with her.

But Bailey predicted that her trial on federal bank robbery charges would not begin until 1976. The government was pressing for the trial to begin by Dec. 27.

South Haven Marina Wants To Buy Land

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven city council last night received a request from a local marina to consider selling city property along the Black river to the firm to allow construction of docks and boating related service facilities.

All Seasons Marine, Inc., owners of property and marine-related facilities on both sides of the Black river, said it was interested in buying property adjacent to the river turning south west of the Dyckman Avenue bridge and east of the Municipal Marina.

The property is presently owned by a ready-mix concrete company. David Jones, president of All Seasons, told council members that purchase of the property would be subject to the city's cooperation in restoring the harbor lines to the channel and obtaining Army Corps of Engineers approval to construct docks in the turning basin.

Council members indicated that the Black river is a designated federal deep water harbor and that any changes in its status would require approval from Congress.

Jones said he wished to present his proposal to the planning commission for its consideration. Council members said they did not object.

In other matters, council authorized City Manager Albert Pierce to proceed with developing plans to have a traffic signal installed at the intersection of Superior street and Broadway in cooperation with the state highway department.

Pierce announced yesterday morning that he and members of the council had been able to persuade state officials to change a previous decision denying the request for the signal. City officials and citizens have sought the signal for several years, noting that the L-100 business loop is hazardous to children walking to the nearby Central school.

Pierce indicated that the signal would remain on green for the business loop traffic except when vehicles approach the intersection on Superior street. He said the city and state would share the estimated $6,000 cost.

Council authorized hooding parking meters in the central business district from Dec. 15-24 as its Christmas present to citizens and shoppers.

Viktor Anderson, a member of the city's bicentennial committee, reported the state bicentennial commission has authorized a $2,500 grant to allow hiring a coordinator of local activities.

Anderson said the emphasis of local activities will include developing a transportation program for senior citizens, improving inter-racial relations in the community, particularly among the youth, and launching an ecological awareness project.

Anderson also indicated the local committee is seeking a $12,500 grant from the state agency to help finance a proposed maritime museum along the Black river.

Council voted 5-2 to seek a clarification on billings from a local contractor who has the contract to do sidewalk, curb and gutter concrete work for the city.

Action followed criticism by Rex Lineberry, second ward alderman, of a bill from William Bessmer for the installation of curb and gutter along a portion of Oak street. The bill for $618 was for 110 linear feet of curb. Lineberry disputed the footage, saying he measured 45 to 50 linear feet.

In favor of seeking the clarification were Lineberry, Mayor Elizabeth Davis and Aldermen Matthew Goerg, Wilbur Ingraham and Robert Warren. Opposed were Aldermen Norman Books and William McDonald who contended that Lineberry's criticism was part of a continuing "personality conflict."

Mayor Davis asked Pierce to clarify the city's financial responsibility should it accept a $100,000 grant from the state highway department for improvement of Indiana avenue.

Pierce estimated the total project cost at $250,000 to $300,000 and said work would probably have to be done over a three-year period to allow orderly local financing through either state gasoline tax revenues or the board of public utilities reserve funds.

Pierce stressed that the city is fortunate to receive the state grant, noting that Indiana avenue must be repaired, because of its deteriorated condition.

Council agreed to meet with the housing commission on Nov. 10 to discuss the need for additional low-cost for the elderly.

The South Haven Shriners were given permission to solicit donations for the Salvation Army in the central business district on Nov. 29.

A letter was received from Steve Jarvis commending the fire department for its fast response time to a fire in his house trailer last Saturday.

St. Joe Man Arrested After Crash

Benton Harbor police arrested a St. Joseph man on charges of leaving the scene of a personal injury accident and driving under the influence of intoxicants Monday after a two-car collision that resulted in hospitalization of a Benton Township woman.

Reported in "satisfactory" condition today at Mercy hospital was Ozzie Swift, 47, of 1348 Superior street. She was identified as the driver of one car.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Willie Monroe Hendrix, 35, of 2700 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph. He was unhurt in the 1:50 p.m. accident at the intersection of Weld street and Columbus avenue.

Patrolman Greg Platts said he stopped a car about a block from the accident scene that witnesses identified as one involved in the accident.

Baroda Bridge Will Cost More Than First Estimates

BARODA — Baroda village council learned last night that reconstruction costs for the Church street bridge could reach as high as $110,000, or $20,000 to $25,000 above the first estimate quoted in July.

Kim Draeger of the engineering firm, R.W. Petrie and associates, St. Joseph, told the council the increase was due to changes in the original plans made by the state highway department.

Alterations were required, he said, to qualify for a federal grant from the aid to secondary streets program which will pay about 72.5 per cent of construction costs.

Councilmen, during a regular meeting which followed a public hearing on the project approved the final plans for the proposed bridge which will replace one that collapsed June 20, just after a truck carrying 120,000 pounds of steel crossed over it.

Draeger also reported the village will have to pay the entire cost of moving or lowering the present water main at the bridge site. He suggested the council handle the bidding on the project, estimated cost about $2,000.

Emil Nitz, Church street, the only resident present at the hearing, asked what steps would be taken to preserve the large trees located in the proposed construction area. Draeger said most trees involved could be saved but all costs incurred would have to be paid by the village.

Draeger stated bids on the bridge work are to be sought starting Nov. 18 by the state highway department. All bids are to be received by Dec. 17 and the awarding of contracts will be made by mid-January. The village, he added, does not have to approve the contract, if the bid is too high.

The bridge will probably be opened for emergency purposes in June or July with completion sometime in August, Draeger concluded.

In regular council business, permission was given to Rudi Eichendorf, 1889 Lemon Creek road, to pursue plans for building a mobile home park on Stevensville-Baroda road, just north of Lemon Creek road.

Eichendorf said he is contemplating the purchase of about 30 acres on which he hopes to build about 50 mobile home sites.

Clerk Ileen Tollas reported nominating petitions are now available for the March election. They are to be filed with the clerk no later than Dec. 31. Terms expiring are Jerry Pilley, president; Mrs. Tallas, clerk; Mrs. Leona Og, treasurer; all two-year terms; and Albert Reifschneider, Howard Gaul and Ronald Zordol, trustees, four-year terms.

The council at next month's meeting will discuss abolishing the office of assessor, now being held by Henry A. Nitz. Officials' pay schedules will also be discussed.

Energy Crunch Coming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most states probably can ride out this winter's expected shortage of natural gas by using other fuels, but industries in at least eight states may have to shut down, the Federal Energy Administration says.

According to a survey released by the agency Monday, the expected shortages will be relatively small in terms of total requirements but will fall heaviest on industrial users, because many of them either are unable to obtain or use alternate fuels, or cannot afford them.

Such shutdowns may severely affect local economies, the FEA said.

The eight states expected to be most affected and the expected shortage of natural gas, after allowance for possible replacement with other fuels, are:

North Carolina, 13.2 per cent; Delaware, 5.2 per cent; Maryland, 4.1 per cent; Ohio, 3.8 per cent; Kentucky, 3 per cent; Kansas, 1 to 2 per cent; Missouri, 1 to 2 per cent, and Pennsylvania, 1 to 2 per cent. In addition, the FEA said,

Arizona, Indiana, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia face unreplaceable shortages of less than 1 per cent, but may have problems obtaining enough substitute fuels.

States expected to be able to obtain replacement fuels in sufficient quantities to keep their shortages below 1 per cent are New York, New Jersey, Nevada and Iowa.

Berrien Springs Hires Property Appraisal Trio

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien Springs village council last night voted to retain the services of three village real estate agents to appraise the old county court house office building and the old junior high school.

The council would like the two buildings appraised so it could purchase them through a $272,000 federal Housing and Urban Development department grant.

The money for purchase of the courthouse office building, part of the courthouse square, was included in the original application to HUD. Money to purchase the old junior high school building will be diverted from a well project, originally in the HUD application, if the diversion is approved by HUD. Informal approval of the diversion has been made by HUD, according to Les Cripps, consultant to the village for administration of the HUD grant.

The council would like to use the money to purchase the old junior high school so it can be torn down to make room for the proposed courthouse square development.

In a related matter, a group calling itself the "Minutemen" prior to the beginning of the official village meeting, said it was in the process of forming a non-profit corporation to purchase the old junior high school if other means cannot be worked out. The group would then resell the building to the village council so it can be torn down.

Bids on the old junior high school are expected to be opened at the next meeting of the Berrien Springs school board.

In other areas, the council took under advisement a request from Errol Ratcliffe, Berrien Springs, to insure he will be able to hook up to village water and sewer lines. Ratcliffe plans to build 40 luxury dwellings along Kephart lane in the form of 10 four-unit buildings. He said he needs assurance from the village before Orinoko township will make final approval on his application.

The development is to be called "The Birches." Rent would be $250 a month and up.

Kalamazoo Suspect Asks For Hearing

PAW PAW — A Kalamazoo man, Leroy Simsick, 46, demanded preliminary examination on two counts of publishing no account checks when arraigned Monday in Van Buren Seventh district court.

Simsick is alleged to have written no account checks for $20 Sept. 12 and $10 Sept. 13 in Paw Paw, according to Paw Paw police.

In other cases, Torrence Speer, 27, Hartford, was bound over to Van Buren circuit court on a charge of embezzlement in connection with the theft of an undetermined amount of money from Speer's former employer, Thomas Forstlund, owner of Foster's grocery, Keeler.

John W. Underwood, 36, Paw Paw, was sentenced by Judge William C. Buhl to serve 15 days in jail, pay fine and costs of $100 and placed on from one to two year's probation on a reduced charge of failing to present a firearm for inspection.

Underwood had originally been charged with assault with a deadly weapon, a .32-caliber pistol, Oct. 5. That charge stemmed from a complaint by Underwood's estranged wife, Corya, that a man had fired two shots into her car following an argument over a bicycle.

'Home' For Paw Paw Elks

PAW PAW — The Elks lodge here will hold its Tuesday night bingo games, and its lodge meetings, the second and fourth Wednesday nights of each month, at the Knights of Columbus hall east of Paw Paw, a member of the Elks lodge has announced. The Elks were forced to look for another meeting place after their rented hall was destroyed by fire last week.

Floridian Pleads Innocent In Van Buren Court

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau
PAW PAW — Levi Jerome Hunter, 23, Lake Wales, Fla., pleaded innocent to charges of kidnapping and assault with intent to rape when arraigned Monday in Van Buren circuit court.

State police at Paw Paw said the charges grew out of an Oct. 12 complaint by a 14-year-old girl and 17-year-old boy that a man offered them a ride home from a party in Bangor and then drove them to an orchard near Bloomingdale. The man allegedly tried to rape the girl before the two were able to escape on foot, troopers said.

In other cases, Gerald W. Yates, 22, South Haven, and Dewel W. Haninitt, 28, Rome, Ga., pleaded innocent to charges of breaking and entering Melody Lanes, South Haven, on Oct. 3.

Anthony V. Davis, 20, 34th avenue, Covert, and Anthony S. Edwards, 19, 24th avenue, South Haven, both pleaded innocent to charges of larceny from an auto in connection with the Oct. 5 theft of a tape player from a car in South Haven.

William M. Decker, 50, 38 Apache court, South Haven, pleaded innocent to a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, Sept. 16 in South Haven.

John E. Jacob, 18, 42 River street, Breedsville, pleaded innocent to a charge of auto theft stemming from the larceny of a car belonging to Daniel Phillips Oct. 8 in South Haven.

James D. Hill, 18, 114 Baker, Lawrence, pleaded innocent to a charge of feloniously assaulting Lawrence policeman Dale Gribler Oct. 10. Gribler charged that a man twice ran him his police cruiser with a car after he had tried to stop him for a traffic violation.

Seth Smith, Jr., 18, 45th street, Grand Junction, pleaded innocent to a charge of breaking and entering the Kool Korner restaurant, Bloomingdale, Oct. 14.

Michael Hefflin, 18, Decatur, was placed on two years probation and ordered to pay $200 by Judge David Anderson, Jr., as a result of his earlier guilty plea to a charge of larceny in a building. The charge stemmed from the robbery of $70 from a Hartford gas station in April.

Roy E. Boyd, 25, Paulding, Ohio, was sentenced to serve eight months in the county jail as a result of his earlier guilty plea to a charge of auto theft in Keeler on Aug. 14, 1972.

Donald W. Farley, 18, and Teddy S. Swanners, 17, both of route 2, Bangor, were placed on two year's probation and ordered to pay fine and costs of $200 each on charges of larceny of a motor vehicle. Both had pleaded guilty earlier to the charge, which stems from the theft of a motorcycle Aug. 14 in Hartford township.

Hartford Resident Is Accidentally Shot

A Hartford man was hospitalized Monday after he was accidentally shot while he and his brother were cleaning their rifles, Berrien sheriff's deputies said.

Listed in "fair" condition today at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, with a .22 caliber bullet wound in his arm was Owen Hoffman, 37, of 14 South Mary.

Henry Hoffman, 32, route 2, US-33 North, Hagar township, at whose home the incident occurred, said his rifle accidentally went off about 8:30 p.m. Deputies said no charges would be made.

Quarrel Ends In Shooting

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — A 34-year-old Chicago woman was hospitalized in fair condition Monday after her estranged husband tried to kill her before fatally wounding himself, police reported. Detective Sgt. Douglas Babcock of the Three Rivers police department said Johnnie Hall was shot once in the chest and once in the back of the head. The woman was taken to Borgess Hospital here for treatment. Babcock said the woman's husband, Ralph, 31, shot her Sunday after a quarrel at his Three Rivers home. The sergeant called the shootings an apparent attempted murder and suicide. Babcock said the Halls were separated.

Energy Crunch Coming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most states probably can ride out this winter's expected shortage of natural gas by using other fuels, but industries in at least eight states may have to shut down, the Federal Energy Administration says.

According to a survey released by the agency Monday, the expected shortages will be relatively small in terms of total requirements but will fall heaviest on industrial users, because many of them either are unable to obtain or use alternate fuels, or cannot afford them. Such shutdowns may severely affect local economies, the FEA said.

The eight states expected to be most affected and the expected shortage of natural gas, after allowance for possible replacement with other fuels, are:

North Carolina, 13.2 per cent; Delaware, 5.2 per cent; Maryland, 4.1 per cent; Ohio, 3.8 per cent; Kentucky, 3 per cent; Kansas, 1 to 2 per cent; Missouri, 1 to 2 per cent, and Pennsylvania, 1 to 2 per cent. In addition, the FEA said,

Arizona, Indiana, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia face unreplaceable shortages of less than 1 per cent, but may have problems obtaining enough substitute fuels.

States expected to be able to obtain replacement fuels in sufficient quantities to keep their shortages below 1 per cent are New York, New Jersey, Nevada and Iowa.

Berrien Springs Hires Property Appraisal Trio

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien Springs village council last night voted to retain the services of three village real estate agents to appraise the old county court house office building and the old junior high school.

The council would like the two buildings appraised so it could purchase them through a $272,000 federal Housing and Urban Development department grant.

The money for purchase of the courthouse office building, part of the courthouse square, was included in the original application to HUD. Money to purchase the old junior high school building will be diverted from a well project originally in the HUD application, if the diversion is approved by HUD. Informal approval of the diversion has been made by HUD, according to Les Cripps, consultant to the village for administration of the HUD grant.

The council would like to use the money to purchase the old junior high school so it can be torn down to make room for the proposed courthouse square development.

In a related matter, a group calling itself the "Minutemen" prior to the beginning of the official village meeting, said it was in the process of forming a non-profit corporation to purchase the old junior high school if other means cannot be worked out. The group would then resell the building to the village council so it can be torn down.

Bids on the old junior high school are expected to be opened at the next meeting of the Berrien Springs school board.

In other areas, the council took under advisement a request from Errol Ratcliffe, Berrien Springs, to insure he will be able to hook up to village water and sewer lines. Ratcliffe plans to build 40 luxury dwelling along Kephart lane in the form of 10 four-unit buildings. He said he needs assurance from the village before Oronoko township will make final approval on his application.

The development is to be called "The Birches." Rent would be $250 a month and up.

ALL ABOUT FOODS

"STORE DEFINITION"

Today, I'd like to talk to you about grocery stores, supermarkets, superettes, convenience stores, delicatessens, or whatever you care to call the place where you shop for food.

In our trade, a supermarket is defined as a complete departmentalized, full-line, self-servicing grocery store. Operating in a sales area of approximately 5,000 square feet. A superette operates in a sales area of less than 5,000 square feet.

A convenience store, mini market or even a bazaar food store may not sell as many diversified items and usually operates in an area of less than 2,500 square feet.

Chain stores, which we commonly refer to in our business, generally operate more than ten stores. Finally, an independent grocer is one which operates less than ten food stores.

Now, if I haven't lost you with all of these statistics, I will further explain that we are considered to be an independent grocer.

With that in mind, I would like to quote Webster's definition of an independent: "free from the influence or control of others... self-governing... self-determined... self-reliant... not connected with others... not depending on another for financial support and finally, one who is independent in thinking."

Does that sound like the Schneck's you know? Well, all but the part about not depending on others for financial support. As you well know, we have always depended on you for our total financial support. In fact, when you shop here, we try to make you the "Independent."

TOO LATE TO PREVENT DEFAULT? House Panel Pushes NYC Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to help New York City out of its financial crisis could reach the House floor early next week, but city officials say New York could default on millions of dollars of debt before then.

The House Banking Committee voted 23 to 16 on Monday to approve a proposal that would supply the financially ailing city with $7 billion in loan guarantees. Backers of the measure said it could be considered by the full House next week.

But figures from the city comptroller's office showed New York could default by next Monday.

On that day, the city must redeem $270.7 million in one-year notes, but the comptroller's office said cash flow indicates the treasury will be short $178 million.

Even if the House gives quick approval to a New York aid bill, it still would face a threatened veto from President Ford.

Two House Democrats and New York Gov. Hugh L. Carey suggested on Monday that Ford might not follow through on his threatened veto, but Ford gave no indication at his news conference Monday night that he had changed his position since he outlined his opposition to predefault aid last Wednesday.

House Banking Committee Chairman Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and a spokesman for

House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts said the aid measure might be considered by the House next week. Reuss predicted it would be approved by a narrow margin.

But Ford held to his position that the legislation was unnecessary.

"I believe New York City can avoid default," Ford said. "They can take stronger action than they have taken. The state of New York can take stronger action to be of assistance to the city of New York."

Ford also attempted to squelch the suggestion that differences over the handling of the New York City crisis led Vice President Nelson A.

Rockefeller to decide that he would not be available as Ford's running mate in the 1976 election.

"Our difference over the handling of New York City were minimal," Ford said. "The difference is his interpretation of what might be the money market reaction if we let New York City default. Certainly he did not take the action that he did because of that difference."

But in Congress and in New York, where Rockefeller was governor for four terms, there were conflicting reports.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a close political ally of Rockefeller, said the vice president "just couldn't take" Ford's increasing identification with the Republican party's right wing and his refusal to support a program of federal aid for New York before the city defaults.

A source in close touch with the Rockefeller family, who insisted on anonymity, said, "Nelson felt that all the things he helped to build (in New York) would be in jeopardy because of Ford's policy toward New York. You can see the monumental impact of New York City's crisis... when it impelled Nelson to give up something he really wanted."

House Appropriations Committee Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said, "With both the state of affairs of New York City and New York State, the President would be in a very awkward position with Rockefeller on the ticket."

Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, a candidate for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, said Ford's position on the New York crisis "has further isolated the vice president. His own advice that federal assistance be directed to the city has been curiously ignored, his open call for accommodation with the city and the state brushed aside. He is the forgotten man at the White House."

Buchanan Township Looks For Ambulance Service

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan township board has scheduled a meeting for tonight to delve into a possible way to provide ambulance service in the township.

Announcement of the meeting was made last night during the board's regular meeting. According to the board, it was to meet with Ray Cowan, head of the Gallen Ambulance service, to see about the Gallen service covering the township.

The board has been seeking a new way to provide the service in the wake of an announcement by the Gold Crown Ambulance service, Niles, that it would discontinue emergency service in the township and elsewhere on Nov. 17.

Supervisor Ivan Price said a committee named to look into the problem of having an ambulance service for the township, has been unable to come up with any solutions.

The Gallen service serves a portion of Buchanan township, which is located in the Gallen school district.

In other areas, the township board authorized payment of $3,878 to the county road commission for work completed this summer on Reed, Broesus and East River roads. The board had already paid $15,000 for the work.

The board also approved hiring Marlon Rumbaugh of Buchanan, to remove snow this winter at the township fire station and hall.

St. Louis Sheriff Sticks By His Guns

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Police have been thwarted in their attempts to evict the St. Louis County Sheriff, two of his deputies and two convicted thieves from a luxury hotel, officials said.

Sheriff Raymond Percich, who apparently was attempting to dramatize the shortage of cell space at the city's jail and workhouse, checked the prisoners, Jerry Stuckey and Danny Hampton, into the Chase-Park Plaza hotel Monday after they were refused entry into the workhouse because of overcrowding.

The shortage of space in the city's facilities has recently forced Percich to house city prisoners in jails all over Missouri.

The shortage was made even more critical when a federal judge earlier this year limited the city jail population to 228 prisoners because of crowded conditions.

The hotel, apparently misunderstanding, called police and reported that two men in shackles had been taken to a room.

Police went to the room with guns drawn Monday night and ordered those inside to come out with their hands up.

Percich, whose deputies also had their guns drawn inside the room, told the officers to leave and that they were interfering with the sheriff's business.

The police withdrew, officials said, and conferred with hotel management, telling the hotel operators that there was nothing illegal in holding the prisoners there and that a court order was needed to evict them. The hotel said such an order was being sought.

Meanwhile, the sheriff said, the city will have to pay the $50 bill for lodging the prisoners and the deputies in the hotel, plus a bill of $32 dollars for lobster dinners for six.

Percich said he would also charge the city $2 for the tip he gave the bellboy who delivered the dinners.

If you ignore it, maybe it'll go away...

...and other famous cancer legends.

In an all-out effort to avoid the truth, people have created some pretty imaginative phrases.

Like the ever-popular "What I don't know can't hurt me." And "Never sick a day in my life." You hear that a lot. Especially from people who are finally forced to see their doctors. When it's often too late.

Logic doesn't work. Facts don't seem to sink in. We have no recourse but to fight fire with fire with some more meaningful phrases.

Like "I in 3 is being saved now, I in 2 could be saved if people went for checkups regularly."

And "more than 200,000 were saved last year. Regular checkups can help save thousands more."

What are you waiting for? Don't you want to enjoy the peace of mind that comes from knowing you're doing the best thing for your health?

If it's a slogan you want, we can give them to you. We'll do anything to try to make cancer a legend in its own time. But we need your help.

Help yourself with a checkup! It's what you don't know that can hurt you!

Bangladesh Crisis Continues Today

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The political crisis in Bangladesh apparently continued today for the second day with most communication channels still cut and army officers reported seeking a bigger role in the government.

Diplomatic sources said that according to reports from Dacca President Khondakar Mush-taque Ahmad was still the chief of state, but there was a possibility his powers would be eclipsed by the army, leaving him only a figurehead.

If you die, it pays off your mortgage.
If you're disabled, it pays your mortgage installments.
If you live, it pays you.

The House Keeper.

The house keeper insures that your wife and family will keep your home should you die prematurely. They keep the house. Aid Association for Lutherans pays off the mortgage.

It insures that you can continue to meet the house payments should you become disabled and can't work. AAL provides money for the house payments. In most cases, AAL can continue making the premium payments. That keeps the plan in effect.

And the house keeper even pays if you live. While it's protecting your home, it's also building cash value that is yours to do with as you please.

Give us a call, and we'll show you just how different the house keeper is from any other mortgage insurance plan. No home should be without one.

Two New Lottery Games Planned

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Banking on the success of the instant lottery game, the state is planning to introduce two similar contests by next spring.

Spokesmen say the lottery bureau has sold more than 30 million of $1 instant tickets since the game opened four weeks ago. The new games would be similar to the current one, in which the dollar prize in three of six hidden boxes must match for the buyer to become a winner.

One new game may be introduced in January, and the other in April, said Dave Hanson, a lottery spokesman. Scientific Games Development Corp. of Atlanta, which says it has thousands of variations of the instant game, would design the new contests.

Hanson said the prizes in the new games would probably be the same as in the current game, ranging from $2 to $10,000. He said 37 people have so far won the $10,000 prize. Another 50 will attend a special millionaire drawing later where the lowest prize will be $10,000.

Officials say the instant tickets represent the most successful U.S. lottery ever in terms of tickets sold.

TOO LATE TO PREVENT DEFAULT?

House Panel Pushes NYC Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to help New York City out of its financial crisis could reach the House floor early next week, but city officials say New York could default on millions of dollars of debt before then.

The House Banking Committee voted 23 to 16 on Monday to approve a proposal that would supply the financially ailing city with $7 billion in loan guarantees. Backers of the measure said it could be considered by the full House next week.

But figures from the city comptroller's office showed New York could default by next Monday.

On that day, the city must redeem $270.7 million in one-year notes, but the comptroller's office said cash flow indicates the treasury will be short $178 million.

Even if the House gives quick approval to a New York aid bill, it still would face a threatened veto from President Ford.

Two House Democrats and New York Gov. Hugh L. Carey suggested on Monday that Ford might not follow through on his threatened veto, but Ford gave no indication at his news conference Monday night that he had changed his position since he outlined his opposition to predefault aid last Wednesday.

House Banking Committee Chairman Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and a spokesman for

House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts said the aid measure might be considered by the House next week. Reuss predicted it would be approved by a narrow margin.

But Ford held to his position that the legislation was unnecessary.

"I believe New York City can avoid default," Ford said. "They can take stronger action than they have taken. The state of New York can take stronger action to be of assistance to the city of New York."

Ford also attempted to squelch the suggestion that differences over the handling of the New York City crisis led Vice President Nelson A.

Rockett to decide that he would not be available as Ford's running mate in the 1976 election.

"Our difference over the handling of New York City were minimal," Ford said. "The difference is his interpretation of what might be the money market reaction if we let New York City default. Certainly he did not take the action that he did because of that difference."

But in Congress and in New York, where Rockefeller was governor for four terms, there were conflicting reports.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a close political ally of Rockefeller, said the vice president "just couldn't take" Ford's increasing identification with the Republican party's right wing and his refusal to support a program of federal aid for New York before the city defaults.

A source in close touch with the Rockefeller family, who insisted on anonymity, said, "Nelson felt that all the things he helped to build (in New York) would be in jeopardy because of Ford's policy toward New York. You can see the monumental impact of New York City's crisis... when it impelled Nelson to give up something he really wanted."

House Appropriations Committee Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said, "With both the state of affairs of New York City and New York State, the President would be in a very awkward position with Rockefeller on the ticket."

Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, a candidate for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, said Ford's position on the New York crisis "has further isolated the vice president. His own advice that federal assistance be directed to the city has been curiously ignored, his open call for accommodation with the city and the state brushed aside. He is the forgotten man at the White House."

Before Ford's news conference, Reuss and Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, said they saw a possibility that Ford would change his mind on vetoing aid legislation, although he has vowed not to sign any measure he considers to be a "federal bail-out" of New York.

Reuss said Ford might approve the bill if he "realizes he's gone much too far in his very divisive attack on New York City."

Ashley, chairman of the House economic stabilization subcommittee, which produced the bill, said that because the bill did not specify whether the assistance would be available before or after default, and did not mandate specific aid, it might win Ford's approval.

Carey said the bill before Congress was not "a bail-out and that is what the President said he would veto: bail-out legislation."

Carey announced that he was calling the New York State legislature back into session Nov. 11 "to show President Ford's administration and the U.S. Congress that we in New York will work every way to solve our problems."

Carey said he would not rule out asking for new taxes at the session, but he stressed this depended on "how much and on whom they are imposed."

THREE OAKS TOWNSHIP

Officials Seek Junk Dumpers

THREE OAKS — Three Oaks township officials last night promised an intensified effort to curb the dumping of junk along Flynn and Schwark roads.

Responding to complaints about roadside debris, board members said they would welcome information about those who dump junk on the roadides and pledged full prosecution where possible.

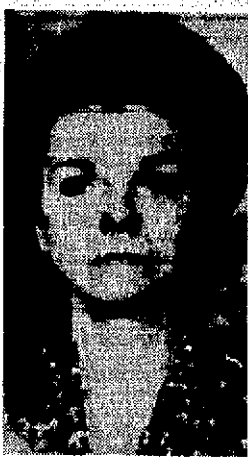

In other areas, Supervisor Joseph Hella read a letter from the Berrien county road commission stating the commission will try and restore the broken culvert on Basswood road, northwest of Three Oaks. Hella also announced that the Michigan Townships' association is seeking historical pictures and information on the township's 108-year-old hall for use in an upcoming issue of the association's magazine.

The hall will also be among old township halls featured during the January convention of the MTA in Grand Rapids, Hella said.

BAINBRIDGE TOWNSHIP
Supervisor Hits Fire Run Costs

Proposed boosts in the costs for fire runs made by the Sister Lakes fire department in Bainbridge township were termed excessive by Township Supervisor Leonard Smith Jr. last night.

According to Smith, the fire board overseeing the Sister Lakes department is seeking a $3,500 annual guarantee instead of $1,500. The $1,500 figure has been in effect since 1971 under an agreement for service, he said.

The annual rate guarantee is to cover up to three runs during a year.

Smith said that at a meeting with the fire board in October, the fire board said cost of three runs under the existing pact had been pegged at $1,182 each.

Smith said, "I'm not convinced that the department expenses are nearly $1,200 per run and I want some justification for the proposed fire run costs."

Smith said he questioned the addition of a new $28,000 fire truck into the operating expenses saying it appeared the department wanted to pay for the truck in two years, rather than depreciate it in 10 to 15 years.

"I don't expect any fire department to operate in the township as a loss," said Smith, "but $1,200 is not justifiable."

Smith requested a full financial report from the department, but last night was told by an unidentified Sister Lakes fireman that the fire board felt it was not its responsibility to show Bainbridge township the actual department financial records. The operating budget had been pegged previously at $38,000, including the new truck.

Smith said other departments like Coloma and Watervliet charge between $500 to $600 per fire run, and found it hard to believe that township residents served by the Sister Lakes fire department would have to pay over twice as much for a fire run.

The current contract with the Sister Lakes department expires in March, 1976, according to Smith, who requested the fire department members return at the next meeting with more information on the proposed fire run costs.

In other areas, the board voted to waive the one per cent collection fee for 1975 taxes and set the final day for paying taxes as Feb. 15, without penalty.

Smith reported that the township is considering the possibility of joining the Twin Cities Ambulance authority to provide township residents am-balance service.

Mrs. Beverly Koroch, township clerk, reported engraving tools to mark valuables at home to prevent thefts were now available from the homes of Smith, Treasurer James Lull and her residence.

LONDON (AP) — The London Daily Telegraph said today that the firing of Defense Secretary James Schlesinger "could be bad news for the NATO alliance and its position vis-a-vis Russia and the Warsaw Pact countries."

Volunteer Ambulance Help
Hard To Keep In Fennville

FENNVILLE — The Fennville city commission learned last night that the two-year-old volunteer ambulance service serving the city and three neighboring townships is having trouble keeping volunteers on the job.

The director of the ambulance service, Police Chief Robert Pratt, told the commission that only four of the original 12 volunteers were still working, and he said another 24 or 25 people had worked as a volunteer for a short time and then quit.

Pratt and a member of the volunteers, John Kelly, both told the commission they were having difficulty scheduling two attendants and a person to answer the telephone for every shift because of a lack of willing volunteers.

Pratt and Kelly recommended that as an incentive to keep volunteers working, they should be paid $5 for every shift they work.

At present, said Pratt, an attendant receives $7 if he is called out on an ambulance run, and the people manning the telephones are not paid at all. The attendant also earns $2 per hour for every additional hour he works after the first two.

Pratt said the two attendants and telephone operator on each shift should each be paid $5. If the attendants are called out for an ambulance run, they should receive an additional $5 each, he said.

He estimated the proposal would cost $8,745 a year more than at present based on an annual average of 155 calls for an ambulance.

"That way, the individuals don't sit at home for nothing. I don't know of anything else to do. We've tried everything else," said Pratt.

Kelly said that because of the shortage of volunteers, some attendants were being called away from their jobs almost every day, and he said some attendants, now have to pull a shift every third day.

"We've tapped just about everyone available. There's no one left," Kelly said.

Mayor Robert McCracken instructed the commission's three-member police and ambulance committee to further meet with Pratt and Kelly, but he also indicated he was skeptical of the proposal.

"My personal opinion is that the $5 is going to run the budget way up and it still isn't going to keep you in people," McCracken said.

He said the police and ambulance committee should further study the proposal and prepare a recommendation for the commission.

Kelly also told the commission that the ambulance is in need of repair and he recommended that the commission consider purchasing a replacement for it.

The ambulance serves the city, the townships of Clyde and Lee and the southern half of Manlius township.

All four governmental units share in the funding of the service.

In other action, a request was approved from Fennville schools Supt. James Tackmann, who asked that the street running in front of the high school be changed to a one-way direction.

The commission voted to make North Memorial drive a one-way street going west and that it should continue in a one-way direction from the point where it changes into Elizabeth street all the way to the North street intersection.

In addition, no parking signs will be posted on the east side of Elizabeth street in front of the school. The actions were taken to eliminate traffic jams caused by school buses loading and unloading on Elizabeth street.

The commission also agreed to have the maintenance department flush all city water mains in an effort to dislodge rust deposits which commissioners said are discoloring city water.

The commission approved a request from the high school art department asking that students be allowed to paint city fire hydrants in bi-centennial colors.

The commission agreed to allow the Fennville Lions club to sell light bulbs downtown on Nov. 7 and 8 from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. to raise money for sight projects.

The Chamber of Commerce received commission approval for a Christmas parade downtown on Dec. 8.

Lee Township Adopts New Building Permit Fee Plan

PULLMAN — Lee township board last night approved a new building permit fee schedule, according to Melvin Riston, township clerk.

Under the new schedule a basic building permit fee, plus a charge based on square footage, will be levied, Riston said. In the past fees were based on square footage alone and were governed under the zoning code, Riston said.

The new schedule calls for a fee of $10 for residential (mobile and modular homes and standard home construction), plus $3 per hundred square feet or portion of it. Fees for additions to residential property will be $10, plus $3 per 1,000 square feet or portion of it.

Outbuilding fees will be $5 plus $1 for anything over 80 square feet.

The fee for commercial buildings will be $10, plus $1 per 1,000 square feet or part of it. Commercial building additions will be charged a $10 fee, plus $2 per 1,000 square feet. A $15 fee will be levied for swimming pools.

Also under the new fee schedule, churches and public buildings will be assessed $20 for building inspection and the building fee. Riston said no fee will be levied for the demolition of buildings, but a permit will be required. He said the new schedule will not cover the costs of plumbing or electrical inspection.

In a related matter, the board approved a $80 per month salary and mileage of 12 cents per mile for both zoning commissioner Edward Yetzke and building inspector Alex Schwartz, Riston said.

Yetzke reported that building permits for two mobile homes, five home additions and four utility buildings, totaling $20,000 in value, were issued in October.

Seven Hagar township residents asked the township board last night to repair the Hyde bridge carrying Bundy road over the Paw Paw river.

The bridge, constructed in the late 1880's, is a single lane bridge, according to Supervisor Edward Broderick. He told residents the matter would be referred to the county road commission.

Swainson Will Not Quit 'Immediately'

County Probate Judge Frank Syzmanski, who was involved last year in a case involving alleged undue influence in handing out liquor licenses to a food chain.

Judge Syzmanski took himself off the bench at that time and put his salary in escrow until the State Court of Appeals recently reversed his lower court conviction, opening the way for him to return to the court.

Kohl was critical of the grand jury questioning of Swainson that led to his indictment. He said that when Swainson walked into the grand jury room May 17, he did not know that the FBI had been watching him and that his telephone records had been subpoenaed.

"When John Swainson went before the grand jury," Kohl said, "he had to telephone logs, nothing to refer to, if he could have seen the phone logs, he might have remembered that one phone call to fellow defendant Harvey Wish, which was a focal point of the government's case.

Kohl agreed on one point stated earlier by Special U.S. Atty. Robert Ozer, head of the federal Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit.

That was Ozer's comment Sunday night after the jury came in, "if the jurors really thought Swainson was really innocent of conspiracy, they would have acquitted him on all counts."

Kohl called it "ironic and a tragedy" that Swainson won acquittal on the major charge against him — bribe conspiracy — only to be convicted on three counts of perjury involving receipt of a portable television set as a gift and two telephone calls.

Asked at the news conference if he thought Ozer was trying to make a name for himself as a prosecutor, Kohl declined comment.

The application will be sent to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The money will be used for washroom facilities ($32,000 cost) and shelter and playground facilities ($25,000).

The city will either have to pay $28,500 or make up part or all of it in services or labor.

In other items that came up last night:

—The commission voiced concern at cutbacks in state revenue sharing, but it was not immediately known how much the city will be affected.

—Commissioner Warren Gast asked that police look into noise pollution offenders as a result of recent EPA regulations that went into effect last month concerning trucks and buses (10,000 pounds or over) involved in interstate traffic.

about a campaign post.

—Kissinger gives up his second role as director of the National Security Council. But Ford says he still "will have the dominant role in the formulation of policy and carrying out of foreign policy."

—Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, long-time Kissinger protégé, succeeds his boss as chief of the NSC and as presidential adviser on national security. Some saw this as an effort to mute criticism that Kissinger wields too much power, but some of those Democratic critics maintained that Scowcroft's closeness to Kissinger meant the secretary would still maintain effective control over the NSC.

—Richard Cheney, currently Rumsfeld's top deputy, will take over as chief of the White House staff.

Little opposition was expected when the Senate takes up confirmation of Rumsfeld, Bush and Richardson. The jobs for Scowcroft and Cheney do not require confirmation.

While Ford was preparing these announcements, Rockefeller was popping one of his own Monday — he does not wish to stay around next year as Ford's running mate.

His withdrawal followed months of pressure from GOP conservatives and some Ford supporters to drop Rockefeller because they claimed he was a political liability with an image too liberal for victory in 1976.

However, both Ford and Rockefeller said it was the vice president's own decision, and Ford denied that he had put any pressure on Rockefeller to step aside.

When Ford was asked at the news conference if he had tried to talk Rockefeller into staying, Ford indicated he had not.

Rockefeller's letter lacked any explanation for his decision or any indication of his future plans, including whether he would support Ford or maybe try for a fourth time for the presidency for himself.

Ford said in the news conference that "Vice President Rockefeller has assured me categorically that he will support me in 1976." But the same question put repeatedly to Rockefeller aides during the day drew no response.

Shooting Suspect Demands Hearing

SOUTH HAVEN — Harbert Wilkes, 31, St. Louis, Mo., demanded a preliminary examination when arraigned yesterday in Seventh District court here on a charge of felonious assault in connection with the shooting of a Bangor woman Saturday night.

Wilkes is accused of the shotgun shooting of Mary Comer, 18, 304 Charles street, Bangor, at her home. Mrs. Comer was wounded in the left arm, police said.

Police said approximately 22 persons were apparently at tending a party at the Comer home when the shooting occurred.

Wilkes was ordered held in lieu of $10,000 bond. He was remanded to the Van Buren county jail pending a Nov. 12 preliminary examination after not posting the bond.

Police said Mrs. Comer was shot after she apparently came to the porch when a man demanded that another person in the house come outside. She was taken to South Haven community hospital before police arrived.

According to police, she went to the store on Buchanan's main street about 5:30 p.m. to pick up her husband from work. She said she noticed two men in the store, could see no store employees and drove to the city police station two blocks away.

In addition to Rees, 34, and Becker, 68, in the store at the time of the holdup were clerks Dorothy Goods, 47, 707 Polis street, and Lorraine Schrenshier, 62, 422 Moccasin street, and Baker.

Yeakley said the five told officers both men were armed with short-barrel handguns, either .32 or .38 caliber.

Rees told police that a diamond ring valued at $2,000 was taken from him, and a wedding and engagement ring set valued at $850 was taken from Mrs. Schrenshier. Yeakley said a small amount of cash was also taken from the five people in the store.

Yeakley said it is believed one of the men crossed Front street and walked to the city's north parking lot behind Front street, while the second apparently walked a block west on Front street and then south on Days avenue.

Acapulco 'Dream' Becomes Nightmare

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP). — Peasant squatters are living in squalid, palm-thatched huts off the beach of what was supposed to be the world's most exclusive beach club.

Cows graze on the weeds that have grown over the two golf courses of Tres Vidas on la Playa, a dream playground 20 miles south of Acapulco in which Texas multimillionaire Troy V. Post says he has invested $35 million.

A bank has foreclosed on $8 million in mortgages on the property. A federal court has placed the club's holding company in receivership.

A red and black strike banner hangs over a picket line at the main driveway. The club's 460 employees take turns manning a barrier of furniture taken from the luxurious, empty clubhouse.

The club's Spanish name means "Three Lives on the Beach," taken from a local proverb that only three things are worth enjoying in life — the sea, the sun and the breeze. Post, now 72, first got the idea for an exclusive club for the rich when he honeymooned in Acapulco in the early 1940s. He began building it two decades later after he sold most of his holdings in Ling-Temco-Vought.

Post's idea was to collect 600 of the world's most affluent people who would pay an entrance fee of $5,000 the first year, $8,000 the second year and $7,000 the third year, plus annual dues thereafter. In return they could buy lots along the beach and use the two 18-hole golf courses, tennis courts, facilities for duck hunting, riding, skit and clay-pigeon shooting plus yachting and deep-sea fishing.

Post's office in Houston would not say how many shares were sold. But with the project half completed and land prices soaring last year, a group of peasants who had sold 125 acres for the development revived an obscure claim in agrarian reform court and invaded one of the golf courses.

"We tried doing everything possible, but the dispute continued. That is when we decided to close down," said one of Post's aides.

One prominent Mexican banker said the whole idea was unrealistic, that "this sort of exclusive rich man's club is not viable."

A union leader said mismanagement was a big factor, that the club had six managers in the six years it was operating.

Post flew to Mexico City last week and conferred with lawyers, creditors and government officials, reportedly offering to put the project on a commercial basis if the Mexican government would become a partner in it.

"It would indeed be a tragedy if Tres Vidas was confiscated by the agrarian people. I am sure that their claims are well intentioned, but I am confident that since I invested my money and reputation in good faith, that a just and equitable solution will be worked out in association with the Mexican government," Post said.

Shots Mar Beirut's Cease-Fire

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Scattered sniper fire marred the second day of the 12th cease-fire in Beirut's Muslim-Christian street war today, but no serious clashes were reported.

Security forces counted less than 10 killed or wounded in the past 24 hours.

But the political, economic and religious causes of Lebanon's seven-month-old civil war remain unresolved.

OBITUARIES

Allen N. Mock

Allen N. Mock, 53, route 1, box 193, US-33, Royalton township, died early today from what Berrien sheriff's deputies said was apparently a self-inflicted shotgun wound of the chest.

Mock was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph at 1:32 a.m. Deputies said the death remains under investigation.

Deputies reported the shooting took place at the Mock home about 12:30 a.m. A 12-gauge shotgun was found near the body, deputies indicated. Mock's wife, Eloise, and son, Robert, were at the home when the shooting occurred, deputies said.

Johnny Cates

Johnny Cates, 59, 863 Payne street, Benton Harbor, died this morning in Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo, where he had been a patient since August 13.

Mr. Cates was born May 8, 1916, in Tupelo, Miss. He was a maintenance man at J.C. Penney Company, Benton Harbor.

reduction of property taxes on their new additions over the next 12 years.

The only complaint at the public hearing on the request for the tax exemptions was made by Rev. Elder Bethea who questioned the commission's action of "denying a citizen the right to redeem his property when it's going to the state tax sale while at the same time exempting industry from paying taxes."

City Manager Charles Morrison responded that the act was designed to provide incentives for industry to build and provide more jobs for residents and would also guarantee new property tax revenue after the 12-year exemption was over.

The commission approved a franchise for Earl Drake, of Cable Television, Inc., of Kalamazoo, to operate cable television in the city. Drake has said he will submit the franchise issue to city voters before installing the cable operation.

The commission approved salaries for poll workers in today's election at $27.50 per day for ten chairmen and $25 per day for 24 election workers.

Eaman Makes Reply To Campaign Charge

Benton Harbor City Commissioner Edmund Eaman Monday night replied to charges leveled at him by Helen Ford, his opponent for the First Ward seat in today's city election.

Mrs. Ford, a member of the Clean State group of candidates, announced Oct. 23 that she was withdrawing from the commission race in the wake of an opinion issued by the county prosecutor's office that she was in violation of a state statute by running for a city commission seat while serving on the county social services board.

But in a letter to First Ward voters dated Oct. 30, Mrs. Ford charged that Eaman, as chairman of the city cemetery board, was responsible for the high costs of burial at Crystal Springs cemetery and was not being sensitive to the needs of senior citizens. The letter carries Mrs. Ford's home address and states that "a vote for Helen Ford is a vote in the right direction."

Berrien County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke has said that Mrs. Ford cannot officially withdraw from the commission race. "She can win the election and refuse to take the oath of office, which creates a vacancy, but there's no way she can withdraw," he said.

Referring to Mrs. Ford's pamphlet, Eaman said he was only one of five members of the cemetery board who were appointed by the mayor and commission and who made decisions on costs for the cemetery. He said the cemetery board was continuing efforts to keep the cemetery self-supportive rather than use city taxes.

Coloma Township Board Appoints New Officers

Board Appoints New Officers

COLOMA — A new Coloma township supervisor, clerk and trustee were appointed by the Coloma township board last night.

Appointed as supervisor, to serve until the November, 1976 election, was Ewald (Bill) Eckblom, 64, the former township clerk.

The board appointed Trustee John Ferris, 66, as the new township clerk to fill the vacancy created with Eckblom's acceptance of the supervisor post.

The third appointment was that of William Kennedy, 40, of 5624 Spring Hill road, to fill Ferris' vacated office. Kennedy is a drafting supervisor for the St. Joseph division of Whirlpool corporation.

Kennedy has been active on the township's planning commission and chairman of the township's parks and recreation committee.

Appointments of Ferris and Kennedy will be until the township's November election.

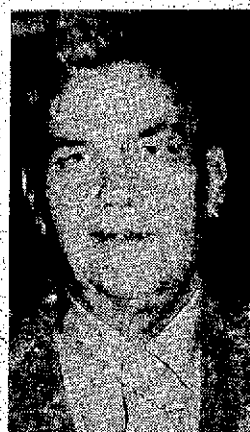

The appointment of Eckblom to the supervisor post filled the vacancy created in September with the resignation of A. G. Blevins after he was unable to find local work in his trade as an electrician.

Eckblom was appointed township clerk in January, 1974, and won election to his first two-year term as clerk in November, 1974.

Ferris, a member of the township board since 1958, declined consideration for the supervisor post as recommended by Blevins in his resignation.

The supervisor position pays a yearly salary of $7,500 while the post of clerk pays $3,000. Trustees are paid $900 annually.

In other areas, the township board tabled action on establishing a fee for Coloma Township Plumbing Inspector Mark Kellogg until next week.

Kidnapers Continue To Hold Out

MONTASTEREVIN, Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army kidnapers of a Dutch industrialist began their third week in a besieged row house today after getting a stock of headache pills from police and army troops surrounding them.

Kidnapers Eddie Gallagher, 38, and Marian Coyle, 19, are on the second floor of the house with their prisoner, 53-year-old Tiede Herrema, while police and the army hold the first floor and surrounding area.

The Irish government continued to refuse the kidnapers' demand to release three imprisoned IRA guerrillas in exchange for Herrema's freedom.

Swainson Will Not Quit 'Immediately'

County Probate Judge Frank Szymanski, who was involved last year in a case involving alleged undue influence in handing out liquor licenses to a food chain.

Judge Szymanski took himself off the bench at that time and put his salary in escrow until the State Court of Appeals recently reversed his lower court conviction, opening the way for him to return to the court.

Kohl was critical of the grand jury questioning of Swainson that led to his indictment. He said that when Swainson walked into the grand jury room May 17, he did not know that the FBI had been watching him and that his telephone records had been subpoenaed.

"When John Swainson went before the grand jury," Kohl said, "he had no telephone logs, nothing to refer to...if he could have seen the phone logs, he might have remembered that one phone call to fellow defendant Harvey Wish" which was a focal point of the government's case.

Kohl agreed on one point stated earlier by Special U.S. Atty. Robert Ozer, head of the federal Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit.

That was Ozer's comment Sunday night after the jury came in, "if the jurors really thought Swainson was really innocent of conspiracy, they would have acquitted him on all counts."

Kohl called it "ironic and a tragedy" that Swainson was acquitted on the major charge against him — bribe conspiracy — only to be convicted on three counts of perjury involving receipt of a portable telephone set as a gift and two telephone calls.

Asked at the news conference if he thought Ozer was trying to make a name for himself as a prosecutor, Kohl declined comment.

about a campaign post. —Kissinger gives up his second role as director of the National Security Council. But Ford says he still "will have the dominant role in the formulation of and carrying out of foreign policy."

Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, long-time Kissinger protégé, succeeds his boss as chief of the NSC and as presidential adviser on national security. Some saw this as an effort to mute criticism that Kissinger wields too much power, but some of those Democratic critics maintained that Scowcroft's closeness to Kissinger meant the secretary would still maintain effective control over the NSC.

—Richard Cheney, currently Rumsfeld's top deputy, will take over as chief of the White House staff.

Little opposition was expected when the Senate takes up confirmation of Rumsfeld, Bush and Richardson. The jobs for Scowcroft and Cheney do not require confirmation.

While Ford was preparing these announcements, Rockefeller was popping one of his own Monday — he does not wish to stay around next year as Ford's running mate.

His withdrawal followed months of pressure from GOP conservatives and some Ford supporters to drop Rockefeller because they claimed he was a political liability with an image too liberal for victory in 1976.

However, both Ford and Rockefeller said it was the vice president's own decision, and Ford denied that he had put any pressure on Rockefeller to step aside.

When Ford was asked at the news conference if he had tried to talk Rockefeller into staying, Ford indicated he had not.

Rockefeller's letter lacked any explanation for his decision or any indication of his future plans, including whether he would support Ford or maybe try for a fourth time for the presidency for himself.

Ford said in the news conference that "Vice President Rockefeller has assured me categorically that he will support me in 1976." But the same question put repeatedly to Rockefeller aides during the day drew no response.

Shooting Suspect Demands Hearing

SOUTH HAVEN — Harbert Wilkes, 31, St. Louis, Mo., demanded a preliminary examination when arraigned yesterday in Seventh District court here on a charge of felonious assault in connection with the shooting of a Bangor woman Saturday night.

Wilkes is accused of the shotgun shooting of Mary Comer, 18, 304 Charles street, Bangor, at her home. Mrs. Comer was wounded in the left arm, police said.

Police said approximately 25 persons were apparently attending a party at the Comer home when the shooting occurred.

Wilkes was ordered held in lieu of $15,000 bond. He was remanded to the Van Buren county jail pending a Nov. 12 preliminary examination after not posting the bond.

Police said Mrs. Comer was shot after she apparently came to the porch when a man demanded that another person in the house come outside. She was taken to South Haven community hospital before police arrived.

The city will either have to pay $28,500 or make up part or all of it in services or labor.

In other items that came up last night:

—The commission voiced concern at cutbacks in state revenue sharing, but it was not immediately known how much the city will be affected.

—Commissioner Warren Gast asked that police look into noise pollution offenders as a result of recent EPA regulations that went into effect last month concerning trucks and buses (10,000 pounds or over) involved in interstate traffic.

came to the store first about 4 p.m.

Mrs. Walt (Helen) Becker, 423 Chicago street, wife of one of the store's employees alerted officers to the holdup.

According to police, she went to the store on Buchanan's main street about 5:30 p.m. to pick up her husband from work. She said she noticed two men in the store, could see no store employees and drove to the city police station two blocks away.

In addition to Rees, 54, and Becker, 68, in the store at the time of the holdup were clerks Dorothy Goods, 47, 707 Polis street, and Lorraine Schrenshier, 62, 422 Moccasin street, and Baker.

Yeakley said the five told officers both men were armed with short-barrel handguns, either .32 or .38 caliber.

Rees told police that a diamond ring valued at $2,000 was taken from him, and a wedding and engagement ring set valued at $650 was taken from Mrs. Schrenshier. Yeakley said a small amount of cash was also taken from the five people in the store.

Yeakley said it is believed one of the men crossed Front street and walked to the city's north parking lot behind Front street, while the second apparently walked a block west on Front street and then south on Days avenue.

Acapulco 'Dream' Becomes Nightmare

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Peasant squatters are living in squalid, palm-thatched huts off the beach of what was supposed to be the world's most exclusive beach club.

Cows graze on the weeds that have grown over the two golf courses of Tres Vidas en la Playa, a dream playground 20 miles south of Acapulco in which Texas multimillionaire Troy V. Post says he has invested $35 million.

A bank has foreclosed on $8 million in mortgages on the property. A federal court has placed the club's holding company in receivership.

A red and black strike banner hangs over a picket line at the main driveway. The club's 465 employees take turns manning a barrier of furniture taken from the luxurious, empty clubhouse.

The club's Spanish name means Three Lives on the Beach, taken from a local proverb that only three things are worth enjoying in life — the sea, the sun and the breeze. Post, now 72, first got the idea for an exclusive club for the rich when he honeymooned in Acapulco in the early 1940s. He began building it two decades later after he sold most of his holdings to Ling-Temco-Vought.

Post's idea was to collect 600 of the world's most affluent people who would pay an entrance fee of $5,000 the first year, $6,000 the second year and $7,000 the third year, plus annual dues thereafter. He said the cemetery board was continuing efforts to keep the cemetery self-supportive rather than use city taxes.

Outlines program

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau
PAW PAW — An incentive program designed to find certain people who are not making required child support payments has been under way in Van Buren county since Aug. 1.

Stan Driscoll, county clerk of the court, said the program involves a "bounty" for an ex-mate providing authorities with the location of a delinquent payer and an incentive for the county to correct the situation.

The program applies only to cases where the ex-mate is receiving aid to dependent children (ADC) payments.

Driscoll said the ex-mate's "bounty" amounts to 40 per cent of the first $50 collected per month for up to 12 months. The incentive for the county involves 25 per cent of the amount collected after payment of the "bounty."

The balance goes to the state social services department which makes the ADC payments.

Child support payments in cases where ADC is involved normally are sent to the social services department for inclusion with the ADC payment.

To qualify for the "bounty," the ex-mate must have provided the location information in a case where the delinquent payee is taken into court and court action taken.

Driscoll said the program came through the federal department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) which funds ADC payments for the state.

Driscoll said no figures have been compiled yet on the program results in the county. The amount Van Buren eventually recovers, he said, will depend on the cooperation of the agencies who help locate the delinquent payees — the sheriff's department which makes the arrests and circuit court, where orders for support are finally issued.

According to Driscoll, the program has become particularly important in view of the recent announcement by Gov. William Milliken on state budget cutting. The cuts will result in a $10 to $15 per month decrease in the payments made to an average welfare family.

Milliken ordered the cuts to offset help offset a projected $300 million state deficit.

Facing a cut in payments, ADC recipients will now be more likely to turn in delinquents, he said.

Driscoll estimated that the whereabouts of up to 15 per cent of the fathers making child support payments in Van Buren county is currently unknown. The average order for child support payment is about $40 per week, he estimated.

He said that of 1,400 cases handled by his office last year, 353 involved ADC support. From those 353 cases, $294,980 went to the social services department.

Coming up with a meaningful figure on the total amount of arrearages outstanding at any one time is difficult, Driscoll said, because some support cases are dismissed by the court for lack of action, some because the child has reached 18, and others because the husband and wife have been reconciled.

Hilltop Starts New Market At Coloma

COLOMA — Sassano, Inc., operators of Hilltop Foods supermarkets and the Hilltop Family Center, broke ground yesterday morning for a 36,700 square foot family shopping center located between Paw Paw Lake road and Paw Paw avenue in Coloma township.

The center will be located on a 17-acre site with the $1 million food store and family center expected to be open by early May, 1976, according to John Sassano, president of Sassano, Inc.

The air conditioned glass and vertical grooved block building was designed by Sam Jones, architect, of LeRoy Troyer and Associates, Mishawaka, Indiana.

Sassano said the development will contain a Hilltop supermarket and family center with equipment and inventory representing an investment in excess of $1 million.

The general contractor for the project is Pearson Construction company of Benton Harbor.

Dignitaries from both Coloma township and Coloma city attended the ground breaking at 11 a.m. yesterday.

Sassano said the new Hilltop Family Center will feature complete one-stop shopping for all family needs including a complete supermarket, clothing for the entire family and a delicatessen and complete liquor department in the food store.

Village President Won't Run Again

DECATUR — Decatur Village President Keith Leighton told the Decatur village council last night that he will not be a candidate for re-election in 1976.

He gave no reason for his decision.

Leighton, 44, completing his fourth, two-year term as president, also previously served for six years as a council trustee.

The village primary elections are in February and the general elections in March.

In action last night, the council adopted a sewer ordinance that requires renters to make a $30 water meter deposit and makes sewer bills due and payable between the first and 20th of each month.

If the bill is not paid by the 20th, water at the user's house is to be turned off. Sewer use is based on water consumption.

A $10 turn-on fee was established for people whose water was stopped because of the late payment.

In March, the council first discussed methods of discouraging late sewer bill payments and getting sewer fees from those who rent rather than own property in the village.

Also last night, Mal Kuiser of Community Cable television said the Federal Communications commission has ordered changes in the franchise granted to the company by the village.

Under the changes, the village is to receive three per cent of gross revenue (rather than three per cent or $500); a trouble-shooter must be available to answer complaints from customers; and the 15-year franchise will not be automatically renewed.

Official Begins Sentence

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers official began a five-to-10-year prison term today for assault with intent to kill a dissident union member during a contract dispute at Ford Motor Co. in 1973.

David L. Mundy, chairman of the 5,900-member Local 600 at Ford's iron foundry and casting center in Dearborn and Flat Rock, was convicted in February in the shooting of William Harrell.

Tax Break For Jessco Inc. Clears Hurdle In Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac city council last night cleared the way for state consideration of a proposed tax exemption for a $1,047,500 expansion project for Jessco Incorporated.

The council approved the firm's application for an "industrial facilities exemption certificate," which still must be approved by the state tax commission.

If approved by the state, no property tax will be levied against the expansion project for the next 12 years, according to the council. Approval would mean a $119,000 savings for Jessco over the 12 years, according to Dave Tennent, vice president for finance for the firm.

Tennent told the council the project would add another wood lamination production line at the firm's plant at 208 Spaulding street. Also planned are renovation and addition to Jessco's corporate engineering and management offices.

Approval of the application came after a public hearing in which no objections were voiced from representatives of Southwestern Michigan college, the Lewis Cass intermediate school district and Dowagiac schools.

Tennent told representatives of the three school districts they would not lose tax revenue if the certificate were granted, but rather the lost funds would be made up by the state.

Once completed, the new line will mean employment of 100 additional workers, Tennent said.

In other areas, the council approved issuing $734,000 in general obligation bonds for the city's share of its $3.4 million waste water treatment expansion program. The bonds will be issued to the Farmers Home Administration (FHA), which has already approved a $734,000 loan to the city for the project.

City Manager Henry Graper Jr. said that even though the FHA has already approved the loan, issuing the bonds to the federal agency is required as collateral for the loan.

"Free parking in the city from Nov. 6 to Dec. 24 was approved by the council at the request of downtown merchants. Councilman Muri Rector asked that the merchants and Graper work together to eliminate parking meters in the downtown business district and map an alternative plan to pay for a $12,000 debt on meters and the city's parking lots.

Councilman Joe Silvia asked Graper if transporting voters to the polls today in Dial-A-Ride buses was legal. A one-mill property tax levy question to support the transportation system is on today's ballot in Dowagiac. Graper said that he had checked with state highway commission officials in Lansing and was assured the move was legal. Silvia asked for written confirmation and Graper said he would obtain it.

Silvia also questioned whether letters mailed to voters from all councilmen except himself supporting the Dial-A-Ride proposal and ads in newspapers also urging support of the issue were paid with city funds. Graper said they were not.

The council approved amending its Dial-A-Ride contract with the state, accepting payment of $1,000 from the state for radio equipment installed in Dial-A-Ride buses.

Mrs. Margaret Hunt, 263 McOmber street, appeared before the council in complaint that a three-year-old agreement between the city and the Holy Maternity Catholic church to pave a parking lot adjoining her property had not been honored. Graper told Mrs. Hunt that he had contacted the church and the matter would be settled.

New Lights Approved

BRIDGMAN — The Lake township board last night approved the installation of street lights on Red Arrow highway at the intersections of Lemon Creek road and California road, according to Elsie Reck, township clerk.

Board members said the Indiana & Michigan Electric company would install the lights and the township would only be responsible for paying the monthly bill for power. The board members said several residents in the area had requested the lights.

The board discussed sending firemen and ambulance attendants to first aid training classes, but no action was taken.

Niles, Sodus Men Lottery Winners

Two southwestern Michigan residents have been identified as $3,000 winners in the state's bicentennial lottery drawing, according to the Bureau of State Lottery, Lansing.

The winners were Leland Rickets, 40, of 4170 Pipestone road, Sodus, and Bobby V. Leggett, 41, of 1108 North Fifth street, Niles.

Rickets, the father of five children, is shipping and receiving manager at Jeno's in Sodus. He purchased his winning ticket at the Farmer's Country club, Napier avenue, Benton township. He is divorced.

Leggett, a bachelor, is currently unemployed. He was a former worker at Kawneer company, which has closed down its Niles operation. Leggett said he purchased his winning ticket at Bud's Tap in Niles. He said he plans to bank his winnings "...saving it for a rainy day."

Lawton School Tax Beaten Third Time

LAWTON — Lawton school district voters yesterday defeated for a third time this year a proposed extra property tax levy to finance school operations.

Defeated was a proposed one-year, 1.3-mill levy. The vote was 373 to 289, according to unofficial returns, school officials said.

Sept. George Dannecker said the defeat leaves the school without funds for increases in teacher salaries and means the school will have to pare down its education program more than it already has or borrow money.

Teachers are working without a contract and are being paid at rates on last year's contract that has expired.

School officials said previously that the millage proposal would have raised about $58,250 in local and state aid revenues, with the bulk of the money, about $34,166, going towards a payroll contingency fund.

Two previous millage proposal defeats caused the school board to reduce its teaching staff from 50 to 39, eliminate some education programs and to expand class sizes.

Voters in June defeated a six-mill proposal by a 340 to 213 margin, and in August, rejected two separate, three-mill proposals by votes of 355 to 289 and 428 to 131.

Dannecker said the school board is to meet tonight to adopt a budget for the coming school year.

He said the millage defeat, plus a reduction in state aid to the state's public schools proposed by Gov. Milliken, means that "...we will have to leave salaries where they are at."

"Any adjustment (in salaries) would mean a layoff or a programmed cutback," Dannecker said.

David Anderson, president of the Lawton Education association, said that despite the millage loss, "We still feel there is money for teacher salary increases."

He said it is the association's position that the "...school district has picked up additional money in state aid this year."

He said a state mediator has met with representatives of the teachers and the board once and a second meeting is planned but not yet scheduled.

4-H Club Elects Officers

Members of the Lads and Lassies 4-H club have elected officers for the coming year. The new officers are Kim Heritz, president; Beth Reimer, vice president; Lori Carrell, secretary; Mary Robinson, treasurer, and Carole Aldrich, refreshment chairman. Club members live in the Benton township-Sodus township area.

Van Buren Cracks Down On Delinquent Mates

'Bounty' Program Under Way Since Aug. 1

STAN DRISCOLL

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — An incentive program designed to find certain people who are not making required child support payments has been under way in Van Buren county since Aug. 1.

Stan Driscoll, county friend of the court, said the program involves a "bounty" for an ex-mate providing authorities with the location of a delinquent payer and an incentive for the county to correct the situation.

The program applies only to cases where the ex-mate is receiving aid to dependent children (ADC) payments.

Driscoll said the ex-mate's "bounty" amounts to 40 per cent of the first $50 collected per month for up to 12 months. The

'Chumps' Declare War On Detroit Pro Sports Teams

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's professional sports teams are so poor it's bringing them to tears, say a small band of die-hard Motor City sports fans.

But they acknowledge they're "sports junkies," and just can't stay away.

So instead of giving up, the group has declared "unrelenting guerrilla warfare" in an effort to squeeze championship quality teams out of the management of the Detroit Red Wings, Lions and Tigers.

These life-long sports "Chumps" — Citizens Horribly Unhappy With Mediocre Professional Sports — unveiled their campaign on Monday in a news conference at Detroit's best known athletic watering spot, the Lindell AC bar.

The "Head Chump" is no novice to grass-roots campaigns. He's Doug Ross, now chairman of Michigan Common Cause. A year ago he organized a successful petition effort to repeal the state sales tax on food and drugs.

This campaign obviously is going to be different, but some of the consumerist rhetoric has simply been reworked to fit the sports page.

"Detroit is the City of Chumps," Ross declared. "But the chumps are not our sports teams. The players are well paid, and the owners regularly make money."

"The chumps are the fans, those who pay higher ticket prices each year to watch increasingly pathetic performances on the field or in the arena."

In an opening blast at Detroit's National Hockey League franchise, Ross suggested the city's sleazy Cass Corridor be renamed "Norris Avenue," after Red Wings owner Bruce Norris.

As an alternative, the chumps suggested switching the Wings, so far 2-8-3 for the season, to the International Hockey League.

"With a little more work, we are convinced the Wings could beat the Flint Generals in a long series," Ross said.

In their first expose-type revelation, the Chumps said they couldn't understand why former University of Michigan star quarterback Dennis Franklin was on the injured reserve list with the Detroit Lions' top two signal-callers also out with injuries.

Advertising executive Jim Grossman, an "outspoken Chump," said Franklin himself says he's ready to play after being sidelined earlier in the season with a head injury and persistent virus.

Blasting the National Football League team's so-so performance — 4-3 so far this year — Ross declared:

"William Ford (the Lions' owner) has got to be aware that he's turning out an Edsel."

To help build momentum, the Chumps say they are going to give out awards to the best players of each team — strong athletes traded away only to become stars in other cities.

Early nominees for ex-Red Wing of the Year were Montreal Canadiens Pete Mahovich, and Marcel Dionne, now a Los Angeles King.

The group's size is unknown, with Ross estimating membership at between 11 and 30,000. But there was a tone of desperation in his voice which rang true.

"We'll be back again and again and again," Ross said.

Eagles Respect Ram Might Now

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Shades of comedian Rodney Dangerfield.

Philadelphia showed Los Angeles Rams quarterback James Harris and wide receiver Harold Jackson no respect and it cost the Eagles dearly.

Harris explained it after the Rams humiliated the Eagles 42-3 Monday night before 64,601 booning home fans — and millions who must have turned off the nationally televised National Football League game before it was three-quarters over.

"We thought they weren't respecting Harold," Harris said. "They were just squatting on him, letting him go. We tried to earn a little respect by going long."

Boy, did they earn respect. Before Harris stopped his bombing, he had thrown three touchdown passes, 54 and 30 yards to Jackson and 42 yards to Jack Snow. He completed 10 of 20 tosses for 207 yards.

Jackson said he called his first touchdown play.

"On the previous series, Johnny Outlaw (the Eagles' cornerback) just sat there on me. I said to James, 'Look, I can beat my man on straight go patterns,' and I did with a little outside move. Outlaw was looking for me to go deep inside."

Jackson made a joking reference to the Rams' tendency to ram the ball down an opponent's throat rather than pass it over their heads.

"I usually don't see that many passes," said the wide receiver, who was dealt to Los Angeles by the Eagles in the trade for quarterback Roman Gabriel after the 1972 season. "I know I'd better catch them when I do — or I won't see them again."

He caught three for 91 yards.

The game was simply a laughter for the Rams, who won their sixth straight since losing their season opener to Dallas. Los Angeles, a pre-season favorite to reach the Super Bowl, now leads the National Conference West by four games with only half the season yet to play.

Defensive end Fred Dryer, who ran 20 yards for a touchdown with a third-quarter Gabriel fumble, put the rout in its proper perspective when he said: "It wasn't any fun. It was too easy."

Dryer wasn't very kind to the losers. He said some of the Eagles quit. "I empathize with those guys," Dryer began. "But when you lose like they are, obviously something is wrong. They have half the season to correct mistakes. Some quit, some didn't."

Eagles' Coach Mike McCormack, whose job is in jeopardy, was distraught.

Davis Signed By Argonauts

Ex-WFL Player Gets Million Dollars

TORONTO (AP) — Anthony Davis, one of the most-wanted men in the now-defunct World Football League, found himself wanted north of the border, too. He carried a million-dollar price tag on his head ... and on Monday, the Canadians got their man.

The Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, a team without a championship for 23 years, signed the flashy 5-foot-9, 190-pound running back and occasional pass-catcher who had been among the few bright spots in the WFL.

Argos' owner Bill Hodgson, who would have undoubtedly outbid the New York Jets of the National Football League for Davis' services, called the deal "a million-dollar, multi-year contract." Davis clarified it a bit, saying it was a five-year pact.

He came to terms with Hodgson over the weekend. "I decided on Toronto," Davis said, "because, when I came up here a couple of weeks ago, I really liked the people. Everybody I met made me feel I was wanted."

The wider, longer CFL field also gave him a better chance to display his breakaway talents. "It was the first time I had been to Canada and only the second time I had watched a game from the stands," he said of that recent visit. "I liked the rules ... I really think it is suited to a player like myself. The Canadian game can be really exciting."

Davis was the Jets' second-round pick in last January's collegiate draft. But Davis opted to stay in his own backyard. After starring for the University of Southern California, he signed with the WFL's Southern California Sun.

After 12 games, he led the league in scoring, had rushed for 1,200 yards — 400 more than the nearest pursuer — and had caught 54 passes. But after 12 games, the WFL succumbed to fan apathy and mounting bills and folded.

That made Davis eligible to join the Jets — but not until next year. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, wishing to avoid potential legal entanglements over the availability of players, prohibited the signing of any WFL talent except for nine players who had filed a suit to overturn the ban.

But the Jets, who have a wealth of running backs, didn't seem too interested in shelling out a lot of cash to add Davis to the list.

Nevertheless, the Argos and the rest of the CFL will also have to wait until next year before Davis gets his chance to wow the crowds.

Toronto, which finished 5-10-1 in the Eastern Conference, was eliminated from the CFL playoffs with a 26-10 loss to Hamilton.

Lakeshore Youth Meeting Slated

The Lakeshore Youth Baseball and Softball Association will hold a meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan on Red Arrow highway.

There will be election of officers and plans will be discussed for next season. Any one interested in managing should be at the meeting, including last year's managers.

Bo Ends Talk Against Officiating

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Bo Schembechler may be walking on eggs, so Monday he tried a little more softly than he had over the weekend.

The Michigan coach, still on probation by the Big Ten, had complained strongly about the officiating in Saturday's 28-21 Wolverine victory at Minnesota.

But at his weekly news conference Monday, Schembechler would only say: "I have already discussed it, and that's as far as I'll go today. I discussed it with the Big Ten office this morning. I talked to (Commissioner) Wayne Duke and (supervisor of officials) Herm Rohrig."

He declined to elaborate.

Schembechler has been on probation since his blasts a couple years ago at Duke and conference policy over the selection of Ohio State rather than Michigan to go to the Rose Bowl last season.

Saturday he was quoted as saying: "There was incompetence all around us today, and I don't mean either one of the teams. I don't care if you are from Minnesota or not. What went on today was unbelievable."

"Our aggressiveness was gone in the defensive secondary because they kept calling interference against us. I certainly plan to protest the officiating."

"On one play their man took three steps, and we got called for obstructing his ability to catch the ball on a punt return. It's pretty hard to believe that call because he caught the ball. Our man hit him legally. He was live ball."

Minnesota Coach Cal Stoll, meanwhile, reportedly was upset that Michigan was not penalized on a couple occasions when Schembechler stormed onto the field.

"They definitely have a different set of rules for a couple coaches in this league," Stoll was quoted as saying. "Sure, Bo had some legitimate gripes, but it's part of the game."

Schembechler emphasized

Monday that, "there was no question that Minnesota was good" and that his criticism had no reflection on the Gophers' play.

Michigan, 6-4-2 overall and 50 in the league, suffered a number of injuries, but they aren't considered serious enough to keep anyone out of Saturday's home game against Purdue.

On the injured list are wingback Jim Smith (broken nose), split end Keith Johnson (sprained wrist), fullback Rob Lytle (sprained knee), tackle Mike Ken (bruised thigh) and linebacker Calvin O'Neal (bruised heel).

Tailback Gordon Bell was named by the Michigan coaching staff as the team's top offensive performer against the Gophers. Bell, who leads the Big Ten in rushing with a 141-yard-a-game average, ran for 172 yards. It put him into second place on the Wolverines' all-time rushing list with 2,488 yards.

Middle guard Tim Davis was named top defensive player, and Johnson was singled out for his work on the kicking team. Tight end Mark Schmerge, a freshman, was named offensive "hustler" of the week, and defensive back Jim Pickens was chosen the defensive hustler.

Rookie of the Week was Chip Pederson, and Ken Bush was praised for his play on the scout team.

Injuries Make Defense New MSU Problem

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — With an already disappointing season rapidly turning into a disaster, Michigan State's defense has joined the lackluster offense as a problem area.

All season long, the defense has kept the Spartans in the ball game — usually only to see the offense stall and give the ball right back.

The defense was largely responsible for the Spartans' uplifting victory over Notre Dame, and kept MSU close to arch-rival Michigan until the final minutes.

But last Saturday, Purdue shredded the injury-riddled defense en route to a 20-10 victory. And Coach Denny Stolz found himself discussing new troubles on Monday.

"It was unusual for any team to move the ball against us on the ground this year, especially inside," he said. "But we were handled inside Saturday."

With the Spartan injuries, it's remarkable the defense hasn't sprung a leak sooner. Four top defenders have been lost for the season. Otto Smith, an All-Big Ten end, linebackers Pat McCowry and Kim Roweckamp, and defensive back Mike Imhoff all have been sidelined.

Back John Breslin also missed the Purdue game with an injury but is expected to return Saturday against Indiana.

The injuries took their toll Saturday as the reserves just couldn't hold the powerful Bollermakers. Stolz acknowledged he was concerned about patching together a lineup which is able to clump down on opponents' offense the rest of the year.

Meanwhile, Stolz said, his staff remains mystified after trying to analyze why the Spartans cannot mount a more potent offense.

The Spartans usually score when they can get inside the opponents' 10-yard-line, he said, and move the ball well in their own end of the field. But when they reach the opponents' 35, everything seems to break down.

Rumors Of Return To NHL Denied Hull Won't Join Hawks

WINNIPEG (AP) — Winnipeg Jets star left-wing Bobby Hull, who says he's tired of hearing reports that he'll return to the National Hockey League and the Chicago Black Hawks, apparently will not make the move.

"Unequivocally no, I'm not going back to Chicago, okay?" was Hull's response to reports in a Toronto newspaper that action was under way to effect such a move.

A return to the NHL from the World Hockey Association would be a difficult undertaking. Each of the member clubs helps pay the contract that brought the veteran to Winnipeg three years ago, and it would not be easy to obtain release from the pact.

It has been reported, however, that Hull is not happy in Winnipeg.

The Toronto Star reported Monday that Hull will meet with WHA officials next week in an effort to negotiate his way out of the deal, which assured him a $1 million signing bonus and $250,000 per season for the next 10 years.

Bud Polke, WHA vice president in charge of hockey operations, said he had not heard of such a prospective meeting.

It was learned, though, that Hull was to meet with his agent, Henry Wineberg, today.

Black Hawks General Manager Tommy Ivan said in Chicago that he would not comment on the matter and said, "We've had no call from Bobby or his agent. It's a matter between Bobby and the WHA. We cannot get involved at this time."

Last year he set a single-season scoring record of 77 goals in 78 games with the Jets. Last week he staged a one-game strike to protest growing violence in the game.

The Star said a number of factors could spur Hull's return to Chicago. He would enjoy a tax advantage by returning to the United States with all the money he has in deferred annuities, and the Black Hawks could use him to bolster attendance which reached a low of 8,300 earlier this season.

'Chumps' Declare War On Detroit Pro Sports Teams

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's professional sports teams are so poor it's bringing them to tears, say a small band of die-hard Motor City sports fans.

But they acknowledge they're "sports junkies," and just can't stay away.

No instead of giving up, the group has declared "unrelenting guerrilla warfare" in an effort to squeeze championship quality teams out of the management of the Detroit Red Wings, Lions and Tigers.

These life-long sports "Chumps" — Citizens Horribly Unhappy with Mediocre Professional Sports — unveiled their campaign on Monday in a news conference at Detroit's best known athletic watering spot, the Lindell AC bar.

The "Head Chump" is no novice to grass-roots campaigns. He's Doug Ross, now chairman of Michigan Common Cause. A year ago he organized a successful petition effort to repeal the state sales tax on food and drugs.

This campaign obviously is going to be different, but some of the consumerist rhetoric has simply been reworked to fit the sports page.

"Detroit is the City of Chumps," Ross declared. "But the chumps are not our sports teams. The players are well paid, and the owners regularly make money."

"The chumps are the fans, those who pay higher ticket prices each year to watch increasingly pathetic performances on the field or in the arena."

In an opening blast at Detroit's National Hockey League franchise, Ross suggested the city's sleazy Cass Corridor be renamed "Norris Avenue," after Red Wings owner Bruce Norris.

As an alternative, the chumps suggested switching the Wings, so far 2-8-3 for the season, to the International Hockey League.

"With a little more work, we are convinced the Wings could beat the Flint Generals in a long series," Ross said.

In their first expose-type revelation, the Chumps said they couldn't understand why former University of Michigan star quarterback Dennis Franklin was on the injured reserve list with the Detroit Lions' top two signal-callers also out with injuries.

Advertising executive Jim Grossman, an outspoken Chump, said Franklin himself says he's ready to play after being sidelined earlier in the season with a head injury and persistent virus.

Blasting the National Football League team's so-so performance — 4-3 so far this year — Ross declared:

"William Ford (the Lions owner) has got to be aware that he's turning out an Edsel."

To help build momentum, the Chumps say they are going to give out awards to the best ex-players of each team — strong athletes traded away only to become stars in other cities.

Early nominees for ex-Red Wing of the Year were Montreal Canadiens Pete Mahovich, and Marcel Dionne, now a Los Angeles King.

The group's size is unknown, with Ross estimating membership at between 11 and 30,000. But there was a tone of desperation in his voice which rang true.

"We'll be back again and again and again," Ross said.

Eagles Respect Ram Might Now

AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Shades of comedian Rodney Dangerfield.

Philadelphia showed Los Angeles Rams quarterback James Harris and wide receiver Harold Jackson no respect and it cost the Eagles dearly.

Harris explained it after the Rams humiliated the Eagles 42-3 Monday night before 64,601 booing home fans — and millions who must have turned off the nationally televised National Football League game before it was three-quarters over.

"We thought they weren't respecting Harold," Harris said. "They were just squatting on him, letting him go. We tried to earn a little respect by going long."

Boy, did they earn respect. Before Harris stopped his bombing, he had thrown three touchdown passes, 54 and 30 yards to Jackson and 42 yards to Jack Snow. He completed 10 of 20 tosses for 207 yards.

Jackson said he called his first touchdown play.

"On the previous series, Johnny Outlaw (the Eagles' cornerback) just sat there on me, I said to James, 'Look, I can beat my man on straight go patterns,' and I did with a little outside move. Outlaw was looking for me to go deep inside."

Jackson made a joking reference to the Rams' tendency to ram the ball down an opponent's throat rather than pass it over their heads.

"I usually don't see that many passes," said the wide receiver, who was dealt to Los Angeles by the Eagles in the trade for quarterback Roman Gabriel after the 1972 season. "I know I'd better catch them when I do — or I won't see them again." He caught three for 91 yards.

The game was simply a laughter for the Rams, who won their sixth straight since losing their season opener to Dallas. Los Angeles, a pre-season favorite to reach the Super Bowl, now leads the National Conference West by four games with only half the season yet to play.

Defensive end Fred Dryer, who ran 20 yards for a touchdown with a third-quarter Gabriel fumble, put the rout in its proper perspective when he said: "It wasn't any fun. It was too easy."

Dryer wasn't very kind to the losers. He said some of the Eagles quit. "I empathize with those guys," Dryer began. "But when you lose like they are, obviously something is wrong. They have half the season to correct mistakes. Some quit, some didn't."

Eagles' Coach Mike McCormack, whose job is in jeopardy, was distraught.

Davis Signed By Argonauts

Ex-WFL Player Gets Million Dollars

TORONTO (AP) — Anthony Davis, one of the most-wanted men in the now-defunct World Football League, found himself wanted north of the border, too. He carried a million-dollar price tag on his head ... and on Monday, the Canadians got their man.

The Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, a team without a championship for 23 years, signed the flashy 5-foot-9, 190-pound running back and occasional pass-catcher who had been among the few bright spots in the WFL.

Argos' owner Bill Hodgson, who would have undoubtedly outbid the New York Jets of the National Football League for Davis' services, called the deal "a million-dollar, multi-year contract." Davis clarified it a bit, saying it was a five-year pact.

He came to terms with Hodgson over the weekend. "I decided on Toronto," Davis said, "because, when I came up here a couple of weeks ago, I really liked the people. Everybody I met made me feel I was wanted."

The wider, longer CFL field and the more wide-open game also give him a better chance to display his breakaway talents. "It was the first time I had been to Canada and only the second time I had watched a game from the stands," he said of that recent visit. "I liked the rules ... I really think it is suited to a player like myself. The Canadian game can be really exciting."

Davis was the Jets' second-round pick in last January's collegiate draft. But Davis opted to stay in his own backyard. After starring for the University of Southern California, he signed with the WFL's Southern California Sun.

After 12 games, he led the league in scoring, had rushed for 1,200 yards — 400 more than the nearest pursuer — and had caught 54 passes. But after 12 games, the WFL succumbed to fan apathy and mounting bills and folded.

That made Davis eligible to join the Jets — but not until next year. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, wishing to avoid potential legal entanglements over the availability of players, prohibited the signing of any WFL talent except for nine players who had filed a suit to overturn the ban.

But the Jets, who have a wealth of running backs, didn't seem too interested in shelling out a lot of cash to add Davis to the list.

Nevertheless, the Argos and the rest of the CFL will also have to wait until next year before Davis gets his chance to wow the crowds.

Toronto, which finished 5-10-1 in the Eastern Conference, was eliminated from the CFL playoffs with a 26-10 loss to Hamilton.

Streaking Lawrence, Galien Meet Friday

Last Weekend Of Grid Season

For some teams in southwestern Michigan, this weekend marks the end of sweet, championship campaigns...but for others it signals the end of a long, frustrating fall.

A pair of teams that have had standout seasons, Galien in the Red Arrow and Lawrence in the SAC, promise to make the finale exciting, even though all titles are decided for area teams.

Lawrence already has its first SAC title in hand with a 6-1 overall year, and the Tigers have slim hopes of being the only southwestern Michigan team in the fall's inaugural state football playoffs.

Lawrence coach Jim Coady wonders if his Tigers "can get up again after four tough football games," but the playoff possibility should take care of that situation.

Colon, a team listed above Lawrence in last week's playoff rating, lost last Friday. And Ann Arbor St. Thomas — tied with Lawrence — beat a team with no wins.

But the Tigers still have a big obstacle to worry about in unbeaten Class D powerhouse North Adams, ranked first in this week's Associated Press poll and the leader in last week's rating for a playoff berth.

Lawrence is also hoping to match its best record ever — 7-1 back in 1968 — with a win Friday, but the Tigers know they face a tough task against Galien.

"Last year's game was real hard hitting and Galien won it 34-20," recalls Coady. "There is no question they will give us all we want and then some."

Galien, now 5-3 overall, had one of the toughest first-half schedules around while playing Lake Michigan Catholic, Hartford and Watervliet in its first three league games.

Since losing to that trio, first-year coach Jerry Hess has won his last four in a row with an impressive 125-26 point margin.

"Our goal at the beginning of the year was to go 9-0, of course, but I'm pleased with my first season because we have shown progress throughout the year," declares

Hess.

The Gaels have a solid offense with Randy Chase and Craig Schau doing most of the running. "We try to attack a defense through rushing and passing, and I think we have a pretty balanced attack," he adds.

Hess also is looking for a tough game. "Their backfield (Jerry Aranda, Ron Schmalz and Robert Reyna) is as good as any in our conference and Congdon (quarterback Dave Congdon) can throw about as well as anybody in the area."

In other Friday night games involving SAC teams, White Pigeon visits Decatur (5-3), Hopkins (6-1-1) travels to Gobles (3-5), Bloomingdale (2-6) hosts Mattawan (4-3) and Marcellus (6-2) travels to Schoolcraft.

Three weeks ago, coach Gary Gary Steudle's hopes for a winning season looked dismal but South Haven has bounced back to take its last three games and is now 3-4 in the Wolverine conference and 4-4 overall. To achieve their fifth-straight winning season, the Rams will have to knock off Vicksburg, a team tied with Gull Lake for the league lead at 6-1.

"Vicksburg has beaten everybody we have lost to this season," said Steudle. "We are expecting a real tough game."

An almost identical situation between the schools happened last season, but the roles were reversed. South Haven needed a win over the Bulldogs to clinch the league championship outright, but the Rams lost 21-20 and had to settle for a tie with Plainwell.

Steudle opened up his offense last week against Comstock and let sophomore quarterback Perry Pianta do some running. "Perry is a real fine runner but we haven't used him because of the injury aspect," said the coach.

Vicksburg has a diversified ground game with halfback Al Minnis doing a lot of the running, indicated Steudle.

In another Wolverine contest, Paw Paw and Comstock, both 4-7 in the league, battle each other for last place.

A Saturday game will pit Lake Michigan Catholic (7-1) against the Kalamazoo Valley Conference champ Parchment (8-2) at Dickinson Stadium. The Panthers' leading scorer is Steve Smith with 34 points while 235-pound tackle Scott Vandenbosch anchors a defense that sports four 200-plus pound gridders.

The Lakers need 238 yards total offense against Parchment to hit the 3,000-yard mark. Mickey Ashbrook is the team's leading rusher with 1,288 yards on 191 carries (6.6 per carry average).

Montreal Winner On Lambert Goals

MONTRÉAL (AP) — Yvon Lambert took the shots. Jerry Korab and Gerry Desjardins had to bite the bullets.

Lambert got a couple of handy deflections in the final four minutes for two quick goals that gave the Montreal Canadiens a 3-2 victory over Buffalo in Monday night's lone National Hockey League game. The World Hockey Association was idle.

Desjardins, the Sabres' goalie, had an outstanding performance going and Buffalo had a 2-1 lead when, at 16:44 of the third period, Lambert fired from a sharp angle.

The puck struck the stick of Korab, a Sabres' defenseman, and ricocheted into the net. "When I got the tying goal, I said, 'Gee, some nights you're really lucky,'" Lambert reflected. "I tried to pass it in front and it hit Korab's stick and it went in."

Just 73 seconds later, Lambert struck again. "I saw the top corner well," he said. "I tried to keep cool. I think the puck hit Desjardins' stick. I just shot it right away because I knew I had that side."

Desjardins was still wondering after the game exactly how the puck got by him. "It hit somebody — I guess it hit me," he said. "I was going across the net. Those things happen."

Lambert's goals gave him nine in his last five games and 10 for the season. He had 32 last year after a six-goal rookie season in 1973-74. Lambert attributed his scoring to added confidence.

Berrien Zaps Lakers

For Arrow Crown

River Valley Clinches Bud Tie

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

When Teri Moore goes to the basket, things happen for the Berrien Springs girls basketball team.

No one is more convinced of that than Lake Michigan Catholic was Monday night. Sparked by Moore's 11 third-quarter points, Berrien Springs clinched the Red Arrow championship by beating the Lakers 49-20 before more than 500 fans at Berrien.

The win was the seventh without a loss for the Shamrocks in league play, while Lake Michigan Catholic lost for the first time in seven Red Arrow games to finish second in the league.

In other Red Arrow games Monday, Eau Claire beat Watervliet 39-15 to finish in third place in the league with a 5-2 record. Bridgman (3-4) wound up fourth after ripping Hartford 34-21. New Buffalo edged Galien 32-27 in the other Red Arrow game.

River Valley clinched at least a tie for the Blossomland crown Monday by coasting past Lakeshore 73-49. The Mustangs are now 10-1 in the league and need to win only one of their remaining three games to grab the title outright.

Edwardsburg (8-4) moved into second place by handling Coloma 52-32. Cassopolis (7-4) clobbered Buchanan (7-5) 48-24 and Dowagiac (4-7) clipped Brandywine (2-9) 32-19 in other Blossomland play.

Berrien Springs held just an 18-12 halftime lead, but broke the game open by holding the Lakers to just eight second-half points.

Moore took command of the game from the outset of the second half, scoring a basket and a free throw to move the edge to 21-12 with just over six minutes to play in the third quarter.

After a free throw by Ann Donahue, Moore drove in for four straight baskets to stretch the Shamrock lead to 29-13 and the issue was never in doubt after that.

"When Moore goes to the basket, it's all over," grinned Shamrock coach Carolyn Crawford. "When she starts penetrating, the whole team begins to move."

The thing which pleased Crawford the most about the victory was the Berrien Springs defense.

"The defense was just super," she said. "It was a good hustling zone. Too many times a team will play a zone and just stand around. The girls played a zone, but they moved and anticipated."

(Susan) Stacey blocked the middle so they couldn't drive. She works hard and has a lot of heart."

Stacey blocked up the middle so well that Laker center Carol Lomonaco scored just two points. Moore finished with 15 for the winners and Lisa Wagner added eight.

Maureen McCrone topped Lake Michigan with nine.

Eau Claire raced out to a 22-4 halftime edge and were never headed against Watervliet.

Tammie Vladic tallied 10 and Lynn Telchman and Karjo Layman each scored eight for the winners.

Cindy Nichols tossed in 15 as New Buffalo rallied in the fourth quarter to nip Galien. The Bisons outscored the Gaels 10-3 in the final quarter. Janet Wright scored 14 for Galien.

Heidi Nelson's 20 points helped Bridgman topple Hartford.

River Valley outscored Lakeshore 34-16 in the final 11 minutes to break open a close game. The Mustangs led just 30-33 late in the third quarter before turning on the gas.

Wendy Schwark topped the winners with 23, while Debbie Lundin added 16 and Kathy Smith 12. The Mustangs held Jodi Rabbers to just 12 for Lakeshore.

The Goins sisters sparked Cass' rout. Both Billie and Denise tallied 21 to total 42 of the winner's 48 points.

"If it weren't for those two," Cass coach Napoleon Fields says, "we just wouldn't win."

Patience Vanderbush was the only Buchanan player in double figures with 14.

Christy Rea's 12 points headed a balanced scoring attack for Edwardsburg. Cindy Moller tallied 20 for Coloma, which dropped its 11th straight.

Ola Houston's 16 points helped Dowagiac break open a close game in the final quarter. The Chiefs led just 18-13 after three periods.

Also, South Haven downed Paw Paw 51-36.

Streaking Lawrence, Galien Meet Friday

Last Weekend Of Grid Season

For some teams in southwestern Michigan, this weekend marks the end of sweet, championship campaigns...but for others it signals the end of a long, frustrating fall.

A pair of teams that have had standout seasons, Galien in the Red Arrow and Lawrence in the SAC, promise to make the finale exciting, even though all titles are decided for area teams.

Lawrence already has its first SAC title in hand with a 6-1 overall tie, and the Tigers have slim hopes of being the only southwestern Michigan team in the fall's inaugural state football playoffs.

Lawrence coach Jim Coady wonders if his Tigers "can get up again after four tough football games," but the playoff possibility should take care of that situation.

Colon, a team listed above Lawrence in last week's playoff rating, lost last Friday. And Ann Arbor St. Thomas — tied with Lawrence — beat a team with no wins.

But the Tigers still have a big obstacle to worry about in unbeaten Class D powerhouse North Adams, ranked first in this week's Associated Press poll and the leader in last week's rating for a playoff berth.

Lawrence is also hoping to match its best record ever — 7-1 back in 1968 — with a win Friday, but the Tigers know they face a tough task against Galien.

"Last year's game was real hard hitting and Galien won it 34-20," recalls Coady. "There is no question they will give us all we want and then some."

Galien, now 5-3 overall, had one of the toughest first-half schedules around while playing Red Arrow powers Lake Michigan Catholic, Hartford and Watervliet in its first three league games.

Since losing to that trio, first-year coach Jerry Hess has won his last four in a row with an impressive 125-26 point margin.

"Our goal at the beginning of the year was to go 9-0, of course, but I'm pleased with my first season because we have shown progress throughout the year," declares

Hess.

The Gaels have a solid offense with Randy Chase and Craig Schau doing most of the running. "We try to attack a defense through rushing and passing, and I think we have a pretty balanced attack," he adds.

Hess also is looking for a tough game. "Their backfield (Jerry Aranda, Ron Schmalfeldt and Robert Reyna) is as good as any in our conference and Congdon (quarterback Dave Congdon) can throw about as well as anybody in the area."

In other Friday night games involving SAC teams, White Pigeon visits Decatur (5-3), Hopkins (6-1) travels to Gobles (3-5), Bloomington (2-6) hosts Mattawan (4-3) and Marcellus (6-2) travels to Schoolcraft.

Three weeks ago, coach Gary Garry Steudle's hopes for a winning season looked dismal but South Haven has bounced back to take its last three games and is now 3-4 in the Wolverine conference and 4-4 overall. To achieve their fifth-straight winning season, the Rams will have to knock off Vicksburg, a team tied with Gull Lake for the league lead at 6-1.

"Vicksburg has beaten everybody we have lost to this season," said Steudle. "We are expecting a real tough game."

An almost identical situation between the schools happened last season, but the roles were reversed. South Haven needed a win over the Bulldogs to clinch the league championship outright, but the Rams lost 21-20 and had to settle for a tie with Plainwell.

Steudle opened up his offense last week against Comstock and let sophomore quarterback Perry Palanca do some running. "Perry is a real fine runner but we haven't used him because of the injury aspect," said the coach.

Vicksburg has a diversified ground game with halfback Al Minnis doing a lot of the running, indicated Steudle.

In another Wolverine contest, Paw Paw and Comstock, both 0-7 in the league, battle each other for last place.

A Saturday game will pit Lake Michigan Catholic (7-1) against the Kalamazoo Valley Conference champ Parchment (6-2) at Dickinson Stadium. The Panthers' leading scorer is Steve Smith with 54 points while 235-pound tackle Scott Vandenberg anchors a defense that sports four 200-pound gridders.

The Lakers need 238 yards total offense against Parchment to hit the 3,000-yard mark. Mickey Ashbrook is the team's leading rusher with 1,258 yards on 191 carries (6.6 per carry average).

Montreal Winner On Lambert Goals

MONTREAL (AP) — Yvon Lambert took the shots. Jerry Korab and Gerry Desjardins had to bite the bullets.

Lambert got a couple of handy deflections in the final four minutes for two quick goals that gave the Montreal Canadiens a 3-2 victory over Buffalo in Monday night's lone National Hockey League game. The World Hockey Association was idle.

Desjardins, the Sabres' goalie, had an outstanding performance going and Buffalo had a 2-1 lead when, at 16:44 of the third period, Lambert fired from a sharp angle.

The puck struck the stick of Korab, a Sabres' defenseman, and ricocheted into the net. "When I got the tying goal, I said, 'Gee, some nights you're really lucky,'" Lambert reflected. "I tried to pass it in front and it hit Korab's stick and it went in."

Just 73 seconds later, Lambert struck again. "I saw the top corner well," he said. "I tried to keep cool. I think the puck hit Desjardins' stick. I just shot it right away because I knew I had that side."

Desjardins was still wondering after the game exactly how the puck got by him. "It hit somebody — I guess it hit me," he said. "I was going across the net. Those things happen."

Lambert's goals gave him nine in his last five games and 10 for the season. He had 32 last year after a six-goal rookie season in 1973-74. Lambert attributed his scoring to added confidence.

Berrien Zaps Lakers For Arrow Crown

River Valley Clinches Bud Tie

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

When Teri Moore goes to the basket, things happen for the Berrien Springs girls basketball team.

No one is more convinced of that than Lake Michigan Catholic was Monday night. Sparked by Moore's 11 third-quarter points, Berrien Springs clinched the Red Arrow championship by beating the Lakers 49-20 before more than 500 fans at Berrien.

The win was the seventh without a loss for the Shamrocks in league play, while Lake Michigan Catholic lost for the first time in seven Red Arrow games to finish second in the league.

In other Red Arrow games Monday, Eau Claire beat Watervliet 39-15 to finish in third place in the league with a 5-2 record. Bridgman (3-4) wound up fourth after ripping Hartford 36-21. New Buffalo edged Galien 32-27 in the other Red Arrow game.

River Valley clinched at least a tie for the Blossomland crown Monday by coasting past Lakeshore 73-49. The Mustangs are now 10-1 in the league and need to win only one of their remaining three games to grab the title outright.

Edwardsburg (8-4) moved into second place by handling Coloma 52-32. Cassopolis (7-4) clobbered Buchanan (7-5) 48-24 and Dowagiac (4-7) clipped Brandywine (2-9) 32-19 in other Blossomland play.

Berrien Springs held just an 18-12 halftime lead, but broke the game open by holding the Lakers to just eight second-half points.

Moore took command of the game from the outset of the second half, scoring a basket and a free throw to move the edge to 21-12 with just over six minutes to play in the third quarter.

After a free throw by Ann Donahue, Moore drove in for four straight baskets to stretch the Shamrock lead to 29-13 and the issue was never in doubt after that.

"When Moore goes to the basket, it's all over," grinned Shamrock coach Carolyn Crawford. "When she starts penetrating, the whole team begins to move."

The thing which pleased Crawford the most about the victory was the Berrien Springs defense.

"The defense was just super," she said. "It was a good hustling zone. Too many times a team will play a zone and just stand around. The girls played a zone, but they moved and anticipated."

"(Susan) Stacey blocked the middle so they couldn't drive. She works hard and has a lot of heart."

Stacey blocked up the middle so well that Laker center Carol Lomonaco scored just two points. Moore finished with 15 for the winners and Lisa Wagner added eight.

Maureen McCrone topped Lake Michigan with nine.

Eau Claire raced out to a 22-4 halftime edge and were never headed against Watervliet.

Tammie Vladic tallied 10 and Lynn Teichman and Karne Layman each scored eight for the winners.

Cindy Nichols tossed in the 15th quarter to nip Galien. The Bisons outscored the Gaels 10-3 in the final quarter. Janet Wright scored 14 for Galien.

Heidi Nelson's 20 points helped Bridgman topple Hartford.

River Valley outscored Lakeshore 34-16 in the final 11 minutes to break open a close game. The Mustangs led just 39-33 late in the third quarter before turning on the gas.

Wendy Schwark topped the winners with 23, while Debbie Lundin added 16 and Kathy Smith 12. The Mustangs held Jodi Rabbers to just 12 for Lakeshore.

The Goins sisters sparked Cass' rout. Both Billie and Denise tallied 21 to total 42 of the winner's 48 points.

"If it weren't for those two," Cass coach Napoleon Fields says, "we just wouldn't win."

Patience Vanderbush was the only Buchanan player in double figures with 14.

Christy Rea's 12 points headed a balanced scoring attack for Edwardsburg. Cindy Molter tallied 20 for Coloma, which dropped its 11th straight.

Ola Houston's 16 points helped Dowagiac break open a close game in the final quarter. The Chieftains led just 18-13 after three periods.

Also, South Haven downed Paw Paw 51-36.

Excellent Michigan Deer Season Seen

Perhaps Best Since Late '60s

Michigan deer hunters should experience an excellent season in 1975, perhaps the best since the late 1960's, predicts Dave Arnold, Department of Natural Resources deer specialist.

"Weather often makes or breaks the success of a hunt, but sportsmen have so many factors in their favor this year that even drizzly, miserable weather may not put a damper on hunter luck," Arnold says.

The state's firearm deer season begins statewide on Nov. 10 and concludes on Nov. 30. Archers have been hunting deer since Oct. 1, and after sitting out the firearm season, can try again for their deer during all of December.

There's also a special season for muzzle-loading enthusiasts from Dec. 5 through Dec. 14 statewide. Hunters with special permits may take a deer of either sex during special periods in the lower Peninsula only, although the general rule specifies that hunters may take only one buck a year.

But why is Arnold so optimistic about the overall 1975 deer season?

"There are more hunters and more deer," he notes. "It's as simple as that."

In 1974, over 92,000 deer were taken by lucky hunters among the 685,000 who purchased licenses. In 1975, Arnold and other DNR wildlife specialists anticipate a greater number of hunters and a larger deer harvest.

The firearm season starts out on a bright note — opening for the first time in several years on a Saturday, giving more hunters than normal an opening day shot — and there should be more venison to aim at.

DNR wildlife biologists, who monitor deer numbers year-round, say Michigan's deer population exceeds the one million mark for the first time in nearly two decades — due to a combination of successful habitat management programs by the DNR, an active commercial timber market in some parts of the state, plus mild winters in recent years.

Arnold says these factors have generally developed a better food supply for deer.

A cut-back in antlerless deer hunting in many northern counties has permitted the deer herd to expand on this additional food supply.

"DNR specialists are quite certain that the deer herd in the Upper Peninsula is the largest in four years," says Arnold. "Surveys of the 33 northernmost counties of the Lower Peninsula show that deer numbers are probably the best in many years. In fact, based on our spring pellet counts, deer numbers in this part of the state haven't been greater since 1856."

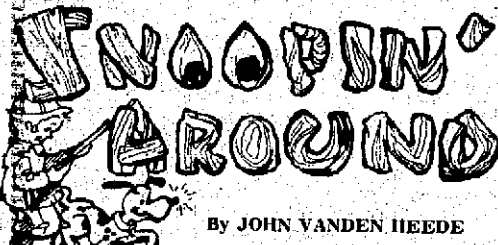

And sadly, deer-car accidents have increased 14 per cent already this year over 1974 when 4,647 deer were killed.

"There are also more deer in southern Lower Michigan," he continues. "There are more farms in this part of the state, giving the deer a better opportunity to keep a full stomach. But there seems to be a lot of corn standing in southern Michigan and the deer can easily hide in cornfields. If the corn is cut and if hunters get tracking snow, southern Michigan sportsmen should have the best deer season that they have ever had."

Outdoor Trail

By JOHN VANDEN HEED

If purists among fishermen are offended by snagging, what would they think about shooting salmon with shotguns?

It's not very sporting to be sure, but it's going on right here in southwestern Michigan among persons trying to make a quick buck from coho and chinook eggs.

Salmon eggs are worth up to $1.25 per pound, and there's a certain segment of the fishing fraternity which will use any method available to get their hands on the fish and valuable eggs — shooting, spearing, netting and clubbing are among illegal ways already noted by Department of Natural Resources conservation officers.

The greedy nature of man comes right to the top when there is a buck to be made," declares DNR district law enforcement chief Gene Coulson when analyzing the situation.

Not only are these so-called anglers fishing illegally, but most are also guilty of a cardinal fishing sin... wasting the meat.

"We're getting into a situation where they're ripping the eggs out and throwing the carcass away," continues Coulson. Fish have been found along roadsides, on stream banks and in trash cans.

Conservation officers have been putting in extra duty trying to stop the violations, with the arrest record bulging. But Coulson says he doesn't have the manpower to enforce the rules properly.

"It's a 24-hour thing," he continues. "You can go out any hour you want to name and you will find people trying to take them."

Coulson says the average female chinook has from four to six pounds of eggs, so it's simple to see how money is at the root of this evil.

Whether the legalization of snagging has spawned the egg-taking debacle can't be determined, but Coulson says the areas where foul-hooking is legal aren't the main problems. The real headaches are at places like the Watervliet dam and on small tributaries (mostly trout streams now closed to all fishing) to main salmon rivers like the St. Joseph.

Coulson believes the adoption of legislation to control the selling and buying of salmon eggs is the only real way to control the situation.

If buyers of eggs were licensed, it could be a requirement that the seller of eggs bring the entire fish to the buyer. It's unlikely that you would see fish with gun wounds or spear marks then.

There undoubtedly will be some new law before another salmon spawning season rolls around, so it will be interesting to see how imaginative violators get around the letter of the law next fall.

One thing is for sure though. Any anti-fishing person who would want to make a documentary against angling could find some good material to work with now. Maybe he could call it "Rods of Aut-tun."

Steelhead Meeting Tonight

There will be a mounted 90-pound chinook salmon (caught on the West Coast) on display at tonight's meeting of the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association.

The meeting, which will feature a talk by John Scott, the Department of Natural Resources chief of the Great Lakes fisheries program, starts at 7:30 p.m. at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn. There will also be a social hour starting at 7.

Interested persons, including women, are invited.

The Light Side of Outside

New hunting seasons invariably bring new hunting yarns and goose hunter Jack Garner of L'Anse appears to have a comfortable lead in the unusual events department of 1975.

Pre-dawn... a favorite pond in a favorite goose pasture... good hunting friends... the gabbling of geese questioning the dark... heads low and feathers high... what could possibly disrupt a successful opening day?

Two things, actually. The combined efforts of some sky-busters with premature triggers and a clown with a party-store goose call succeeded in keeping the flights well up in the travel lanes all morning. And it didn't raise Jack's spirits a bit to see one honker drop down to check the noise-maker for laughs and get dumped for his curiosity.

Just as a small wedge of goose passed high overhead, the arrival of another hunter on the scene instantly dissolved Jack's frustrations. From a higher elevation, a medium-sized hawk neared the goose with enough force to cripple his flying gear. It roared the grating honker to the pond's surface within 50 feet of Jack and his partners.

The crippled bird was mercifully dispatched and because it was obviously too much dinner for one medium-sized hawk, it was commiserated for a bigger table... and even the noise-maker in the next party couldn't dilute the thrill of an unforgettable experience.

Impact From Rodenticide On Area's Game Checked

By WALTER BOOTH

The effectiveness of zinc phosphide rodenticide and its impact on game species are under study here by biologists of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Assisted by local personnel from Sarett Nature Center, project leader Paul Hegdal, Tom Gatz and Kathy Fagerstone, all from the service's Denver (Colorado) Wildlife Research Center, are investigating the effectiveness of the phosphide (Zn3P2), a registered pesticide used to control meadow voles (orchard mice) in apple orchards.

The researchers are also interested in possible adverse effects of the chemical on certain game species, particularly rabbits and pheasants.

Proceeding and following application of the chemical mechanically or by hand (using cracked corn impregnated with a two per cent solution) the numbers of voles in the study area are determined by trapping to see if Zn3P2 really works.

The impact on pheasants and rabbits is being studied by techniques involving attaching radio transmitters to certain of these animals and tracking them with truck-mounted and portable antennas. Fatalities, if any, are located by a visual body search.

Field studies prior to the period of phosphide application established the normal range of the specific animals being studied.

A few of the experimental animals will be collected and shipped to the Denver facility for phosphide residue analysis.

Pheasant and rabbit hunters in the study area (near Watervliet and Hartford) should know there is no particular advantage in shooting the experimental animals, and there is no reward for doing so. Should such animals be shot, the Denver facility should be notified by a collect call to the number stamped on transmitter attached to animal.

The investigators prefer to work with live animals.

Allegan's Goose Flock, Harvest Below Last Fall

The Allegan State Game Area goose kill was down 28 per cent through the first two weekends of the current season, partly the result of a honker flock 38 per cent smaller than last fall at this time.

Allegan's goose harvest through Sunday stood at 991, including 454 at the highbanks. The bag comes from a flock estimated at 8,500 birds.

Hunter numbers are comparable to last year, with 7,802 permits issued through Sunday (including 5,888 at the Fennville farm unit). A year ago at this time 7,742 had been issued.

Allegan's duck kill stands at 157 (down five birds) while the pheasant bag is 272 (up two).

Game area manager Chuck Freley Jr. isn't concerned about the smaller Allegan flock this fall. "We knew some bird overflew us," he says.

Deadline Is Near On Holding Tanks

DNR Seeking Citizen Support For Law

Michigan citizens have a final chance to convince federal officials that sewage holding tanks on boats traveling the Great Lakes are necessary to assure adequate water pollution control, says the Department of Natural Resources.

Concerned that current proposed federal regulations would allow discharge of waste material into the lakes after a low-level treatment process, the DNR's top water quality specialist is urging Michigan residents to protest the suggested rules.

The DNR's William G. Turney, Water Management Bureau Chief, also wants citizens to ask federal authorities to take a closer look at Michigan's tougher boat pollution control rules that require holding tanks onboard vessels.

Sewage must be pumped out at onshore marinas, preventing waste discharges into the Great Lakes, notes Turney.

"Supporters of Michigan's no-discharge watercraft laws may speak out against these proposed federal standards before a Nov. 24 deadline," says Turney. "All it takes to protest at this point is a letter to Washington."

If the federal rules were adopted as proposed, Turney says he fears Michigan's long-standing efforts to eliminate pollution from watercraft on the Great Lakes may be lost.

He says the EPA will accept comments about its actions involving Michigan waters until Nov. 24. Turney adds that Governor William G. Milliken has protested the federal proposals and is seeking an exemption from the rules for Michigan under a provision allowing states to require holding tanks where adequate pump out facilities exist.

"Michigan has nearly 200 of these stations scattered along the state's Great Lakes shorelines," says Turney. "Installation of additional pump-out facilities at ports of call for commercial vessels is being planned."

Turney states that 97 per cent of all recreational boaters traveling the Great Lakes have complied with the no-discharge rules provided under the state's 1970 watercraft pollution control laws.

But he notes that commercial shipping interests have argued in state courts since 1971 that installing new sewage handling equipment at ports of call would be unnecessary if the EPA plan were adopted.

"The waters of the Great Lakes Basin equal nearly 20 per cent of the world's entire fresh water resource," says the DNR official. "Many of our cities get their water supplies from areas heavily traveled by these vessels, not to mention people who like to swim and fish."

"Yet, a few years ago, a major shipwreck on Lake Huron caused the tie up of 55 ships on the upper St. Clair River for several days," Turney continues. "We estimated the number of sailors on those ships at 1,500. Imagine the pollution problem in that area if the ships used flow-through sewage treatment devices as allowed under the current federal proposals. And the Department isn't convinced that these low-level treatment devices (as macerator-chlorinators in toilets) adequately treat sewage."

"Our municipalities are doing an outstanding job of building costly multi-million-dollar new or expanded treatment plants for higher-level sewage treatment, but our overall pollution control program is hardly complete while another kind of pollution is allowed to continue on the Great Lakes themselves," he adds.

Citizens have two sources to write in regard to the boating pollution control laws:

Director, Criteria and Standards Division, Office of Water Planning and Standards, Room 737 East Tower, Waterside Mall, Washington, D.C. 20460; and Deputy Assistant Administrator for Water Planning and Standards, Office of Water and Hazardous Materials, EPA, 401 M Street SW, Washington, D.C. 20460.

Excellent Michigan Deer Season Seen

Perhaps Best Since Late '60s

Michigan deer hunters should experience an excellent season in 1975, perhaps the best since the late 1960's, predicts Dave Arnold, Department of Natural Resources deer specialist.

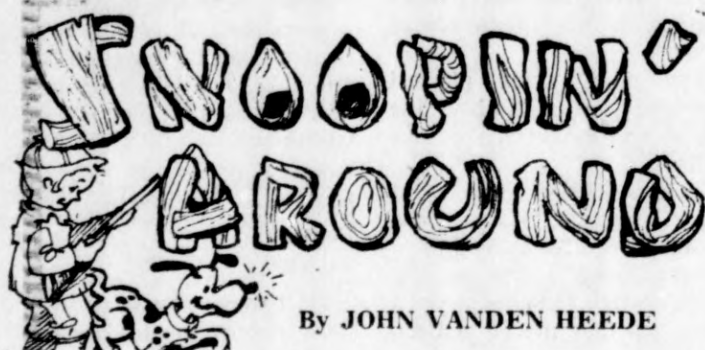

"Weather often makes or breaks the success of a hunt, but sportsmen have so many factors in their favor this year that even drizzly, miserable weather may not put a damper on hunter luck," Arnold says.

The state's firearm deer season begins statewide on Nov. 15 and concludes on Nov. 30. Archers have been hunting deer since Oct. 1, and after sitting out the firearm season, can try again for their deer during all of December.

There's also a special season for muzzle-loading enthusiasts from Dec. 5 through Dec. 14 statewide. Hunters with special permits may take a deer of either sex during special periods in the lower Peninsula only, although the general rule specifies that hunters may take

If purists among fishermen are offended by snagging, what would they think about shooting salmon with shotguns?

It's not very sporting to be sure, but it's going on right here in southwestern Michigan among persons trying to make a quick buck from coho and chinook eggs.

Salmon eggs are worth up to $1.25 per pound, and there's a certain segment of the fishing fraternity which will use any method available to get their hands on the fish and valuable eggs — shooting, spearing, netting and clubbing are among illegal ways already noted by Department of Natural Resources conservation officers.

"The greedy nature of man comes right to the top when there is a buck to be made," declares DNR district law enforcement chief Gene Coulson when analyzing the situation.

Not only are these so-called anglers fishing illegally, but most are also guilty of a cardinal fishing sin...wasting the meat.

"We're getting into a situation where they're ripping the eggs out and throwing the carcass away," continues Coulson. Fish have been found along roadsides, on stream banks and in trash cans.

Conservation officers have been putting in extra duty trying to stop the violations, with the arrest record bulging. But Coulson says he doesn't have the manpower to enforce the rules properly.

"It's a 24-hour thing," he continues "You can go out any hour you want to name and you will find people trying to take them."

Coulson says the average female chinook has from four to six pounds of eggs, so it's simple to see how money is at the root of this evil.

Whether the legalization of snagging has spawned the egg-taking debacle can't be determined, but Coulson says the areas where foul-hooking is legal aren't the main problems. The real headaches are at places like the Watervliet dam and on small tributaries (mostly trout streams now closed to all fishing) to main salmon rivers like the St. Joseph.

Coulson believes the adoption of legislation to control the selling and buying of salmon eggs is the only real way to control the situation.

If buyers of eggs were licensed, it could be a requirement that the seller of eggs bring the entire fish to the buyer. It's unlikely that you would see fish with gun wounds or spear marks then.

There undoubtedly will be some new law before another salmon spawning season rolls around, so it will be interesting to see how imaginative violators get around the letter of the law next fall.

One thing is for sure though. Any anti-fishing person who would want to make a documentary against angling could find some good material to work with now. Maybe he could call it "Rods of Autumn."

Steelhead Meeting Tonight

There will be a mounted 90-pound chinook salmon (caught on the West Coast) on display at tonight's meeting of the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association.

The meeting, which will feature a talk by John Scott, the Department of Natural Resources chief of the Great Lakes fisheries program, starts at 7:30 p.m. at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn. There will also be a social hour starting at 7.

Interested persons, including women, are invited.

New hunting seasons invariably bring new hunting yarns and goose hunter Jack Garner of L'Anse appears to have a comfortable lead in the unusual events department of 1975.

Pre-dawn... a favorite pond in a favorite goose pasture... good hunting friends... the gabbling of geese questioning the dark... heads low and feathers high... what could possibly disrupt a successful opening day?

Two things, actually. The combined efforts of some sky-busters with premature triggers and a clown with a party-store goose call succeeded in keeping the flights well up in the travel lanes all morning. And it didn't raise Jack's spirits a bit to see one honker drop down to check the noise-maker for laughs and get dumped for his curiosity.

Just as a small wedge of geese passed high overhead, the arrival of another hunter on the scene instantly dissolved Jack's frustrations. From a higher elevation, a medium-sized hawk nailed the goose with enough force to cripple his flying gear. It roared the gyrating honker to the pond's surface within 50 feet of Jack and his partners.

The crippled bird was mercifully dispatched and because it was obviously too much dinner for one medium-sized hawk, it was confiscated for a bigger table... and even the noise-maker in the next forty couldn't dilute the thrill of an unforgettable experience.

only one buck a year.

But why is Arnold so optimistic about the overall 1975 deer season?

"There are more hunters and more deer," he notes. "It's as simple as that."

In 1974, over 92,000 deer were taken by lucky hunters among the 685,000 who purchased licenses. In 1975, Arnold and other DNR wildlife specialists anticipate a greater number of hunters and a larger deer harvest.

The firearm season starts out on a bright note — opening for the first time in several years on a Saturday, giving more hunters than normal an opening day shot — and there should be more venison to aim at.

DNR wildlife biologists, who monitor deer numbers year-round, say Michigan's deer population exceeds the one million mark for the first time in nearly two decades — due to a combination of successful habitat management programs by the DNR, an active commercial timber market in some parts of the state, plus mild winters in recent years.

Arnold says these factors have generally developed a better food supply for deer.

A cut-back in antlerless deer hunting in many northern counties has permitted the deer herd to expand on this additional food supply.

"DNR specialists are quite certain that the deer herd in the Upper Peninsula is the largest in four years," says Arnold. "Surveys of the 33 northernmost counties of the Lower Peninsula show that deer numbers are probably the best in many, many years. In fact, based on our spring pellet counts, deer numbers in this part of the state haven't been greater since 1956. And sadly, deer-car accidents have increased 14 per cent already this year over 1974 when 4,647 deer were killed."

"There are also more deer in southern Lower Michigan," he continues. "There are more farms in this part of the state, giving the deer a better opportunity to keep a full stomach. But there seems to be a lot of corn standing in southern Michigan and the deer can easily hide in cornfields. If the corn is cut and if hunters get tracking snow, southern Michigan sportsman should have the best deer season that they have ever had."

Impact From Rodenticide On Area's Game Checked

By WALTER BOOTH

The effectiveness of zinc phosphide rodenticide and its impact on game species are under study here by biologists of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Assisted by local personnel from Saret Nature Center, project leader Paul Hegdal, Tom Gatz and Kathy Fagerstone, all from the service's Denver (Colorado) Wildlife Research Center, are investigating the effectiveness of the phosphide (Zn3P2), a registered pesticide, used to control meadow voles (orchard mice) in apple orchards.

The researchers are also interested in possible adverse effects of the chemical on certain game species, particularly rabbits and pheasants.

Proceeding and following application of the chemical mechanically or by hand (using cracked corn impregnated with a two per cent solution) the numbers of voles in the study area are determined by trapping to see if Zn3P2 really works.

The impact on pheasants and rabbits is being studied by techniques involving attaching radio transmitters to certain of these animals and tracking them with truck-mounted and portable antennas. Fatalities, if any, are located by a visual body search.

Field studies prior to the period of phosphide application established the normal range of the specific animals being studied.

A few of the experimental animals will be collected and shipped to the Denver facility for phosphide residue analysis.

Pheasant and rabbit hunters in the study area (near Watervliet and Hartford) should know there is no particular advantage in shooting the experimental animals, and there is no reward for doing so.

Should such animals be shot, the Denver facility should be notified by a collect call to the number stamped on transmitter attached to animal.

Allegan's Goose Flock, Harvest Below Last Fall

The Allegan State Game Area goose kill was down 28 per cent through the first two weekends of the current season, partly the result of a honker flock 36 per cent smaller than last fall at this time.

Allegan's goose harvest through Sunday stood at 901, including 454 at the highbanks. The bag comes from a flock estimated at 8,500 birds.

Hunter numbers are comparable to last year, with 7,602 permits issued through Sunday (including 5,666 at the Fenville farm unit). A year ago at this time 7,742 had been issued.

Allegan's duck kill stands at 157 (down five birds) while the pheasant bag is 272 (up two).

Game area manager Chuck Friley Jr. isn't concerned about the smaller Allegan flock this fall. "We know some bird overflow us," he says.

DNR Seeking Citizen Support For Law

Michigan citizens have a final chance to convince federal officials that sewage holding tanks on boats traveling the Great Lakes are necessary to assure adequate water pollution control, says the Department of Natural Resources.

Concerned that current proposed federal regulations would allow discharge of waste material into the lakes after a low-level treatment process, the DNR's top water quality specialist is urging Michigan residents to protest the suggested rules.

The DNR's William G. Turney, Water Management Bureau Chief, also wants citizens to ask federal authorities to take a closer look at Michigan's tougher boat pollution control rules that require holding tanks onboard vessels.

Sewage must be pumped out at onshore marinas, preventing waste discharges into the Great Lakes, notes Turney.

"Supporters of Michigan's no-discharge watercraft laws may speak out against these proposed federal standards before a Nov. 24 deadline," says Turney. "All it takes to protest at this point is a letter to Washington."

If the federal rules were adopted as proposed, Turney says he fears Michigan's long-standing efforts to eliminate pollution from watercraft on the Great Lakes may be lost.

He says the EPA will accept comments about its actions involving Michigan waters until Nov. 24. Turney adds that Governor William G. Milliken has protested the federal proposals and is seeking an exemption from the rules for Michigan under a provision allowing states to require holding tanks where adequate pump out facilities exist.

"Michigan has nearly 200 of these stations scattered along the state's Great Lakes shorelines," says Turney. "Installation of additional pump-out facilities at ports of call for commercial vessels is being planned."

Turney states that 97 per cent of all recreational boaters traveling the Great Lakes have complied with the no-discharge rules provided under the state's 1970 watercraft pollution control laws.

But he notes that commercial shipping interests have argued in state courts since 1971 that installing new sewage handling equipment at ports of call would be unnecessary if the EPA plan were adopted.

"The waters of the Great Lakes Basin equal nearly 20 per cent of the world's entire fresh water resource," says the DNR official. "Many of our cities get their water supplies from areas heavily traveled by these vessels, not to mention people who like to swim and fish."

"Yet, a few years ago, a major shipwreck on Lake Huron caused the tie up of 55 ships on the upper St. Clair River for several days," Turney continues. "We estimated the number of sailors on those ships at 1,500. Imagine the pollution problem in that area if the ships used flow-through sewage treatment devices as allowed under the current federal proposals. And the Department isn't convinced that these low-level treatment devices (as macerator-chlorinators in toilets) adequately treat sewage."

"Our municipalities are doing an outstanding job of building costly multi-million-dollar new or expanded treatment plants for higher-level sewage treatment, but our overall pollution control program is hardly complete while another kind of pollution is allowed to continue on the Great Lakes themselves," he adds.

Citizens have two sources to write in regard to the boating pollution control laws:

Director, Criteria and Standards Division, Office of Water Planning and Standards, Room 737 East Tower, Waterside Mall, Washington, D.C. 20460; and Deputy Assistant Administrator for Water Planning and Standards, Office of Water and Hazardous Materials, EPA, 401 M Street SW, Washington, D.C. 20460.

Senate Approves Special Private College Loan Rate

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill allowing private colleges to receive special state loans is on its way to the House after receiving approval in the Senate.

The House, in return, has sent the Senate a bill which would give two parcels of recreation land to local governments.

On a 28-1 vote Monday, the Senate approved a measure which permits the Michigan Higher Education Facilities Authority to make low interest loans to private colleges.

The authority sells bonds, then loans money at low interest to colleges for scholarships or construction. Loans now are restricted to public institutions.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, also removes the interest rate ceiling under which the authority sells bonds. Under the bill, the authority could exceed the current maximum interest rate of 10 per cent if the state Municipal Finance Commission approves.

By a 90-0 vote, the House passed a bill giving the Blandford Nature Center to Grand Rapids and Ford Lake to the Joint Ypsilanti Recreation Organization.

Under the bill, the Department of Natural Resources would cease annual payments of more than $16,000 made to the two governments.

The DNR requested the legislation, sponsored by Rep. Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay, to relieve it of the land, acquired under a 1969 recreation bond act.

Under the measure, deeds to the land would provide that it be used for "public recreation unless the DNR agrees to a change and is paid the land's fair market value."

Milliken Wishes Rocky Would Change His Mind

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken said Monday he hopes Vice President Nelson Rockefeller will reconsider his decision not to run in 1976 and remain on the GOP ticket.

Milliken served as Michigan chairman for Rockefeller's unsuccessful 1968 bid for the presidency and has been a longtime friend and admirer of the multimillionaire and former New York governor.

Rockefeller, in a Monday letter to the President, said he would finish out the current term but would not remain after 1976. There was speculation that Rockefeller's move might strengthen Ford's chances against conservative Ronald Reagan, as many of the former California governor's backers oppose the liberal Rockefeller.

There also was speculation that Rockefeller, who has had his eye on the nation's top job in the past, might mount his own challenge to Ford.

"Vice President Nelson Rockefeller has served the President and the nation with distinction," Milliken said. "I hope the President will urge him to reconsider his decision."

"It would be a loss to the President, the ticket and the country for Nelson Rockefeller not to be the vice-presidential nominee."

"The President made an excellent choice for vice president last year, and the voters could make no better choice next year," Milliken said.

At a news conference Monday night, President Ford gave no indication he would ask Rockefeller to remain with him for another term, and said he had made no choice as to who his 1976 running mate might be.

Enroute to Lansing from his home in Traverse City Monday morning, Milliken said he had his driver stop after hearing of Rockefeller's decision on the radio.

Milliken said he placed a call at a roadside phone booth to Rockefeller, who returned it later in the day.

State Workers May Get Bargain Rights

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — More than 50,000 state employees may obtain collective bargaining rights if the state Civil Service Commission acts on proposals to change negotiating procedures.

The commission is reviewing testimony from a hearing last week which unanimously supported collective bargaining for state employees, who are the only public employees in Michigan without that option.

Veteran commission member James Miller said he expects the group to raise the issue at its December meeting. He said commission sentiment on okaying collective bargaining is "pretty strong," and that the commission believes the present system is inadequate.

He said there is some support for improvement in the present meet-and-confer system. That system gives unions no authority but allows them to comment on contract terms.

"The unions and the state Civil Service Department agree on the need for collective bargaining, but disagree on specifics."

While the unions want bargaining units small and organized by office or department, the department favors broad occupational units, which it says makes contract negotiations easier and quicker.

Employee groups at the hearing criticized the department's plan to omit supervisors from union representation. But Otis Hardy, director of the department's Bureau of Employee Relations and Services, said, "Management needs to rely on supervisors in the bargaining process, not push them to the other side of the table."

Employees also want binding arbitration provisions, though the department says the state Constitution limits wage-setting authority to the commission.

Hardy said state employees in 24 states have collective bargaining rights, most with unions organized along occupational lines.

TIP Killed By Economy Move

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Police drug informants will have to find a new source of reward money starting today.

State Police are ending their "Turn In a Pusher" (TIP) program to save state tax dollars.

A statewide toll-free telephone number for the anonymous use of informants is being disconnected, said Capt. Lewis Smith, State Police intelligence division commander.

Eight TIP officers have been transferred to other jobs and remaining cases are being handled by other detectives, Smith said Monday.

Reward funds for TIP informants were slashed from $320,000 to $120,000 last September to help State Police meet a spending cut ordered by the legislature.

The legislature is preparing to act on further cuts ordered last week by Gov. William Milliken to help avoid a $300 million deficit by next June.

"The productivity of TIP in the fight against illegal drug traffic gives some reason for expecting it may be reinstituted again when funds are available," Smith said.

Since TIP started in January 1974, nearly $620,000 has been awarded to 185 tipsters whose information resulted in arrests or drug confiscations, Smith said.

Payments ranged from several hundred dollars to $25,000, he said.

Senate Approves Special Private College Loan Rate

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill allowing private colleges to receive special state loans is on its way to the House after receiving approval in the Senate.

The House, in return, has sent the Senate a bill which would give two parcels of recreation land to local governments.

On a 28-1 vote Monday, the Senate approved a measure which permits the Michigan Higher Education Facilities Authority to make low interest loans to private colleges.

The authority sells bonds, then loans money at low interest to colleges for scholarships or construction. Loans now are restricted to public institutions.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, also removes the interest rate ceiling under which the authority sells bonds. Under the bill, the authority could exceed the current maximum interest rate of 10 per cent if the state Municipal Finance Commission approves.

By a 90-0 vote, the House passed a bill giving the Blandford Nature Center to Grand Rapids and Ford Lake to the Joint Ypsilanti Recreation Organization.

Under the bill, the Department of Natural Resources would cease annual payments of more than $16,000 made to the two governments.

The DNR requested the legislation, sponsored by Rep. Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay, to relieve it of the land, acquired under a 1969 recreation bond act.

Under the measure, deeds to the land would provide that it be used for public recreation unless the DNR agrees to a change and is paid the land's fair market value.

Milliken Wishes Rocky Would Change His Mind

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken said Monday he hopes Vice President Nelson Rockefeller will reconsider his decision not to run in 1976 and remain on the GOP ticket.

Milliken served as Michigan chairman for Rockefeller's unsuccessful 1968 bid for the presidency and has been a longtime friend and admirer of the multimillionaire and former New York governor.

Rockefeller, in a Monday letter to the President, said he would finish out the current term but would not remain after 1976. There was speculation that Rockefeller's move might strengthen Ford's chances against conservative Ronald Reagan, as many of the former California governor's backers oppose the liberal Rockefeller.

There also was speculation that Rockefeller, who has had his eye on the nation's top job in the past, might mount his own challenge to Ford.

"Vice President Nelson Rockefeller has served the President and the nation with distinction," Milliken said. "I hope the President will urge him to reconsider his decision."

"It would be a loss to the President, the ticket and the country for Nelson Rockefeller not to be the vice presidential nominee."

"The President made an excellent choice for vice president last year, and the voters could make no better choice next year," Milliken said.

At a news conference Monday night, President Ford gave no indication he would ask Rockefeller to remain with him for another term, and said he had made no choice as to who his 1976 running mate might be.

Enroute to Lansing from his home in Traverse City Monday morning, Milliken said he had his driver stop after hearing of Rockefeller's decision on the radio.

Milliken said he placed a call at a roadside phone booth to Rockefeller, who returned it later in the day.

State Workers May Get Bargain Rights

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — More than 50,000 state employees may obtain collective bargaining rights if the state Civil Service Commission acts on proposals to change negotiating procedures.

The commission is reviewing testimony from a hearing last week which unanimously supported collective bargaining for state employees, who are the only public employees in Michigan without that option.

Veteran commission member James Miller said he expects the group to raise the issue at its December meeting. He said commission sentiment on okaying collective bargaining is "pretty strong," and that the commission believes the present system is inadequate.

He said there is some support for improvement in the present meet-and-confer system. That system gives unions no authority but allows them to comment on contract terms.

The unions and the state Civil Service Department agree on the need for collective bargaining, but disagree on specifics.

While the unions want bargaining units small and organized by office or department, the department favors broad occupational units, which it says makes contract negotiations easier and quicker.

Employee groups at the hearing criticized the department's plan to omit supervisors from union representation. But Otis Hardy, director of the department's Bureau of Employee Relations and Services, said, "Management needs to rely on supervisors in the bargaining process, not push them to the other side of the table."

Employees also want binding arbitration provisions, though the department says the state Constitution limits wage-setting authority to the commission.

Hardy said state employees in 24 states have collective bargaining rights, most with unions organized along occupational lines.

TIP Killed By Economy Move

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Police drug informants will have to find a new source of reward money starting today.

State Police are ending their "Turn In a Pusher" (TIP) program to save state tax dollars.

A statewide toll-free telephone number for the anonymous use of informants is being disconnected, said Capt. Lewis Smith, State Police intelligence division commander.

Eight TIP officers have been transferred to other jobs and remaining cases are being handled by other detectives, Smith said Monday.

Reward funds for TIP informants were slashed from $320,000 to $120,000 last September to help State Police meet a spending cut ordered by the legislature.

The legislature is preparing to act on further cuts ordered last week by Gov. William Milliken to help avoid a $300 million deficit by next June.

"The productiveness of TIP in the fight against illegal drug traffic gives some reason for expecting it may be reinstituted again when funds are available," Smith said.

Since TIP started in January 1974, nearly $620,000 has been awarded to 185 tipsters whose information resulted in arrests or drug confiscations, Smith said.

Payments ranged from several hundred dollars to $25,000, he said.

Spain Puts Army On Alert

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spain put its army on full alert today as it sought to avoid armed conflict with Morocco by negotiating in Madrid.

More skirmishes were reported between Moroccan troops and desert tribesmen opposing Morocco's claim to the phosphate-rich territory on her southern border.

News reports from the Spanish Sahara said the army had been confined to quarters on full alert and that the territory was under martial law. A dusk-to-dawn curfew has been in force since last week.

Moroccan Premier Ahmed Osman, sent to Madrid Monday by his brother-in-law, King Hassan II, put off his return to Morocco to allow for a second day of talks today.

Osman met for more than five hours Monday with the acting chief of state, Prince Juan Carlos, and with Premier Carlos Arias Navarro and Foreign Minister Pedro Cortina Mauri. There was no indication of whether they made any progress toward agreement, but the Moroccan's decision to stay overnight was considered a hopeful sign.

Hassan also sent Hadj Mohamed Bahini, a member of Osman's cabinet, to Algeria with a message for President Houari Boumedienne. Algeria opposes Morocco's claim to the northern part of the Spanish Sahara and has threatened military action if Hassan goes ahead with his plan to lead 350,000 unarmed Moroccan civilians on a march Thursday to El Aaiun, the capital of the disputed territory.

Spanish reports from the Sahara said there were skirmishes late Monday in the northeastern part of the territory, near the Algerian border, between Moroccan troops and tribesmen believed to be members of the Polisario Front. The Front is opposed to Morocco's territorial claims and is backed by Algeria.

There were no reports of casualties in the skirmishes, which were said to have occurred in the El Farsa district, just south of the Moroccan border. Morocco on Sunday denied reports that some of its troops had crossed the border but said pro-Moroccan Sahara tribesmen might have occupied posts recently abandoned by the Spanish army.

Spain told the United Nations Security Council on Sunday that its army would take military action if necessary to block the Moroccan march into the territory. The council called on all three countries — and Mauritania, which claims the southern part of the Spanish Sahara — to take no action, and Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim sent a special representative to Morocco with an appeal to the king to call off the march.

But Hassan has said that unless there is progress in negotiations, the "March of Destiny" will go on. More than 350,000 civilians are waiting impatiently in tent cities north of the border, and Moroccan troops, "prepared for all eventualities," are concentrated along the border with the Spanish territory and Algeria.

Spain and Algeria oppose the territorial claims of Morocco and Mauritania and support the Security Council's call for people of the territory to have the right of self-determination. Spain, which has held the territory since 1884, has announced a referendum next spring, probably in March.

Spain is reported to have an estimated 15,800 police and troops in the Sahara. Morocco is believed to have about 15,000 troops on its side of the border, and Algeria reportedly has several thousand massed on its 18-mile frontier with the Sahara.

Panel Questions State's Way Of Setting Tax Value

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The way the state sets tax values on its 83 counties is being questioned by the Senate Taxation Committee.

The committee Monday contended the state Tax Commission does not uniformly set values of real and personal property as required by law. It asked Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley to rule on the constitutionality of methods used by the tax commission to set so-called "uniform" equalization of property.

The committee said it feels counties which properly set their own tax values should be allowed to prevail over subsequent evaluations by the tax commission.

In a letter to Kelley, the committee suggested the commission does not survey property closely enough to find "true cash value."

In 1974, the commission conducted equalization surveys in only 17 counties, and in the previous eight years only 42 studies were done, said committee chairman Sen. John Bowman.

"This practice certainly does not reflect the true status of counties within our state and, therefore, counties which have determined their equalized value through proper methods should be allowed to have their figures stand," said Bowman.

The commission, he said, is underfunded and understaffed and unable to accurately assess true cash values.

The requirement for county to county uniformity has been violated by the lack of equalization studies and by the commission's use of different methods to increase valuations, Bowman said.

Would you hire you?

Of course you would. You work hard. Care about what you do. And you know your job inside and out.

That's what everybody says. And for most of us, it's true. But it's also true that we could all do better. Whether we're doctors or teachers, lathe operators or telephone operators, legislators or long-shoremen, bankers or union officials...every one of us.

And we'll all have more to show for it.

More money, for one thing. Because we'll be giving each other our money's worth for the products, the services and even the government we pay for.

For another thing, we'll be giving America better ammunition to slug it out with our foreign competitors. Not just here. All around the world. That would help bring the lopsided balance of payments back onto our side. And help make your dollar worth more.

Best of all, as we hit our stride, we'll be protecting jobs here at home. For ourselves and the future. And we'll have a deeper sense of pride in the jobs we've got. So maybe we'll find our work as fresh and challenging as it was the first day on the job.

Which brings us back to the original question. Would you hire you?

America, it only works as well as we do.

Berrien Court's Rulings Upheld

The Michigan Court of Appeals has upheld the conviction of three men convicted in Berrien Circuit court and subsequently sentenced to prison terms for unrelated crimes.

Affirmed were the convictions of:

James Paris, 20, formerly of Benton Harbor, who got 10 to 15 years in prison for assault with intent to rob while armed.

Joseph M. Stevens, 31, formerly of Coloma, sentenced to 6 to 10 years in prison for assault with intent to rape.

Donny Dean Katt, 20, formerly of St. Joseph, serving 6 to 15 years in prison for breaking and entering.

All three men were sentenced by Judge Julian E. Hughes.

Paris on July 22, 1974, assaulted 81-year-old Molly Leban with a gun at the home of Mrs. Leban's son, Lawrence, on Townline road in Sodus township. Her son was confined to a wheelchair at the time of the assault.

In turning down Paris' appeal, the appellate court held the sentence "does not constitute cruel and unusual punishment."

ment," as Paris claimed, and said the sentence by Hughes "exhibits a proper exercise of discretion."

In the Stevens case, the court ruled Hughes did not err in refusing to answer certain questions submitted by the jury during deliberations; that Hughes properly instructed the jury; and evidence of criminal misconduct elicited from the defendant during cross-examination by the prosecution was not reversible.

Stevens on Sept. 28, 1973, assaulted a 19-year-old woman at her residence in Coloma township and later in a car in an orchard.

Katt was sentenced for breaking into the home of Wayne Larsen in Watervliet township on Aug. 31, 1974. The appeals court ruled Hughes was correct in not setting aside the guilty plea and ordering a competency hearing. The court noted Katt "did not produce any evidence or argument as to his potential incompetence," and added "there is no record to indicate that the defendant may have been insane at the time of the offense."

TODAY In History

By Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, November 4, the 308th day of 1975. There are 57 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1952, Dwight Eisenhower was elected the 34th President of the United States. He defeated Democrat Adlai Stevenson for the first Republican presidential victory in 20 years.

On this date: In 1520, King Christian II was crowned King of Sweden.

In 1825, the first boat to reach New York City by using the Erie Canal arrived nine days after leaving Buffalo.

In 1884, Democrat Grover Cleveland was elected President.

In 1931, the League of Nations accused Japan of aggression in Manchuria.

In 1944, the World War II Allies announced that Greece had been completely liberated from the Nazis.

In 1973, Senator Edward Brooke of Massachusetts became the first Republican senator to publicly urge the resignation of President Richard Nixon.

Ten years ago: In Saigon, a team of U.S. surgeons removed a live Viet Cong hand grenade from a Vietnamese farmer's back.

Five years ago: The United Nations General Assembly called for a 90-day cease fire in Middle East fighting.

One year ago: Representatives of more than 100 nations gathered in Rome to plan measures to attack the problem of world hunger.

Today's birthdays: Comedian Art Carney is 57 years old. Painter and scenic designer Eugene Berman is 76.

Thought for today: Nothing tires a man more than to be grateful all the time. — Ed Howe, American writer, 1853-1937.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, most of the American force invading Canada under Benedict Arnold entered Canada.

Would you hire you?

Of course you would. You work hard. Care about what you do. And you know your job inside and out.

That's what everybody says. And for most of us, it's true. But it's also true that we could all do better. Whether we're doctors or teachers, lathe operators or telephone operators, legislators or long-shoremen, bankers or union officials...every one of us.

And we'll all have more to show for it. More money, for one thing. Because we'll be giving each other our money's worth for the products, the services and even the government we pay for.

For another thing, we'll be giving America better ammunition to slug it out with our foreign competitors. Not just here. All around the world. That would help bring the lopsided balance of payments back onto our side. And help make your dollar worth more.

Best of all, as we hit our stride, we'll be protecting jobs here at home. For ourselves and the future. And we'll have a deeper sense of pride in the jobs we've got. So maybe we'll find our work as fresh and challenging as it was the first day on the job.

Which brings us back to the original question. Would you hire you?

America. It only works as well as we do.

Three Sent To Prison...Three To Jail

Three men were sentenced to prison yesterday in Berrien Circuit court and three more were ordered to start their probationary terms with time in jail.

All of the men who received prison terms were sentenced by Judge William S. White, while those who got jail terms were sentenced by Judge Julian E. Hughes.

The potentially longest prison term went to Harold Foster, 23, of Kalamazoo, who got 5 to 30 years for armed robbery. But in sentencing Foster the judge noted: "This is probably the lightest sentence I've ever given for a life maximum offense."

Foster was charged with robbing Leroy Lewis of $238 with a sawed-off shotgun Dec. 17 at Chicago avenue and Walnut street in Benton township.

Edward W. Fatter, 48, of 410 Decker street, Niles, was sentenced to 5 to 15 years in prison for second degree criminal sexual conduct (formerly indecent liberties).

He was accused of engaging in sexual contact with a girl under the age of 13 June 2 in Niles. White told Fatter he imposed the prison sentence because of two previous sex-related crimes which were reduced to contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and noted: "You're no kid. You had the means to prevent this and didn't do it."

Rocky E. Lockridge, 21, of 887

Carberry road, Niles, got 2 to 5 years in prison for entering without breaking May 1 at Hume Lumber Supply Co., 611 Wayne street, Niles.

James E. Peterson, 30, of Gallen, received 10 to 15 years for second degree criminal sexual conduct June 16 with a girl under 13 in Gallen township.

Bruce W. Zebell, 24, of 1282 South 13th street, Niles, was placed on two years probation by White, and assessed $300 fine and costs, for attempted larceny in a building March 6 at Hunerjager's department store in Three Oaks.

In sentences by Judge Hughes:

Douglas Tyus, 17, of 267 Butternut street, Benton township, was ordered to spend the first 90 days of probation in jail, and William Travier, 20, of 118 Concord street, Benton Harbor, was ordered to start probation with four months in jail, both for breaking and entering.

Each was placed on two years probation, and Tyus was also assessed $200 fine and costs. The pair broke into the home of Carl Williams at 376 Urbandale, Benton township, on Sept. 26.

James Tull, 18, of Baldwin road, Bridgman, was placed on three years probation, with the first four months in jail, and assessed $550 fine and costs for delivery of PCP (an animal tranquilizer) May 29 in Lincoln township.

Karen L. Young, 20, of 636 South Lincoln road, Niles, was placed on one year probation and ordered to pay $250 fine and costs for possessing cocaine Aug. 18 in Niles.

Nathaniel Moore, 27, of Detroit, was placed on two years probation and assessed $400 fine and costs for carrying a concealed weapon — a pistol — Sept. 5 on I-94 in St. Joseph township.

Break-In Bill Changes Charge

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Breaking into an unoccupied dwelling would be changed from a misdemeanor to a felony under a bill introduced in the state House.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Thaddeus Stopczynski, D-Detroit, would require penalties ranging from two to 15 years imprisonment for those convicted.

The bill would apply to vacation cottages and other dwellings used for recreational purposes or not used as a place of permanent residence, Stopczynski said.

Panel Awaits Henry's Reply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger reportedly will offer a dissenting State Department memorandum to the House Intelligence committee, but it is uncertain whether the panel will accept the action as an answer to its subpoena.

Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., said he probably would vote at a meeting today to ask full House backing to act against Kissinger for allegedly defying the committee subpoena for the memo written by Thomas D. Boyatt, the department's Cyprus desk chief, during last year's Cyprus crisis.

Four Demand Examination On 'Pot' Delivery Charges

Four people charged with delivery of marijuana demanded preliminary examinations Monday in Berrien Fifth District court. Also another person charged with a felony demanded examination and 15 people were sentenced.

Demanding examinations were:

Cheryl Rae Dietel, 17, and Kenneth E. Kincaid, 20, both of the Regency Apartments, 205 South George street, and Dennis S. Herr, 18, of 618 South Main street, all of Berrien Springs and all arrested during a drug raid Oct. 31 by Berrien Springs-Oronoko township police, charged with delivery of marijuana. They were released on bonds ranging from $2,000 to $3,000 each.

Charles E. Jones, 26, of 1109 Bishop, Benton Harbor, on a charge of delivery of marijuana Oct. 31 in Benton township. He was released on $2,500 personal recognizance bond.

James E. Quincy, 36, of Morgan City, La., charged with unauthorized use of a car in Three Oaks Nov. 1. He failed to post $1,000 bond and was jailed.

Sentenced Monday were: Bruce W. Coburn, 23, of Kalamazoo, fine and costs of $31 for pointing a rifle at State Trooper George Tiernan, without malice, Nov. 2 in Hagar township.

R.J. Kirkland, 20, of Dowagiac, $31 for creating a disturbance in Benton township Oct. 22.

John Dillon, 28, of 1801 Crystal court, Benton township, 90 days in jail for conspiring to possess an unregistered pistol in Benton Harbor Oct. 18.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Violation of conservation laws.

Ronald L. Moschioni, 38, of 2274 Glenford road, Stevensville, $50 for possession of an unlicensed shotgun in a car; Jack P. Adair, 30, of Benton Center road, and Kenneth A. Sims, 24, of Route 2, both of Benton township, each $43, and restitution of $30, for possession of five ducks, three over the legal limit; Randy D. Kirby, 19, of 428 East Main street, Hartford, $108 for possession of a Bobwhite quail Oct. 26 during closed season.

Use of marijuana — Lonnie B. Jones, 18, of 1490 Hurd, and Bonnie D. Smith, 20, of 403 Linden avenue, both of Benton township, $50 or 10 days in jail each; Robert C. Cooper, 22, of Eaton Rapids, $50.

Possession of an unregistered pistol — Will Moore, 31, of 1282 Ogden, Benton Harbor, 90 days in jail; Jimmie Smith, 50, of Chicago, $200 or 30 days in jail.

Driving while license suspended — James C. Cooper, 50, of 227 Butternut, Benton Harbor, three days in jail and $80 or 12 days in jail total; Cleveland Scruggs, 25, of Saginaw, three days in jail and $75; Floyd L. Brister, 40, of Wichita, Kan., three days in jail and $81.

Ohio Firm Is Fined On Franchise Count

An Ohio corporation was sentenced for a criminal offense yesterday in Berrien Circuit court.

Judge William S. White noted that no prison or jail time could be imposed on the company, so he ordered the firm to pay a $200 fine and $200 court costs for pleading guilty to a violation of the Michigan franchise investment act.

Sentenced was Firestone Photographs, Inc., of Columbus, Ohio. A representative of the company had pleaded guilty to publishing an advertisement on behalf of the firm April 9 in the Niles Daily Star, offering a franchise for sale without filing a copy of the advertisement with the state commerce department.

The charge resulted after an investigation by the Berrien Consumer Protection Unit, and was the first arrest of its type in the state under the new state law which took effect last January.

Viking Develops Electrical Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is an electrical problem on one of the two unmanned Viking spacecrafts traveling toward Mars, but it is not expected to jeopardize the mission, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday night.

Justifiable Force Ruled In Killing

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A friend of James Rice cheered after a coroner's jury ruled that the unemployed auto mechanic was justified in killing an unarmed prowler.

"We'll have a case of beer waiting for him," said the friend.

The six-man jury concluded Monday that Rice, 30, used justifiable force in the Oct. 27 shooting death of Ralph Boyce, 38. Rice had been held without bond on a police charge of first-degree murder.

REPORT FOR 1974-75

Lee Memorial Admissions Rise

DOWAGIAC — Lee Memorial hospital here had a 10.7 per cent increase in admissions in the 1974-75 fiscal year compared to the year before, according to the hospital's annual report.

There were 2,885 admissions (adults and children) in the fiscal year ending June 30, compared to 2,695 the previous fiscal year, the report said.

In other areas, the hospital report said the number of major and minor surgeries, emergency room patients treated and patient meals served all showed increases over the previous fiscal year.

The total number of surgeries for the 1974-75 fiscal year amounted to 842, a 10.1 per cent increase over 725 surgeries the year prior.

There were 8,414 emergency room patients during fiscal year 1974-75, a 12 per cent increase over the 7,512 the year before, the report said.

The number of meals was up by 30.4 per cent, from 43,581 served during the 1973-74 fiscal year to 56,870 served during the year ended June 30, the hospital statement said.

The hospital report also said that during the fiscal year:

— A fund drive goal of $750,000 to help finance a $3 million hospital addition was successful with $775,910 being raised. Construction bids are now being sought.

— The hospital helped establish a community Red Cross blood donor program.

— The Decatur Satellite clinic, established in February, 1974, served over 1,100 patients who made 2,551 patient visits. Initial steps have been taken to provide a similar service for the Marcellus area.

Berrien Action Director Says Grant Passes Hurdle

The executive director of Berrien County Action, Inc., has charged that the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning Commission was "clearly irresponsible" in recommending rejection of a $71,300 federal grant sought by BCA to staff the Peoples Community Federal Credit Union in Benton Harbor.

In a news release issued Monday, Mrs. Helen Ford also noted that the grant application has been forwarded to the U.S. Department of Commerce by a Michigan clearinghouse agency "with no issues warranting review" raised and claims that the state review has "final jurisdiction."

Her latter contention, however, was challenged by Tom Sinn, executive director of the regional planning commission, who labeled the state review as a "formality" that he said has no bearing on the planning commission's previous action.

Sinn said that "90 per cent of the time" state agencies would have no comment on applications for federal grants and that the state department of management and budget — the state clearinghouse — was in no way ruling on the planning commission's recommendation.

He said copies of the planning commission recommendation and additional comments had been sent to Berrien County Action to be attached to the grant application and that additional copies had been forwarded directly to the Department of Commerce, from which the grant is being requested.

The planning commission, which serves as the regional clearinghouse for federal grant applications, voted 12-1 last week to recommend that the Department of Commerce reject BCA's application for the grant to provide nine job slots and training for the credit union, located at 420 Main street, Benton Harbor.

Included in criticism of the grant presented to the planning commission was a letter from county coordinator Roger Petrie questioning the amount of salaries and staff requested.

Petrie pointed out that the Twin Cities Federal Credit Union, with assets of $1,400,000 has a staff of only four employees with a total yearly salary of approximately $28,000.

The Peoples Community Federal Credit Union, for which $71,300 and nine job slots are being sought, reported as of Sept. 30 assets of only $81,231, including $20,325 listed for the land and building which was purchased jointly by the City of Benton Harbor and Benton township from Helen Slosson for $10,000 on July 18.

The Peoples credit union also reported $38,813 in loans and total equity of $42,575 in shares, reserves and undivided earnings.

The credit union was chartered in 1969 to serve the Model Cities neighborhood of Benton Harbor and Benton township. In June the charter was amended to include all people living or working in the city or township.

Berrien County Action has been supporting the credit union since Model Cities funding ran out on June 30 and has set aside $8,500 to pay credit union staff until Dec. 31, according to Mrs. Ford.

Benton Harbor Mayor Charles Joseph is president of the credit union.

REPORT FOR 1974-75

Lee Memorial Admissions Rise

DOWAGLAC — Lee Memorial hospital here had a 10.7 per cent increase in admissions in the 1974-75 fiscal year compared to the year before, according to the hospital's annual report.

There were 2,985 admissions (adults and children) in the fiscal year ending June 30, compared to 2,695 the previous fiscal year, the report said.

In other areas, the hospital report said the number of major and minor surgeries, emergency room patients treated and patient meals served all showed increases over the previous fiscal year.

The total number of surgeries for the 1974-75 fiscal year amounted to 842, a 16.1 per cent increase over 725 surgeries the year prior.

There were 8,414 emergency room patients during fiscal year 1974-75, a 12 per cent increase over the 7,512 the year before, the report said.

The number of meals was up by 30.4 per cent, from 43,581 served during the 1973-74 fiscal year to 56,870 served during the year ended June 30, the hospital statement said.

The hospital report also said that during the fiscal year:

- A fund drive goal of $750,000 to help finance a $3 million hospital addition was successful with $775,910 being raised. Construction bids are now being sought.
- The hospital helped establish a community Red Cross blood donor program.
- The Decatur Satellite clinic, established in February, 1974, served over 1,100 patients who made 2,551 patient visits. Initial steps have been taken to provide a similar service for the Marcellus area.

Berrien Action Director Says Grant Passes Hurdle

The executive director of Berrien County Action, Inc., has charged that the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning Commission was "clearly irresponsible" in recommending rejection of a $71,300 federal grant sought by BCA to staff the Peoples Community Federal Credit Union in Benton Harbor.

In a news release issued Monday, Mrs. Helen Ford also noted that the grant application has been forwarded to the U.S. Department of Commerce by a Michigan clearinghouse agency "with no issues warranting review" raised and claims that the state review has "final jurisdiction."

Her latter contention, however, was challenged by Tom Sinn, executive director of the regional planning commission, who labeled the state review as a "formality" that he said

has no bearing on the planning commission's previous action.

Sinn said that "90 per cent of the time" state agencies would have no comment on applications for federal grants and that the state department of management and budget — the state clearinghouse — was in no way ruling on the planning commission's recommendation.

He said copies of the planning commission recommendation and additional comments had been sent to Berrien County Action to be attached to the grant application and that additional copies had been forwarded directly to the Department of Commerce, from which the grant is being requested.

The planning commission, which serves as the regional clearinghouse for federal grant applications, voted 12-1 last week to recommend that the Department of Commerce reject BCA's application for the grant to provide nine job slots, and training for the credit union, located at 420 Main street, Benton Harbor.

Included in criticism of the grant presented to the planning commission was a letter from county coordinator Roger Petrie questioning the amount of salaries and staff requested.

Petrie pointed out that the Twin Cities Federal Credit Union, with assets of $1,400,000 has a staff of only four employees with a total yearly salary of approximately $28,000.

The Peoples Community Federal Credit Union, for which $71,300 and nine job slots are being sought, reported as of Sept. 30 assets of only $81,231, including $20,325 listed for the land and building which was purchased jointly by the City of Benton Harbor and Benton township from Helen Slosson for $10,000 on July 18.

The Peoples credit union also reported $58,813 in loans and total equity of $42,875 in shares, reserves and undivided earnings.

The credit union was chartered in 1969 to serve the Model Cities neighborhood of Benton Harbor and Benton township. In June the charter was amended to include all people living or working in the city or township.

Berrien County Action has been supporting the credit union since Model Cities funding ran out on June 30 and has set aside $6,500 to pay credit union staff until Dec. 31, according to Mrs. Ford.

Benton Harbor Mayor Charles Joseph is president of the credit union.

Catholic Schools Tell Report Card Schedule

The schedule for first quarter report cards for student of Lake Michigan Catholic schools was announced today by Principals Donald M. Stock and Robert J. Schmid.

On Wednesday parents of high school students will pick up report cards between 2:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m. and between 7 p.m. - 8:45 p.m. at the high school. Teachers will be available for conferences in their classrooms during those times.

On Thursday parents of middle school students (grades 6-8) will pick up report cards at the middle school office between 2:30 p.m. - 5:30 p.m. and between 6:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m. During those times there will be an open house for parents and parent - teacher conferences in the respective classrooms.

On Monday, Nov. 10, parents of primary school students will get report cards and have parent - teacher conferences in the classrooms between 7:15 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Primary school students (kindergarten - level 5) will not have classes on Monday, Nov. 10. Middle school classes (6-8) will be in session that day.

U.S. Planning To Leave ILO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration intends to withdraw the United States from the International Labor Organization because of what it views as the U.N. agency's increasingly political stance. However, any pullout is at least two years away and officials are hopeful of resolving the dispute before then.

Market Drifts Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted lower today, apparently still in the grip of uncertainty over New York City's financial problems.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction, and gainers trailed losers by about a 5-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said buying interest still was being inhibited by caution over the potential effects of a possible financial default by New York City on the economic recovery and the nation's credit structure.

A slow day was expected in the market with many banks closed for Election Day.

Today's early prices included Gillette, unchanged at 20 1/2; Telex, down 1/4 at 2 1/2; Warner-Lambert, off 1/4 at 35 1/2; and Tektronix, up 1/4 at 41 1/4.

In Monday's slide the Dow Jones Industrial average gave up 10.32 to 825.72.

Declines outnumbered advances by more than 2-1 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index dropped .49 to 46.50.

Big Board volume slowed to 11.40 million shares, the lightest total in five weeks.

The American Stock Exchange market value index lost .14 to 82.65.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Do Your Arithmetic Before Taking Loss

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. With the year-end approaching, may I suggest that you caution readers about the possible dangers of taking losses merely for the sake of establishing tax deductions. An investor should weigh the total commission cost of selling and repurchasing the stock and also the possible loss in terms of having to pay a higher market price when he finally reacquires the stock. I have found that this total expense sometimes exceeds the tax savings.

A. Could be.

I have always stressed that doing the required arithmetic is a significant part of the deal. It is possible that the selling and repurchasing commission plus an interim rise in the price of the stock (during the 31-day wait required between selling and repurchasing) could well wipe out any dollar-and-cents tax savings.

I know of no way to determine whether such a maneuver is worthwhile without doing all the figuring required.

You do raise one point which could be cleared up: that is, the market risk during the 31 days one must wait before repurchasing the same shares. This is a real risk and could lead to a "whipsaw" — taking the loss at 29 and then finding you have to pay 33 to buy back in.

However, there is no reason an investor taking a loss by selling shares of Utility Co. A (or Steel Co. B) today can't immediately buy shares of Utility Co. B (or Steel Co. A). Often this provides an opportunity to upgrade quality and it also eliminates the risk of having to buy back in a higher utility (or steel) market 31 days hence.

Q. We want to take a long-term stock market loss this year because we intend to retire next year. But we were told we also would have to take some gains in other stocks, which we don't care to sell.

A. You don't have to take the profit. You may elect to use your capital loss to offset regular taxable income up to the annual allowable limit and carry any excess over into next year.

MR. SHULSKY welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Berrien, Van Buren On Aid Request List

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has asked the federal government to label eight Michigan counties as disaster so farmers can get low interest loans.

Farmers in the counties suffered nearly $26.9 million damage from severe rain, wind and hail during May, June and July, Milliken said.

There were extensive fruit, vegetable and corn crop losses, the governor said in a letter to U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz. Milliken already has asked Butz for disaster area declarations for 25 counties that suffered storm damage in August and September.

Some $100 million in crop losses was attributed to those storms, Milliken said.

The eight counties added to the aid request list Monday were Allegan, Antrim, Berrien, Lenawee, Mecosta, Oceana, Otsego and Van Buren.

Van Buren County alone suffered almost half of the estimated spring crop damage with a reported $12.9 million loss. Berrien followed next with $8.9 million loss, and Oceana was third with $2.7 million. The remaining five counties all had less than $1 million damage.

Bridgman Approves Gas Plant Bonds

BRIDGMAN — Bridgman city commission last night approved a $1 million industrial bond issue for Gas Manufacturing company's new plant being built off Red Arrow highway.

The resolution approving the bond issue was read by Atty. David Olmstead of the law firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, bonding attorneys of Detroit.

In a roll call vote, all members of the city commission approved. Commissioner Vernon Starnard was absent.

Mayor Ronald Golek said approving the resolution was "simply a formality" on the city's part, but is required by the state finance commission.

The bond purchase agreement has been filed with the Farmers and Merchants National bank of Benton Harbor, and Continental bank of Chicago.

Preliminary approval of a $2 million bond sale came in June, after an expiration of a 45-day waiting period in which no city residents objected to the bond sale.

Warren Gast, firm president, said originally the $2 million figure was sought, but the firm now figures the $1 million bond issue can do the job. No change in the size of the project was involved.

Under state law permitting the sale of the bonds, the firm would be totally responsible for repaying the bonds. The firm would benefit through a lower rate of interest on the debt than might be obtained through private lending sources.

The new plant being built on a 13.8 acre site of Red Arrow highway will manufacture the reciprocating pumps now being manufactured in a facility leased by the firm on Empire avenue in Benton township.

In other areas, the commission approved amending the city's 1975-76 budget by reappportioning $35,000 from the municipal street fund to the financial administration fund. The financial administration fund will now have $71,530 and the street fund $3,348.

Golek said the transfer of funds does not mean an increase or decrease in the budget, and was done to cover essentially the cost of legal and engineering fees being incurred by the city.

The city commission accepted final plans for a $425,000 addition to Jordan Nursing home, 9935 Red Arrow highway. The 15,000 square foot addition will provide room for 42 more beds.

The commission awarded a bid of $14,206 to Yerington and Harris Construction company, Benton Harbor, for construction of an extension of the city's sewer line to the new Gas Manufacturing plant. The low bid was submitted by Southwestern Michigan Construction company of Hartford, at $12,187. The commission selected Yerington and Harris upon the advice of Barger Engineering of St. Joseph. No reason for the recommendation was given.

Paul Kays, plant manager of Bridgman Casting — Center

fondry, said the company has taken corrective steps to help prevent excessive noise, dust and odor problems at the plant. Approximately 50 citizens complained of the problems at the commission's Sept. 2 meeting.

The commission accepted a bid from Custom Built Brush company, for a new brush for the city's street sweeper, at a cost of $180.

The commission also approved plans for a restaurant to be built on Red Arrow highway, by Frank Zuhl and Robert Wolshlager.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. With the year-end approaching, may I suggest that you caution readers about the possible dangers of taking losses merely for the sake of establishing tax deductions. An investor should weigh the total commission cost of selling and repurchasing the stock and also the possible loss in terms of having to pay a higher market price when he finally reacquires the stock. I have found that this total expense sometimes exceeds the tax savings.

A. Could be.
I have always stressed that doing the required arithmetic is a significant part of the deal. It is possible that the selling and repurchasing commission plus an interim rise in the price of the stock (during the 31-day wait required between selling and rebuying) could well wipe out any dollar-and-cents tax savings.

I know of no way to determine whether such a maneuver is worthwhile without doing all the figuring required.

You do raise one point which could be cleared up: that is, the market risk during the 31 days one must wait before repurchasing the same shares. This is a real risk and could lead to a "whipsaw" — taking the loss at 29 and then finding you have to pay 33 to buy back in.

However, there is no reason an investor taking a loss by selling shares of Utility Co. A (or Steel Co. B) today cannot immediately buy shares of Utility Co. B (or Steel Co. A). Often this provides an opportunity to upgrade quality and it also eliminates the risk of having to buy back in a higher utility (or steel) market 31 days hence.

Q. We want to take a long-term stock market loss this year because we intend to retire next year. But we were told we also would have to take some gains in other stocks, which we don't care to sell.

A. You don't have to take the profit. You may elect to use your capital loss to offset regular taxable income up to the annual allowable limit and carry any excess over into next year.

MR. SHULSKY welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

For lists of growth and dividend stocks, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address your requests to Sam Shulsky, care of this newspaper.

Berrien, Van Buren On Aid Request List

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has asked the federal government to label eight Michigan counties as disaster so farmers can get low interest loans.

Farmers in the counties suffered nearly $26.9 million damage from severe rain, wind and hail during May, June and July, Milliken said.

There were extensive fruit, vegetable and corn crop losses, the governor said in a letter to U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz. Milliken already has asked Butz for disaster area declarations for 25 counties that suffered storm damage in

Bridgman Approves Gast Plant Bonds

BRIDGMAN — Bridgman city commission last night approved a $1 million industrial bond issue for Gast Manufacturing company's new plant being built off Red Arrow highway.

The resolution approving the bond issue was read by Atty. David Olmstead of the law firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, bonding attorneys of Detroit.

In a roll call vote, all members of the city commission present approved. Commissioner Vernon Stanard was absent.

Mayor Ronald Gelesko said approving the resolution was "simply a formality" on the city's part, but is required by the state finance commission.

The bond purchase agreement has been filed with the Farmers and Merchants National bank of Benton Harbor, and Continental bank of Chicago.

Preliminary approval of a $2 million bond sale came in June, after an expiration of a 45-day waiting period in which no city residents objected to the bond sale.

Warren Gast, firm president, said originally the $2 million figure was sought, but the firm now figures the $1 million bond issue can do the job. No change in the size of the project was involved.

Under state law permitting the sale of the bonds, the firm would be totally responsible for repaying the bonds. The firm would benefit through a lower rate of interest on the debt than might be obtained through private lending sources.

The new plant being built on a 13.8 acre site of Red Arrow highway will manufacture the reciprocating pumps now being manufactured in a facility leased by the firm on Empire avenue in Benton township.

In other areas, the commission approved amending the city's 1975-76 budget by reappportioning $35,000 from the municipal street fund to the financial administration fund. The financial administration fund will now have $71,530 and the street fund $8,348.

Gelesko said the transfer of funds does not mean an increase or decrease in the budget, and was done to cover essentially the cost of legal and engineering fees being incurred by the city.

The city commission accepted final plans for a $425,000 addition to Jordan Nursing home, 9935 Red Arrow highway. The 15,000 square foot addition will provide room for 42 more beds.

The commission awarded a bid of $14,206 to Yerington and Harris Construction company, Benton Harbor, for construction of an extension of the city's sewer line to the new Gast Manufacturing plant. The low bid was submitted by Southwestern Michigan Construction company of Hartford, at $12,157. The commission selected Yerington and Harris upon the advice of Barger Engineering of St. Joseph. No reason for the recommendation was given.

Paul Kays, plant manager of Bridgman Casting Center

foundry, said the company has taken corrective steps to help prevent excessive noise, dust and odor problems at the plant. Approximately 50 citizens complained of the problems at the commission's Sept. 2 meeting.

The commission accepted a bid from Custom Built Brush company, for a new brush for the city's street sweeper, at a cost of $150.

The commission also approved plans for a restaurant to be built on Red Arrow highway, by Frank Zuhl and Robert Wolshlager.

Berrien General

ADMISSIONS

BERRIEN CENTER — Patients admitted to Berrien General hospital during the past 24 hours include:

Benton Harbor — Mrs. Lillie Glaspy, 1250 Highland; Mrs. Annie Robinson, 1162 Blossom lane; Mrs. Mary Dennis, 610 Superior.

Stabbing Victim Listed In 'Serious' Condition

A Benton Harbor man was stabbed Monday night at his home, but city police said he declined to name his assailant and would not sign a complaint.

Listed in "serious" condition today and awaiting surgery at Mercy hospital was Charles Coleman, 25, of 987 McAllister avenue. Police said he was stabbed in the stomach. A kitchen knife with a three-inch blade was confiscated after the 9:35 p.m. incident.

Two 13-year-old Benton Harbor boys were taken into custody Monday by city police after an incident in which a 10-year-old girl was reported struck by a BB pellet. She was not seriously hurt, police indicated.

Police Roundup

Police identified the girl as Margaret Zuhl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horst Zuhl, 982 Pipestone street. Police said she was playing in her backyard when the incident occurred about 5 p.m.

The two boys were turned over to their parents pending petitioning to juvenile court on charges of shooting BB guns in the city. The youths told police they were shooting at cans in an alley behind Pipestone.

Two-way radios, valued at about $500 each, were reported stolen from three Benton Harbor school buses Monday.

Ben Mammia, school transportation director, said the buses were parked inside a fenced lot at 1121 Milton street.

In another theft reported Monday to Benton Harbor police, Delbert Pederson, route 3, Decatur, said a ship-to-shore radio and fishing equipment, valued at nearly $300, were taken from his boat docked in the ship canal off the 500 block of West Main street.

Benton township police said four truck drivers reported thefts amounting to more than $1,700 from their semi-trucks parked in a lot in the 2300 block of Plaza drive.

Citizens' band radios were reported stolen from all four trucks and among the other items taken were a television, tape player, clock, transistor radio, and tools.

Thefts reported to Berrien sheriff's deputies Monday were: —A camera, radio and vacuum sweeper, all valued at about $450, from the apartment of Dollie Klann, 420 Lake Shore drive, Stevensville.

—A citizens' band radio, valued at about $184, from a car owned by Dennis Williams, 2442 Marquette Woods road, Stevensville, parked at Lakeshore high school, 5771 Cleveland avenue, Stevensville.

Seventy dollars in cash and a calculator, valued at about $60, were reported stolen to St. Joseph police from the Z Tire and Service Center, 1127 Main street, Monday.

Dale A. Davis, route 2, Red Bud trail, Berrien Springs, told Berrien sheriff's deputies Monday the passenger window of his car was shattered by what appeared to be pellets from a shotgun.

James E. Davis, 2167 Washington avenue, was next to the window when the incident occurred, but was unharmed, deputies indicated. Davis said he was driving the 1966 Ford Mustang on Washington avenue at Wilshire terrace, Lincoln township, about 5:15 p.m. when the window was hit.

Benton township police reported finding no bomb at Household Finance Corporation, 1768 M-139, after investigating a threat that was phoned to Benton Harbor police at 11:12 a.m. Monday.

The loan company, is located in the township.
